There was some warmth in the discussion on this subject, one member insisting that no property owners should be exon-erated, and that if they were too poor to pay tax the collector ought to pay it out of his comnission. Ar. Correll attempted to make a quiet remark when he was instantly requested to "hold his gab" by the excitable member from Scott town. PERRUARY WEATHER

The following is a record of the weather at Catawissa, during the month of February 1879, ompiled from observations by W. G. Yetter. Barometric pressure corrected for tempera-ture and elevation.—Highest pressure on the 28th 30, 803 inches; (being the highest on record, since February 5th, 1876 when the pressure recorded 30, 880 inches;) monthly mean 30,092 inches. Temperature of the air-Highest tempera are on the 11th 46 degrees; lowest on the 22nd l degree; monthly mean or average for the month 25 degrees; monthly range 45 degrees; greatest daily range on the 23d 38 degrees and ie least on the 6th 71 degrees.

Moisture-Mean relative humidity 69 per cent; number of days on which rain or snow fell 15; amount of snow which fell during the nonth 10 inches ; total amount of rain fall and melted snow 1,79 inches.

Wind—The prevailing wind was from the north-west and the highest hourly velocity during the month was 47 miles from the west on the 12th ult.

Freezing weather occurred each day of the month; The North Branch of the Susquehanna River remained closed during the month with ice from 8 to 16 inches in thickness and the depth of snow on the ground at the close of the month was from 3 to 6 inches.

Some frivolous people at Allentown the othr day undertook the noble sport of fox chasing odious. Profiting by the unfortunate experience of some of the New York sportsmen who turned their foxes loose and were never able to fine them again, the Allentown sportsmen led the nnimal over a trail and secured him for future use. The hounds were turned out and for some ime followed the trail beautifully, but at the noment when the chase seemed to promise a nost successful conclusion the pack became confused and went off in the most unaccount able directions, as if twenty foxes had divided at that point and gone twenty different ways. When this remarkable thing had been investi gated it was found that somebody, not under tanding the sublime character of the fox-chase, had dragged an odorous and detestable macker el over the traff and at the critical point had broken into a whole lot of trails, so that each hound could have one all to himself. The mackerel trail is not a new idea, but its success. ful introduction on this occasion suggests a new and not by any means as likely to get away try a mackerel chase .- Times.

The citizens of Scott township at the Febru ary election decided to have an additional poliing place at Light Street. Years ago the spring elections were held at that place, and the fall elections at Espy. As the township only polis about 173 votes, the division may hardly seen coessary, but of that the people there are the est judges. We think there should be an additional district in Bloomsburg. For instance let that portion of the town west of Market street constitute one district, and divide the other by Main street. The west District now has about 350 votes, and the east 450. The proposed division would equalize the number of votes, and relieve the election officers, es ecially when split tickets are voted. Besides in the Eas District, many votes are lost each year because of the pressure at the closing time of the polls The men from the furnsces, machine shops &c. come to vote after close of their day's work, and der the circumstances.

Since the organization of the Town of Bloemsburg, the laws and ordinances have never been published together in pamphlet form. We have collated the several Acts of Assembly, ordinances, opinions of the Court, and other matters concerning the organization and government of the Town, and have them in press. The book will be ready for distribution at a very reasonable price, in a few weeks. Every citizen and tax-payer is interested in knowing the municipal law under which he lives and by which his property is taxed, and we anticipate a ready sale for the book. The publication of legal advertisements is newspapers of small circulation by the public officials is certainly contrary to the letter and spirit of the law In a recent decision rendered by Judge Barrett, of New York, it was held that to insert an advertisement of a sale in a newspaper of v. . | limited circulation was not a "publication" is the legal sense of the word, al though the paper was published regularly. Public officials who dele out "pap" to papers having no circulation worth speaking of run considerable risk of getting into trouble widest publicity should be given all legal ad-vertising, by employing the services of papers having a large circulation, and only by so do ing can all public officers keep on the safe side of the law .- Ind. REST FOR HEADACHE

Dr. Day says, in a late lecture ; Whateve be the plan of treatment decided upon, rost is the first principle to inculcate in every severe headache. Rest, which the busy man and the anxious mother cannot obtain so long as the can manage to keep about, is one of the first remedies for every headache, and we should never cease to enforce it. The brain, when excited, as much needs quiet and repose as a fractered limb or an inflamed eye, and it is obviou that the chances of shortening the seizure and arresting the pain will depend on our power to have this carried out effectually. It is a practical lesson to be kept steadily in, view, in the there lurk behind a simple headache some lei son of unknown magnitude which may remain stationary if quietide can be maintained. There is a point worth attending to in the treatment and economical thing for sportsmen. The of all headaches. See that the head is elevated mackerel is considerably cheaper than the fox at night, and the pillow hard; for, if it be soft the head sinks into it and becomes bot, which when turned loose. he law on the question as to the Sheriff's comfigure as the cost varies at different times. We give the law as laid down by Judge Mayer of may be had of the author as above.

The act of Assembly of April 11th, 1856, up der which this application is made as follows;
"The Sheriffs of the several counties of this ommonwealth, excepting the counties of Alle gheny and Philadelphia, to whom are com mit ted the custody of prisoners, shall hereafter re ceive such allowance for boarding said prisoners as may be fixed by the Courts of Quarter sessions of the respective countles, not exceeding twenty-five cents or day for each prisoner, any provisions in any ther Act of Assembly to the contrary notwithstanding."

This is a general law in force throughout all the counties of the State, excepting the counties of Allegheny and Philadelphia, named i the act, and certain other counties as to while the act has been either repealed or modified by subsequent legislation. We have made a care ful examination of the statutes since 1856, the date of the passage of the act, and find no subsc quent act of Assembly repealing or modifying i as to Clinton county. The law is therefore op erative in this county, and is obligatory upon the Court, the Commissioners and the Sherift. Its provisions cannot be disregarded, and whilst the enforcement of it may operate harshly upon the present incombent, it is our duty to declare the legislative will. The remedy to get rid of its provisions is with the Legislature. It is

DIPHTHERIA SPREAD BY KISSING.

The Scintific American says : As every phy sician knows, it is no uncommon thing for adults to have diphtheria so mildly that it is mistaken for an ordiancy sore throat resulting from cold ; yet such a person can easily infect a child, and the child becomes a centre of malignant infer ion. In view of the fatal prevalence of dipl hegia, therefore, the kissing of a child upon the mouth by a person with a sore throat is hazardour, if not criminal, and scarcely less so Is the ractice of allowing children to kiss their ailin olarmates.
