BLOOMSBURG, PA.

Friday, Feb 20, 1880.

Upon the occurrences of the present year depend great results. The Presidential election will determine whether the people are content to live longer under the control of a party of fraud and corruption, or whether they desire an bonest government. It will also determine whether the unwritten law of dates of their appeals. the land, established by Washington and observed by his successors to the present day, shall be effaced from the sacred tablets of traditional custom, and a third presidential term inaugurated. This would be but the first step towards an empire, and it it shall be permitted, we may within a few years, bid farewell to our republican form of Gov-

To avert such a dire calamity is the pres ent duty and mission of the Democracy. If wise counsel and concerted action shall prevail, the election of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency is inevitable, whether he he Bayard, Seymour, or Tilden. But before victory can perch upon our banners, there must be changes in several respects. The great obstacle to our success is internal dissensions. In New York we have the Kelly-Tilden fight. In Pennsylvania Wallace and Randall cannot agree, in Philadelphia Bill McMullin leads a factious crowd, and so it is in other states. Personal animosities are the springs of action rather than love of principle, and self aggrandizement takes the place of party success. In some instances democrats who have not stuck closely to the party ticket are denominated "bolters," and threatened with being read out of the party for kicking over the trace-On the other hand these so-called "bolters" are ready and willing to come back into the fold only when they are tickled a little by being named for an office. We would sug gest that conciliation rather than punish ment is the proper treatment in the first instance and in the second that party principle is sufficient to hold any true democrat with in the party lines, without being rewarded by a party nomination.

All these things must be overlooked and droppedlout of sight if we would hold the fort All men do not think alike, and as free wilagents all have the right to do as their consciences dictate, and if some are led to vote against what they consider a bad nomination they ought not to be driven from the party because of this one act; but they have no right to expect to be coaxed back by offers and influence.

In union there is strength; in divisio weakness. Let us all cast aside any petty personal animosities, and putting our shoulders to the wheel, all work for one great end the trumphant establishment and perpetuation of the principles of Democracy.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D C. Feb. 17th 1880-

One of the historical eras of the governmeut's financial experience is at hand. The three and one half percent, refunding bond has been drawn, the immediate words of preparation being confided to Congressman Fryer, of Maine, and will be presented to the House for action. The first section authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue four hundred million dollars in bonds bearing interest at the the rate of three and one half per. cent per annum. to be redeem enty years, and payable after forty years; also to issue two hundred million certificates, bearing interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable in one two, three, four, and five years after date of issue, at the rate of forty million per year the same to be issued in such denominations as shall be deemed advisable by the Secretary of the Treasury, who authorized and directed with them, to replace all four and six per cent bonds now outstanding. The two topics of conversation here, in the absence of business in Congress, are, first the Presidential candidate question as aprelating to the Democracy. I mention the men who have a chance for the Republican nomination, are Grant, Blaine, and Sherman. No one else is talked of here, and I give their names in the order of the generally conceived idea of their prospects. It may be proper to leave Sherman out entirely, for his "boom" so far, is engineered wholly by Treasury officals and personal friends, and is of that character which never

DISTRESS IN IRELAND

The following circular has been received

WILKES BARRE, PA., Feb. 11, 1880. States of America :

We will refer to these in the order of the uary. Since then over seventy thousand dollars have been entrusted to us, much of which Christmas Eve, to distribute American help marks, proceeds as follows:

"It would be a matter of sore regret!

Following closely upon our appeal, came

Information has also reached us from nany reliable sources, both clerical and lay, f the biased and partial way in which the Marlborough relief funds are administered and complaints are numerous that the charity sent from America is being used as a poitical engine to assist the landlords in drivng the people from their homes.

The Dublin Mansion House Committe vas the third to appeal to this country. Up on the publication here of the names of those composing that body, we felt it our duty to point out that its Dublio management was ontroled by persons interested in the mainenance of the landlord system; that severd of them had been guilty of eviction atrocities, and that the hands of others were vomen butchered within the last few weeks in a happily ineffectual attempt to evict the into the chair of government."

But, so far, appearances indicate that the Herald will be guided, in its selection of the channels for distributing its funds, by that landlord bias which has so unhappily manifested itself hitherto in the direction of the policy of that journal.

Before, then, the people of this country entrust their money to the Herald fund, we think they are entitled to ask what agency is to be chosen to distribute it. Up to the present we have been given no information on this vital point, and if the Herald wishes to avoid the imputation that it has joined with the Mariborough and Mansion House converge with men belonging in all sections Committees in their conspiracy to divert the charity of America into Iandlord hands, it will at once publish the names of a committee calculated to command the confidence

For our part, if the Herald selects a com mittee in which the Irish people can place confidence, it shall have our warmest supthe other hand, it allies itself with the attempts of the Marlborough and Mansion House Committees, to use American charity as a means of deteating the tenantry of Iretain their rights, we shall spare no effort to enlighten the public as to the true nature o this attempt.
