AN ANTII OTE TO FLIES.

Now, with the heat of summer and the re currence of "fly time," it is important to know low to get rid of the pests that do so tormer humanity, if that be possible, or to abate the nuisance if it can be abated. Upon this theme. which is local, general, and at this season all pervading, we quote the following from a letter written by a lady-and, it may be added, her estimony is worthy of acceptance in the matter of a triel which is entirely practicable, a the same time assuring a [pretty feature in house-decoration: "I have lived in a nown, during that time my sitting-room has been fre rom flies, three or four only walking about my breakfast table, while all my neighbors' room were crowded. I often congratulated myself or my escape, but never knew the reason of it until a few days ago. I then had soccasion to move my goods into another house, while I remained a few days longer. Among other things moved were two boxes of geraniums and calceolarias, which stood in my windows, being always open to their full extent, top and bot tom. The boxes were not gone half an hour, then my room was as full of flies as those raging in the South and the cholera in the around me. Geology has shown us that nature account plishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation storig. Every year the river makes it channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumb led from the rocks upon which it breaks. We led from the rocks upon which it breaks. We surface and the devasting hurriseldom observes them juntil the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute disease us fevers, cholers, etc., while chronic disease (often the most dangerous in result), being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they hav: made an almost ineffsceable impression upon the system. Persons believ-ing themselves comparatively healthful are times the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and ery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are neve failing remedies for these disease They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous to the whole system.

S. M. HOWELL In some neighboring counties we notice small towns and village; with less advantage than those we possess do a large and thriving business. Their facilities are less, and the question arises as to the cause. As to Blooms ourg we believe it comes from the want of true public spirit. Obstructionists and old fogies oppose every improvement, and what is done is done by a few. We remember how strenuously the erection of a poor house was opposed when our taxes were fifteen mills on he dollar for poor purposes. Now we have a fine poor house, which is paid for, but a few inmates and a tax of nearly four mills. Again our town organization was contested inch by inch, yet who would go back to the previous chastic and reckless management? the improvement of our streets and sidewalks was strenuously opposed by many, and yet we believe that there is not a citizen in town who desires to return to the old condition of affairs. We have gas, and will have water. Then w will challenge the state to name a handsomer town. We are splendidly located for all sorts Our railroad facilities are perfect—our eduand splendid drives, with fine hotels and cheap rates. Bloomsburg invites the tourist, the in valid, those who would retire from business or enter into it, those who wish to educate their children or seek a summer resort. Our citiits population there is not as large a church going people in the State. The laws are faith ully executed, and crime is rare. But we lack local enterprise in many respec specially in the support of local papers. To hose abroad they are an index of the business and culture of the place. We regret to say that business men do not advertise their bus iess, as a rule, and the few who do so expec o have the work done at starvation rates Patronize your home papers and your business

VAN CLEVE IN A NEW ROLE.

Some of the Remants of His last visit to Tamage -Where the Evangelist is now Summering. ighly acquainted with Major H. L. Van Cleve, the eminent temperance "evangelist who came into town last April and preached and prayed for the cold water cause. Nightly he sanctuary the portly pot-gutted form of the major moved to and fro over the pulpit, and thrilling stories were told of how he became a convert from the bottle, and how others were saved from early graves by giving up their toddy and gentle tipple. Van Cleve was a persuasive speaker, generally very lengthy and gave particular attention to money matters,

There is another picture to the good work White in Truaqua he gave Mr. George Wi ford, tailor, on Hunter street, orders to make seemingly anxious to have some efficient and up a very stylish dress suit—the one he travelled and exhibited himself in being a very while nearly every person in our town is fav- | seedy one. On Decoration day he visited town orably inclined toward obtaining a supply of coming from St. Clair, and calling at Wilford's ordered a cassimere suit, which the evangelis relop the earnestness already shown and push now wears and has not paid for. At the same ness, ordering two at a stroke, and thought that while he was about the thing he might as well order a winter overcoat also. But these latter orders were never filled. A day or two fterward Mr. Wilford delivered the goods and was promised immediate payment, but the payment has never been made. Van Cleve took the Foundry Hill route to the depot where Mr. Wilford had gone to meet him. The evangelist gave a plausible excuse and escape again.

On his recent trip around the country, or ganizing temperance unions, pledge societies and meetings to draw in cash, Mr. Van Cleve was accompanied by the Misses Emma and Irene Randall, whose expenses he was to defray and pay them b idee $10 a week. Recently the Major sent the young ladies home with a note to Mr. Walter Randall, telling him that he (Van Cleve) would pass through Tamaqua on building was destroyed by fire last winter. The a certain day, and Mr. Randall should meet him at the train and receive some money. The him at the train and receive some money. The appointed day passed two weeks ago and al. tents belonging to persons who were "camping though Mr. Randall has visited every train out;" we stopped and took a taste and smell Lowenberg and L. N. Moyer were appointed since then, he has failed to meet the "Evan. gelist," How many others over town had money borrowed from them is not known and perhaps never will be.

