Messes, Eptrons : As perhaps you are awar there has lately been organized in this place a "Game & Fish Protective Association." The members propose to wile away a portion their leisure time in shooting at balls thrown from a trap. They have therefore purchased a rap and balls for that purpose. The balls are of a composite substance readily dissolved by the action of the weather and, are said to be an excellent fertilizer. It was our good fortun on last Saturday afternoon to witness the first ball shooting by the club on the Fair Grounds. As it was their first effort in that line of cours perfection was not to be expected.

It is well that that instructions have been sent to the representatives of this country at the capitals of Chili and Peru, directing them to proffer the good offices of the United States in effecting an honorable settlemen of the differences between the belligerent Governments. These instructions have een communicated to the Governments of Chili and Peru, but sufficient time has not clapsed for a reply. There is reason to hope that this act of friendship will be accepted in a like spirit, and that the result will be a speedy termination of the existing hostilities. This action is not without pre edent. During the first term of General Grant's administration the mediation of the United States was sufficient in relieving Chili, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, constituting the allied Republics of the Pacific coast, from a state of war with Spain. It is plain that our Government should sustain relations to the South American Republics of so friendly a character that its influences may at any time be successfully exerted in the promotion of international peace and good will. -Record, has been very favorable for the crops, there is general agreement in Great Brittain that the farmers have not had a worse summer for a generation. The weather has been cold and wet almost without intermission, and it has grown worse rather than better with the approach of harvest. Several times f late the cable has reported violent storms in various parts of the Kingdom, and still nother occurred last week, which is thought to have been more disastrous to the crops than its predecessors. That the complaints of the English farmers about the weather have had more basis than the ordinary grumbling to which they are addicted is conclusively proved by the report just made by Mr. Scott, a well-known agricultural authority, who estimates that the grain crops will be a third less than the average, involving a loss of fully £25,000,000 to the cultivators, and requiring the importation of from sixteen to seventeen thousand quarter of wheat. He also estimates that the deficiency in the potato crop will cause a loss to the cultivators of £15,000,000, and the deficiency in beans, peas and rye, £3,000,-000. It is probable that the American farmer will find it difficult to restrain a feeling of satisfaction at such assurances of a for eign demand for his crops, but the news which come simultaneously that almost famine is already prevailing in the west of Ireland will make it a little difficult for him to rejoice over the failure of British crops even if it does furnish a market for his wares.

While the season thus far in this country

There is one subject well worthy the careful study of every housekeeper; and that is, how she may simplify work. If she will si down daily with pencil in hand and jot down items as they occur to the mind when running through mentally the day's routine, she will see where time, strength and labor may be very properly saved. A simple pudding for desert takes much less time to make than a pie or two, and is far more healthful and quite as appetizing. Yet, how many women slave over a hot kitchen stove baking pies interminably for the family dinner, To be good, nearly every kind of pie should be enten the day it is baked; so the same process needs to be gone through with every process needs to be gone through with every morning. Some sadly pampered households make this demand on a housekeeper's strength three times a day, and usually reap strength three times a day, and usually reap strength three times a day, and usually reap the fruits of their folly in miserable years of dyspepsia and a hundred kindred ills.
