Dolly's Shoes

Some of the shoes are imported, but they are inferior in style to those made in this country-notwithstanding they came from Paris, and everything from that place is supposed superlatively choice and to be desired. as you are well aware. In the United States the writer adds: there is one factory-and but one, so far as I could ascertain-which supplies a large been attained by the service? At this writing quantity, about fifteen hundred dozens for the American market, sending them to all parts and furnishing the toy-stores in Chica-

The manufactory is at Bordentown, New Jersey, and has been in existence about twelve years, and the value of stock now sent 225, and the number days' succor afforded to out is about $7,000 a year; so much money Of the 226 lost, 183 perished at the disasters for the wee feet that run on no errands, and save no steps for anybody! The wholesale jobbers, of course advance the price, and in the retail stores they are higher yet; so that each tradesman through whose hands they then permit to take place until the first of December, and the latter occurring at a dispass has his trifle of profit in helping to shoe the feet of the doll-people. They retail from a dollar and a dollar and a quarter a dozen to three dollars and seventy five cents, ac cording to the style. quently pointed out, and asked to have rem

They come packed in regular sizes, 'full line,' as those for children do, or in assorted sizes and styles; in small, square boxes, such as the shoe dealers know by the name of 'cartoon,' which is another word for the French carton, meaning simply that they are made of paste-board The tiniest is not much more than an inch long, but is a perfectly formed and finished shoe on that miniature scale; and the largest is almost big enough for Mrs. Tom Thumb. measuring about four inches, and it could number saved was 5,981; the number lost, e rtainly be worn by many a baby you have 306, and the number of days' relief afforded

As for the names they come in this orderslippers, ties, ankle ties, balmorals, buttoned boots, Polish-buttoned, Polish-eyeletted, and Antoinette, which is a heeled, croquet slipper, in which her doll-ship when engaged in that out-of-dorr game can show off her delicate, clocked stockings to advantage.

But what shall I say of the variety in color and trimmings? They are in white and crimson, in buff and blue, in scarlet and pur ple, in rose color and violet, in bronze and silver and gold, everything but black, for dolls don't like black, except in the tips of their gay Balmoral or Polish boots. And the stuff they are made of is such soft material as can only be found in goat and sheep and kid and glove kid, and skivers, which is the name for split leather. I strongly suspected that they were all made of scraps left from large slippers and shoes, but, though this is generally the case, some whole skins have to be used, but nothing is ever manufactured for real people in some of the fancy colors worn in the doll-word. The soles are of leather of a very thin kind, but the heels are of what is called 'composition'—a preparation of glue tion to the real efficacy of the service could and melted rubber, or possibly, in some styles, of wax and clay, made firm and hard, and they are stuck on with glue, just as the soles 'are fastened to the 'uppers.' The rest of the work is fine stitching done by hand; and the except an imperfect one, consisting of meagre little things are all shaped on lasts and made in every way by precisely the same process as any shoes, (except the glued-on heels and soles,) being cut out by patterns, in 'quarters' and rosettes done just as for real people.

I opened all the boxes, and paraded son of the prettiest of each kind in a row before me, and sat and admired them. And I could not help wishing that I had also a row of little girls to look and admire too. How their fly be conceived, but it is less easy to realize the model have above and what raptures. what explanations, what shricks of delight there would have been! 'Oh! how cunning! what lovely rosettes! what elegant bows! what what lovely rosettes! what elegant bows! what dear little beels! oh! isn't this such a darling pair? They are too sweet for anything! I can't tell which to choose—they are all so be utiful!'

That is what they would have said and a great deal more besides. And they would have just wished they could have this pair for Fanny and that for Claribel, and that for Llady Geraldine and constant the such as Lady Geraldine, and so on and on; while I should have wished that I could make them all happy by giving them their choice.

But who could choose? The gold and silver pes were richest, quite dazzling to behold. and they had gilded and silvered heels, and leans judge. It is related of him that, as they were shaped like a Newport tie: each he was riding in the cars, from a single had its minutely scalloped edge, where the glance at the countenance of a lady at his seams overlapped and round the ankle, and a side, he imagined that he knew her, and bow of narrow, white corded ribbon with an ventured to remark that the day was ples ornament of jet and gold, or jet and silver in the centre, and they were fit for the feet of fairy queens. The sock-shaped ties, like a baby's soft heeled shoe, looked somehow most real of all, as if for the least mite of a human "Not when they are married." But I am baby to wear on its wee, pink feet, and not. The lady quietle removed her veil, doubled up in its wee, pink fist. There were disclosing to the astonished magistrate the the ankle ties, with the diminutive strap all face of his mother-in-law. scalloped and stitched, and set with minute eyelets through which a purple or blue or scarlet braid was passed, and every part as fine as hands could make. There were low, laced shoes with heels and without. There were high cut Balmorals with a long double row of eyelets and end extra high Polsh boots, heeled and laced or heeled and buttoned; and they were in white and with scarlet tips, in white with gilt buttons, in bronze Democrats are accused of outrageous fraud.

It was hard to tell what there was not, for ours, -Lancaster Intelligencer, pere were boots and shoes and slipers for all kinds of dolls, high, low, rich and poor; to walk in, to dance in, to play croquet in, or to stay at home in; to match their cus tome, to match their hair, to match their eyes to suit them if any thing on earth could suit. And every doll could be sure about her "size," for the number is stamped on the bottom of the soles; and I must not forget to say that they have also the "trademark" which is the imprint under the number ;this "trade mark" is a pair of boots smaller than anything you can think of.

Now I am coming to the original question who makes them?" They are made in large -quantities during about six months of the year, accumulating in the summer, ready for the trade, which begins in August, and drops of after the first of January, and is over with for that season by March. In those er day, says a Nashville paper, was asked six months the factory employs about forty women, and they are mostly invalids or old knew the cost of feeding cattle, and to give persons who are not able to do anything but his estimate of feeding a cow, to which he light work, and who receive only small wages replied: "My father before me kept a diary because they are not capable of earning much I have had a good deal of experience in because they are not capable of earning much So they are generally thin, pale hands and buying and selling and keeping cattle, as a siender fingers which patiently and skilfully man and boy, in the diary business for fifty fit the patterns, and sew the seams, and do years.
