For the past two or three years there have been many printers out of employment, Scarcely a day passed without an application from one or more tramps for work. Now all our home jours have work here or elsewhere and camps have ceased to apply. During the holidays the editor of the Catawissa Item was in search of extra help and had great difficulty n getting it. This is a healthy sign and shows that business in the printing offices is increasing as well as in other trades.

DEAD BY BIS OWN HAND.

A MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE.

Last Sunday morning about half past to clock, as G. P. Frymire was on his way to church, he was attracted by the cries of a little son of M. W. Nuss on East street, and on inquiring what was the matter, the boy replied that his "paps was lying on the floor, and his face was all red." Mr. Frymire entered the house, and on reaching the kitchen, was met by an appalling spectacle. On the floor, lying flat on his back, was M. W. Nuss, his face covered with blood, and his right hand grasping a small pistol. M. C. Woodward was immediately called in, and a hasty examination showed that life was extinct. Mrs. Nuss and her eldest daughter were at church, and a messenger was sent for them. A heart rending scene took place on their arrival Dr. Gardner was called in, and found that the ball had passed through the roof of the mouth Subsequently, on probing, he found that the ball had gone through the brain and was stopped at the back of the head by the skull. Death must have been instantaneous. The forefinger and thumb of the left hand were blackened with affidavit and motion, rule is granted to show held his mouth open with one hand and fired cause why the scire facias in this case should the pistol with the other, with the muzzle benot be stricken from the records at costs of tween the thumb and forefinger. The position of the body was such as to indicate that he sat Samuel Begart assigned to William Begart down on the floor in the kitchen and shot himpool of blood, and that on the floor at the left side of the head. Esquire Brower was notified and a Coroner's jury empanelled, as follows: Geo E Elwell, foreman, William Hart, N. U. Funk, G. P. Frymire, M. C. Woodward and Wilard Goddis. After being sworn, the jury viewed the body, which had not been moved from the position in which it was found, and then adjourned until two o'clock Monday afternoon, to meet at Esq. Brower's office-Mr. Nuss was Deputy Prothonotary of this ounty at the time of his death. He was educated at the Normal School, having been a member of the first class ever graduated at the institution. He taught in the public schools here for several years, and on the election of B. F. Zarr as Prothonotary, he served two terms as Deputy, and was continued in that position by William Krickbaum. In the performance was always courteous and obliging to those having business in the office. As Secretary of the Agricultural Society, he had also given general satisfaction. He was a member of the Reformed church, and an active worker in the Funday school, Sunday morning was the first time he had not attended for some years. He did not get up with the rest of the family, as he said he was not feeling weil, and would not go out Soon after their departure, for Sunday school he arose and put on his pants, came down stairs in his bare feet, and a few moments before ten o'clock, ushered himself into eternity. A lady living near says that at about that time she heard a crack like the discharge of a pistol, but paid no attention to it. On Saturday he was in his office attending to his duties as usual, and spoke to a person present of some work he had to do on Monday In the evening he appeared to be in his usual good humor. No possible cause can be assigned, for the rash act, and the whole affair is a mysterious one. There can be no doubt that he intentionally put an end to his life by his own hand, and from the circumstances so far as known at present, there can be just as little doubt that he was not in his right mind when he did it. His family, the sufferers by this horrible tragedy, have the warmest sympathy of the entire com

CORONER'S INQUEST. Pursuant to adjournment, the Coroner's in quest met at the office of J. J. Brower, Esq. on Monday at two o'clock p. m. G. P. Frymire was the first witness. He testified to the finding of the body, as stated above. M. C. Woodward also testified as to the position of the body.

Dr. B. F. Gardner was sworn, and said that he was called in a little before half past ten He thought that Nuss had been dead not more than five or ten minutes when he got there. He examined the wound and found that the ball passed through the roof of the mouth into the brain and lodged in the back of the head Catawissa township. against the skull. The wound was undoubtedly

William Krickbann was sworn, and said he had noticed peculiar conduct on the part of Mr. Noss, but never saw anything that made him suspect there was something wrong with him. He was considerably embarrassed by small debts. So far as witness knew his family relations were of a pleasant character.

Nuss, where Mrs. R. F. Zarr was affirmed. She heard a report like a pistol, and immediately afterward a crash like the rattling of a stove This was a little before ten o'clock.

Mrs. J. Fetterman was sworn and testified that she went to Mr. Noss' secretary this (Monday) morning, and found no pistol, but found four cartridges. (The cartridges were produced and corresponded to that in the pistol with which the act was committed.) She also testified as to insanity in his family. Mrs. Nuss was sworn and related what oc-cousin are in the sevious now, and a sister was

ness knew nothing in particular about the finan curred during his last hours. They went to bed about nine o'clock on Saturday night, as he said he was sleepy. He went first and she followed soon after. She supposed he slept well, but when she woke up in the morning she found him crying. He did not get up, and told them to tell Mr. Krebs that possibly he would not be at church. When she left the bouse she thought he was sound asleep. One time last winter he acted strangely but would not tell her what was the matter. Afterwards he told her that he had had a rope in the house to hang himself with, but that was all over now, and she need not fear he would ever attempt such a thing. He often had melan choly spells and would go off by himself and have a cry, and then he would feel better. Or Monday morning of last week he said to her there was nothing in this world worth liv ing for, but she laughed at him, and hi cheered up, and the rest of the week seems lively and happy. She identified the pistol as his property, which he always kept in his secretary. He always kept the desk locked and carried; the key on a ring with others. (The key was found in his pocket after death.) The inquest rendered the following verdict COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, COLUM-

BIA COUNTY, 88:
An inquisition, indepted and taken at th Town of Bloomsburg, in the County of Columbia, the fifth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty, before me J. J. Brower, a Justice of the Peace of the county aforesaid, Acting Coroner, upon the view of the body of Martin W. Nuss. then and there lying dead, upon the oaths of Geo. E. Elwell, G. P. Frymire, N. U. Funk M. C. Woodward, William Hart and Willar Geddis, good and lawful men of the county foresaid, who being sworn to inquire, on the part of the Commonwealth, when, where, how and after what manner, the said Martin W Nuss came to his death, do say upon their oaths, that the said Martin W. Nuss came to his death on the 4th day of January, A. D. 1880, about 10 o'clock a m., at his dwelling house in the Town of Bloomsburg by a pisto shot wound intentionally inflicted by his own hands, while laboring under a fit of temporary mental aberration. That the public may be protected against. Imitations and Fraud we specially caution all purchasers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS to see that the word CAPCINE on each plaster is spelled correctly. Do not allow some other plaster to be palmed off under similar sounding names, with the assurance that it is the same thing or as good. Bear in mind that the only object such vendor can have is the fact that they can buy imitations at half the price of the genuine, and they hope by this substitution to gain a small additional profit.
