AN AMBULANCE FOR ACCIDENTS.

Suddenly a loud-toned bell, audible throughout the building, strikes four, and the gates are open for a white ambulance, which a moment later is pulled up before the main entrance.

FRIENDSHIP IN THE FAMILY.

It is undoubtedly true that, although many things that render life precious to us are found in the family, friendship, as we commonly understand it, is not often among them.

PADDLING IN PRISONS.

The man who yields the paddle at Clinton prison, New York, is Hugh Fitzpatrick. He is about thirty-five years of age, and of immense size and strength.

GRANDMA KIRKLEY.

Harry exclaimed: "It is only an April fool!" But he was soon assured that it was an "April fool" only so far as he was concerned, and rushing frantically up stairs, startled his wife by shouting:

THE CABINET.

The Cabinet, though it was the result of reckless firing begun by the British troops themselves, against Afghan soldiers who had been wronged by the withholding of their pay, provokes a howl for vengeance in the enlightened city of London.

When she thought of her lover to release Harry from their engagement, she would blush to think with what pride she would point to this devotion when Cousin May should come to console with her about her losses.

As the twilight shadows crept slowly along, and the gaits outside began to glare and throw out a dazzling brightness, a lonely feeling began to take possession of her, and over her stole a sickening fear of desolation and a dread of coming evil.

No man is hurt but himself. A man must become wise at his own expense. As if you could kill time without injuring eternity. It is our care we are to cast upon God, not our work. A great deal of mischief is easier done than a little good. We can do more good by being good than in any other way. Many whom we cannot convince by argument may be won by love. The essence of knowledge is having it to apply it, not having it to confess it. Gratitude is the music of the heart when its chords are swept by kindness. Kind not difficulties, but overcome them by going forward in the right as fast as possible. The superiority of some men is merely local. They are great because their associations are little. He who walks uprightly before God will walk honorably before men; and is safe in every place and condition. There is no wise or good man that would change person or conditions entirely with any man in the world. The shell may be coarse that encloses the pearl. An iron safe may hold treasures of gold. Poor men may be rich Christians. We should give as we receive, cheerfully, quickly and without hesitation; for there is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the finger. No man can tell if he is rich by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes rich. He is rich or poor according to what he is, not what he has. A man waits too long for something to turn up. It will be his loss. A certain railroad in Peru cost $32,000,000, but only one train a week is run upon it, and that frequently has but one passenger. David Swing says that in Cincinnati there is a man who was a lawyer who would not tell a lie. Never be angry with a man who threatens to blow your brains out. He flatters you. A cook who could not make pancakes trimmed her great variety of waffles, on principle to fritter away her time. The oldest verse in existence—The universe. For successfully making its mark in the world, says the Graphic, small-pan can pit itself against any known device. About one day is the average of Kerensky's exhortations. No country or nation ever became great and prosperous that permanently paid a large rate of interest on its debt, and Secretary Sherman is acting on this principle. Louisiana claim that no State in the Union has a greater variety of wood than theirs, and yet all the furniture and other manufactures of wood used there are obtained from other States. A shirt-front is a thing to be studied. Clothing can be made of paper, so that a man, like a woman, may be bound in cloth or paper to suit the taste. Dr. G. Frost gives in Nature his striking proof of mind in animals: Birds used to wait in ambush to catch the mice that were fed by him on bread crumbs from the breakfast table. When he broke the practice, the cat initiated her master by spreading over the grass the bait for her own victims. They were strolling along in the moonlight. Something put it into his head that the would-be mouse would be snatched at his knees; he resolved to do it, but in the ecstasy of the moment he forgot that he had a light cigar in his mouth, and that he didn't stroll in the moonlight any more. An old bachelor says it takes a smart woman to make a first-class fool. Probably some ordinary woman has made one second-class fool of him. A Mystic County clergyman received only four dollars and a half salary last year. It is thought he worked overtime for the four dollars. An unsuccessful effort was made in the British House of Lords to repeal an old law making marriage with a deceased wife's sister illegal. A London chemist has named his five daughters respectively: Glycerine, Ethyl, Methyl, Propyl, and Morphine. He calls the mother "Mother." Green turtles—Those that allow themselves to be caught. A pleasant smile is the sign of friendship but trying to borrow five dollars is the test. Instead of calling your silver-haired friend an old dog, why don't you hail him as a grey-hound? The rage for art embroidery is at a fever heat. In a year embroidery will retire into the background along with the china craze, and people will wonder how the ever-green was so much in vogue. Iowa has two hundred and twenty-four long editorial entitled "The Gloomy Outlook," which recently appeared in an Iowa paper. The young lady who gave the mitten to the young man who would not go in the meat house where it was comfortable, but persisted in keeping her out at the front gate, now refers to him as one of her cast-off garters. All of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartor's bridesmaids were named after her. Mrs. and Miss Fish are now married. Miss Jessie Conkling was the sixth of those eight young ladies. In a list of "Maxims for Young men," a contemporary includes: "Make few promises." But, in that case, how is a fellow to be a promising young man? The youth who sets up Sunday nights is serving the public better than he knows. When the public is misled by a man who makes himself such a chap who discovers his own folly. The London fun has noticed that it is easier for most people to "marry and settle" than to "settle and marry." The first may be done by a proper, but the other cannot be effected without property. A green monkey and a red monkey have been added to the collection in the Philadelphia Zoo. A "green" monkey is one that has a red patch on his chest, as a speck against his face. He had vivacity or breeding, he would forever such kind of language. We cannot live on probabilities. The faith on which we can live bravely and die in peace must be certainty, so far as it professes to be faith at all or is not faith. He that speaks ill of another, commonly knows he is a man who makes himself such as he speaks against; for if he had vivacity or breeding, he would forever such kind of language.
