LITTLE ITALIAN MUSICIANS RESCUED FROM SLAVERY.

Some time ago the Italian Consul at New York City received a plaintive letter, dated at Syracuse, from a group of musicians, praying to be taken away from their padrone named Giovanni Romagnano.

The Consul did the case before the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The padrone, hearing officers were on his track, fled to Canada with the boys, where he remained one month.

Recently the padrone and his four little slaves came to Utica. The boys had been instructed by the padrone to give fictitious names in hopes of throwing the officers of the scene.

The Utica police finally succeeded in establishing the identity of the padrone, and he was yesterday arrested before the Recorder and held in custody.

The testimony developed was pitiful to the degree of tragedy. The musicians told of the brutality of the padrone, and of their own starvation and suffering from cold.

The boys are all below thirteen years, but with violins and harps have made an average $12 per day for the padrone. Returning with a less amount they have been kicked, starved and beaten.

The padrone, when arrested, had nearly $1,200 on his person, $1,000 of which was in $20 gold pieces, secured in the lining of his coat.

The Superintendent of the New York Society appeared as prosecutor, aided by eminent counsel. The padrone was ably defended.

After hearing the evidence the Recorder fined the padrone, and compelled him to pay each musician $50.

The evidence shows that the padrone system prevails throughout the United States and Canada. The padrones are banded to carry on this traffic in musicians. Letters found on the person of the padrone confined here show that in the past eighteen months he has sent to Italy over $3,000 realized from the four boys just released.

JOSHI BILLINGS ADVICE TO A NEW CHOIR SINGER.

Dear Miss—This is an important epoch in your life. The 1st thing to make a good choir singer is to giggle a little.

Put up your hair in curl papers every Friday night so to have it in good shape Sunday morning.

If your daddy is rich you can buy some store hair. If he is very rich buy some more and build it high upon your head; then get a high-priced bonnet that runs up very high, at the high part of it, and then get the milliner to plant some high grown artichokes onto the highest part of it.

This will help you sing high, as soprano is the highest part.

When the time is given out, don't pay attention to it; and then giggle. Giggle is a good ad.

Whisper to the girl next to you that Em Jones, which was on the 2nd seat from the front on the left-hand side, had his bunnet with the same color exact she had last year, and then put your book to your face and giggle.

Object to every tune unless there is a solo into it for the soprano. Cuff and hem a good deal before you begin to sing.

When you sing a solo shake the artichokes off your bunnet, and when you come to a high tone brace yourself back a little, twist your head to one side and open the widest part of that side; then get just a triple, and then put it off for dear life.

When the preacher gets under way with his preachin', write a note onto the blank leaf into the fourth part of your notebook. That's what the blank leaf is made for. Get somebody to pass the note to somebody else, and you watch them while they read it, and then giggle.

If anybody talks or lifts in the congregation and the preacher takes note of it, that's a good chance for you to giggle, and you ought to giggle a great deal. The preacher doesn't say anything to you because you are in the choir, and he can't run a meeting house at both ends without the choir.

If you had a bow before you went into the choir, give him the mitten—you ought to have somebody better.

Don't forget to giggle.

CONVERSATION IN THE SEA.

While on the subject of acoustic wonders it may be interesting to our readers to hear of another practical use to which the telephone has been put.

It seems that a French war steamer has lately been engaged in towing a deep-sea trawling vessel. Attached to one of the towing cables was a conducting wire, with one end in either vessel, and it was found that by the action of the sea on the copper sheath of the wire, an electric current was set up, and telephonic communication was at once established along the circuit.

So successful, indeed, was the experiment, that conversation could be readily carried on between the two ships. This result suggested to the commander of the French war vessel the idea of impressing the telephone into the service of the diver, and in this way: One of the glasses of the diver's helmet is replaced by a copper plate, and in this is inserted a telephonic wire. In the case of the ships, an electric current is established, by means of which it becomes an easy matter to hold converse with the diver, even while they are "fathoms deep below" at the bottom of the sea. In cases where it is necessary that divers should make observations, whether as to the state of the keel of a ship, or as to wreckage, and report thereon, the mariner value of this new use of the telephone is obvious.

The Care of Marriages, in Germany, auditing church fees, long got up a miracle to augment them. Little girls attending his catechism alleged that they had ascended to heaven on a ladder, seen God, the angels, and the saints, and had a distant view of the devil. Much credit was brought to the cure's mill by pilgrims. A prosecution for imposture was instituted. The trial at Saarbrack lasted several days. The first news of the verdict was published in Paris by the clerical Unions in these terms: "All the Marrying prisoners are acquitted. Joy is universal." The Unions omitted a rather important clause of the judgment, thus worded: "The pretended visions are shameful farce, and on the part of the parents of the children and of the other defendants who supported the imposture; but in a legal point of view they are not punishable."

ALASKA MOSQUITOES.—A correspondent says Alaska has "millions and hundreds of thousands of millions" of mosquitoes, and you "open your mouth to speak or breathe, half a dozen mosquitoes sail into your throat." He doesn't print this for the purpose of inducing our New Jersey readers to emigrate to Alaska, where they would, doubtless, feel very much at home. We shouldn't advise them to leave their State. The mosquito picture may be greatly overdrawn. We believe our healthy Jersey mosquitoes would weigh more than a regiment of the Alaska breed.—Nor. Her.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

"It's only a spring opening man," explained that awful boy, as he exhibited his torn trousers after a leap over the picket fence.

"How doth the little busy bee?" He doth 900 miles to get an ounce of honey, according to a Connecticut mathematician. And heedless man catch it all up at a single luncheon.

There is danger for children in every medicine which contains opium in any form and we therefore cheerfully recommend Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, which is warranted not to contain opiates or anything injurious.

The pedestrian fare has been extended to the most secluded precincts of the family circle. We hear of several young ladies of highly respectable parents in this city who are training to walk, and nearly all of them are under two years of age.

A CAREFUL BAKER.—On a recent trip of one of the steamers running to San Francisco, bread was served at dinner one day which tasted strongly of coal oil. The captain afterward asked the baker if he did not know that kerosene had got into the flour. He admitted he did. "Why didn't you flour the flour to the chickens, then?" was asked. "O," he replied, "I was afraid it would kill 'em."