The Major is now summering in Philadelphia and writes to Mr. Randall to simply address his letters in that way-which indicates a desire to conceal his whereabouts. While in town he showed a remarkable taste to hurry along the financial meetings, more so than ould be thought possible in one engaged in his labors. He has since been in Pottsville, St. Clair and Catawissa. The man should be passed around. Temperance people everywhere have an interest in getting such men as Major H. L. Van Cleve out of sight and where they belong .- Tumaqua Courier.

WILLIAM B KOONS

"W. B. Koons, late proprietor of the Bristol House of this city, died yesterday morning at this residence on Public Square about nine o'clock. He had been indispose for about a month, and on last Friday night he was seized with a paralysis of the brain, spinal became unconscious at that time, and did not afterward recover sufficiently to recognize any of his family. His death was therefore not unexpected, and he passed away without a struggle. His age was a trifle over forty-nine years. He took charge of the old Exchange Hotel at Bloomsburg in 1860, upon the etirement of Dobler, and conducted it until 1869, when he assumed the proprietorship of short time, going back to Bloomsburg to be again the host of the Exchange, which not long after burned tdown. Mr. Koons rebuilt the hotel, making it, both in dimensions and style, rather extravagant for the village, and it proved a financial failure. He came to likes-Barre in November last and took the Bristol House, keeping it until May, when his older son succeed him as proprietor.

W. B. Koons was the son of the late ex

Sheriff William Koons, of Shickshinny, He was a very prominent member of the Masonic order, belonging to Lodge 265 of Bloomsburg He was also a chapter man and a prominent Knight Templar of the Commandery at Bloomsburg. The remains will be taken from here to Shickshinny to-morrow morning on the 10:20 train, and interred at Huntington six miles from the former village, in the burial ace of the family.

Chew Jackson's BEST Sweet Navy Tobacco. A DRIVE ACROSS THE MOUNTAINS. (Continued from last week.)

My last letter left us at our journey's end he village of Alba, situated between Cantor and Troy in Bradford county. We find here a ery different country from that which we lef Columbia county. It is almost exclusively dairy region, "Bradford county butter" being elebrated far and near. Very little wheat i aised there. It is a common thing for the armers to keep from 15 to 40 cows. It was ery interesting to visit the dairies of some of our friends and observe the systematic manne n which all the work was done. It must be xtra quality of pasture which will enable these airies to produce on an average 7 lbs. butter to a cow per week, and that with extra feeding. And another thing which liked was the ice cream with which our friends erved us. It was simply rich cream, sweetene lavored and frozen.

Alba is a small village, but it has a wide eputation for fine wagons. They have ontract now for a number of coaches for Williamsport, to be run by Peter Herdic i opposition to the street cars.

It is said that Herdic is about to put ome sort of manufactory at Alba. Two mile from here are the famous Minequa Springs formerly owned by Mr. Herdic. The principa tents belonging to persons who were "camping of the waters and felt convinced of the medicial properties thereof.

Canton and Troy are thriving towns vying with each other in prosperity. Troy aspires to be the county seat of the proposed Mineque At Alba we had the pleasure of attending a entertainment, consisting of readings an recitations, given by the noted actress Mrs. E L. Davenport and others. Mrs. D. has summer residence near canton.

After nearly a week pleasantly spent amo friends, we start on our journey home by tifferent route. We go down Towanda Creek o Monroetown 4 miles from Towards. Thence we follow up the Sullivan and Eric R. R. to Dushore. New Albany is a little place on the road, 8 miles from Dushore, which was con-

picuous for its signs, almost every house lisplaying a lettered board. Dushore although not the Cupital' is the Metropolis of Sullivan county. We made hort stay of half an hour here and discovered that Dushore boasted a "five cent counter." We bought a hatchet with a view to "camping out," but as night came on we reached "Schreyvogels," and being informed that they "had but one large room with four beds to spare," we concluded to try that kind of camping. After 44 miles of travel we found these four beds very consoling. Arising early in the morning we find the climate very different from what we have been accustomed to. We are very glad to stay around the stoy while the breakfast is preparing. One of the nembers of the party finding two bears chained n the yard, endeavors to make friends with them but on receiving a nip from one of them retires in disgust.

Leaving Schreyvogel's we journey ov miles of very rough road, all the way through the woods, without seeing a house till we reach Orangeville, who assists the proprietor, F. L. Ricketts, received us very cordially. We spen a short time in this place of exceeding beauty and quietness and then started on the last 25 miles of our journey. As we go down Fishing Creek we pronounce Columbia county roads to be superior to any we have passed over on our little village, nestled at the we are ready to exclaim, 'Home, sweet Home, ONE OF THE PARTY.
