Second—All property should bear just proportion of taxation, and we pledge the Democratic party to reform the laws of assessment to that end.

Third—Lessening the burden and increasing the advantages of the working people.

Fourth—The equal protection of the rights of labor and capital, by the enactment of just laws, protecting so far as possible from all such competition, labor and capital by the enactment of just laws.

Sixth—The tolls of the canals to be kept at the lowest rate possible, consistent with economical and efficient management.

Ninth—Municipal self-government in all local affairs. LEGAL OPINIONS.

FILED AT SEPTEMBER TERM, 1879. Among the opinions filed by Judge Elwell at September court there are several of interest to the public in general and to lawyers in particular.

Demurrer and Joinder. OPINION OF THE COURT. Before the statute of Westminster 2d 13 Edw. 1. Cap. 45. Roberts Dig. 240, the plaintiff in a judgment could not maintain a scire facias upon a personal judgment, nor have execution thereon a judgment slept a year and a day, but was put to a new action upon the original judgment.

The rule of the common law is for the protection of the debtor, and one object of the statute was, says Gibson J. in Penneck vs. Hart 8 S. R. 376, 'to preserve to him the benefit of it, while a more speedy and less oppressive remedy was provided for the creditor.'

A scire facias is in the nature of an original action and the defendant may plead to it in bar of an execution. Co. Lit. 209 and 2 Troutab and Halsey Pr. 373, 34 Ed.

The action by scire facias is a substitute for the action by debt upon the judgment, and the latter action may still be maintained.

By the act of 1845 the time within which a plaintiff may have execution upon a judgment is extended to five years. If the plaintiff after the lapse of that time shall cause an execution to be issued without a previous scire facias, it will be set aside. Comly vs. Russell 1 Phila. 402.

At common law a judgment was not a lien on real estate. The necessity for a lien of the judgment after a year and a day was in no way created by any question on that subject. It arose altogether from the presumption of discharge or release by the lapse of time.
