SPRING FASHION.

SCENES AT STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER'S SPRING OPENING.

Tuesday was announced as the opening of the season in ready made dresses, mantles and ladies' outside garments generally at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's. Although the day opened with clouds and threatenings of rain, early in the forenoon Eighth street near Market was alive with ladies on their way to inspect the new spring styles. Passing in with the throng, we found ourselves in the midst of a brilliant scene. The spacious sales-room was arranged for the occasion with a display of tasteful garments, which could no fail to attract the attention and excite the interest of every lady.

The apartment was so well lighted that the effect of the numerous and varied costumes was most brilliant. Placed on stands, on elevated platforms, every detail of each particular suit of dress was opened to inspection, and thus revealed the exquisite and artistic skill of the modiste.

One feature which particularly impressed us was that while numbers of the garments were rich and beautiful in the extreme, and the general effect very striking, the prices were most moderate.

Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier have been particularly fortunate in hitting the key-note of Philadelphia taste the epithets elegant and appropriate being singularly applicable to all of their styles. Illustrative of this was a dress of olive-green silk and satin brocade of the sample shade. The skirt was artistically draped with the silk laid in folds diagonally across the front breadths and falling in sash ends behind, which were again caught up in graceful and beautiful loops. At the limit of the skirt there appeared a suspicion of scarlet knife blade pleating. The basque was in the tourist shape, and finished with cameo buttons, each representing a different figure.

A beautiful dress was of velvet striped grenadine. The basque was finished with long skirts or troupelands and heavily trimmed with a rich jet fringe. The underskirt was peculiar from a wide band of shirred satin which adorned it.

Amid the current styles one very noticeable was of ecru corduroy over a skirt of satin novelty, ornamented in front with the new and fashionable tassels, called "pokes," or "spikes."

An imported dress of new Momie cloth was striking: the trimming was formed of intermixed white and blue silk bands.

A stylish custome was made of variegated Momie cloth and ecrue bunting, adorned with large pearl buttons.

MUSLIN AND GRENADINE DRESSES, appeared in great variety. A lovely combination was of Satine and Yeddo cloths, trimmed with Mechlin lace. Of a delicate pink, this custome was both beautiful and servicable.

A dress of Indian muslin, interesperced with Breton lace and puffings, was truly beautiful, and one of linen de India, beautifully and profusely trimmed with Languedoc lace was greatly admired.

A charming custome of silk and grenadine, of the shape of ashes of rose, was relieved by alternate ruffles and puffings of the two materials.

One of the most admirable customes displayed was composed of gens de' arme brocade satin, slightly intermixed with silk of the same shade and draped with great elegance. Around the neck appeared a collar of the new and fashionable tint known as cashmere passementerie, a mixture of gold and iridescent beads.

A suprising and beautiful novelty was a robe of delicate drab trimmed with blue satin. This satin was embroidered with palm leaf designs, and was thoroughly Oriental in its splendor.

Time scarcely sufficed to inspect all the elegant and becoming customes displayed and still remained to be examined. No house in Philadelphia has ever shown so great and beautiful a variety of lovely suits for children as were on exhibition at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's on the occasion. Indeed though the house makes a speciality of such attire, it may fairly be said to have outdone itself this season.

An admirable plan has been adopted of grading the various styles of dresses in sizes according to the ages of the wearers. Thus a tourist suit for Misses from 12 to 16 years of age serves as a description of what may be obtained for young girls. The tourist suit is of blue silk skirt, blue Momie cloth or a touch all the details of this custome were worked out, its exquisite finish being greatly admired.

A Lucia polonaise of blue bronze and old gold novelty over a skirt of solid blue silk was a style adapted for misses aged from 10 to 16 years.

Still prettier was a custome for a child of 8. It was composed of coachman's drab Momie cloth, interspersed with silk and satin novelty in delicate shades of light blue and pink. This rich material was applied to the overdress with great effect, while the skirt was finished with three ruffles.

Another charming little girls dress was of pink cashmere and brocade satin combination, trimmed with Languedoc lace.

One of the most beautiful costumes shown was a coachman's design of drab Momie cloth. The front of the bodice was of scarlet satin, which extended as far as bretel sidduche's lace, the limit of the skirt being defined by a narrow knife-blade plaiting of scarlet satin, while the whole was trimmed with duchess lace.

A child's imported suit was of light blue imperial bunting, with overdress of silk novelty in blue and gold. Special mention should be made of a cunning little suit of blue silk in combination with silk novelty for a child of five.

were shown in numerous styles. Among the most admired of these were the slips of Languedoc lace, with the ruffles of the same worn over light blue or pink silk underdresses. There were dresses of linen de India, richly trimmed with lace, and muslin dresses so richly trimmed with lace and puffings that the absence of color was quite forgotten in this rich effect.

A decided novelty for little children was the combination suit, representing a silk corded and lace or muslin embroidered underdress. These dainty little garments were in some cases slashed and laced at the sides with contrasting silk cords and tassels. They appeared in various shades and colors, some being of ecru or coachman's drab others in dark blue. One of the latter was made very effective by a border of silk plaid novelty.

A princess dress for a child, of pearl-colored Momie cloth, had a double plaited skirt with shirred drapery, while ribbon bows of a new plaid pattern adorned the waist, sleeves and skirt.

Coats for children were very beautiful. These were shown in great variety of styles, and being of light cloth and adorned with cords and tassels and handsome buttons, were quite jaunty.

INFANT'S WARDROBES

showed a great increase in elegance and variety. Robes and dresses, richly embroidered and magnificent cloaks attracted special attention. One very lovely cloak for an infant of very large size, of white cashmere, heavily embroidered in silk. It was lined throughout with silk and beautifully finished with silk fringe.

LADIES WRAPS AND MANTLES

almost formed a display by themselves, ranging in prices as hight as eighty and ninety dollars each. One specially beautiful style is known as the shawl shape. It is pointed at the back, and while it covers it does not impede the free use of the arms. It was made of Satin de Lyons and trimmed with a rich passementerie of jet and heavy silk fringe. Another, of the dolman shape somewhat modified, had an elegant fringe of jet with a black lace fichue at the neck.

A superb mantle of black satin de Lyons was trimmed with cashmere passementerie and lined throughout with old gold colored silk. Another still richer had a trimming and colors of cashmere passementerie and was lined with black silk. Mantles were shown in a variety of styles and eagerly saught after by the ladies.

All the materials used in the dresses and mantles which appeared at the opening are to be bought at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's, whose dress and cloak-making departments are constantly kept busy re-duplicating orders. The great conveinence of finding dress goods, trimmings and styles in one establishment is every year growing more and more popular, and this immense bazar in its spring opening affords an opportunity to ladies to make judicious selections.

The aspect of opening is always inspiring, but on this occasion it was undoubtedly so, owing to the concourse of elegantly attired ladies who thronged the saleserooms. All were interested in this first glimpse of the coming fashions, and even those who had no children to clothe paused to admire the beautiful array of little dresses which looked like a garden of flowers.

We omitted to mention,

THE ROMP SUIT FOR 1880

A novelty displayed for different ages which will be quite a boon to the young folks. It is made of some neutral tints of enduring material, such as Momie cloth crape, camel's hair or summer shoola, sits loosely to the figure and has a handsome cut skirt. The application of colored silk cordings and elegant silk plaid ribbon bows renders it exceedingly stylish.

The suits shown at the opening, though not generally of foreign importation, show all the beautiful effects commonly accredited to French taste. They are reasonable in price and adapted to all the requirements of fashionable life. Dinner, promenade and carriage dresses appear in great variety, as do tourists' costumes, home and seaside dresses. Wraps, coats, mantles, ect., make a large display. Indeed only a visit to this establishment can give a just idea of all the lovely and desirable garments on exhibition.

Philadelphia Press, April 7.

We are informed that after the above article was put into print the crowds of the afternoon and next day (Wednesday) exceeded all precedent and obliged the firm to continue the display one day longer than was intended in order to accomodate many friends of the house.

Such an auspicious opening indicates that the business of the season must be in proportion, but we understand that the firm's resources and arrangements are in proportion to any demand likely to be made upon them.

Grateful Women

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these bitters.

Always manage to live so as to leave something at death. A Chicago man of 98 years of age married the other day because he thought it far better to leave a widow than nothing.

CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathic doctors very often do). I tried — and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son, Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, Iowa, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membranes in this complaint, if these troubles are not until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE. Perfect freedom from the disease is then assured and expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has attained a world-wide fame, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, they are numbered with the things that were. Ask your druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a new article into notice, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The course of study prescribed by the state is liberal, and the Scientific and Classical courses are not inferior to those of our best Colleges.
