DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION. Up to the time of the assembling of the Convention at Harrisburg on Wednesday atternoon it looked very much as though the sesion would be a turbulent one, owing tothe contests in several districts, and especially in Pariadelphia, by rival delegations, for seats in the Convention. The so-called Wallace an I Run lall factions seemed to be unable to acrive at any compromise that would bring harmony. Chairman Miller called the convention to order at 1:15 and very soon afterwards it appeared that a basis of agreement had been reached that put an entirely new aspect on the meeting. After the appointment of secretaries, Mr. Cassidy of Philsdelphia, one of the leaders of the "regular organization" arose and said:

Mr. Chairman: I wish, with the permission Mr. Chairman: I wish, with the permission of this body, to make a statement, and to follow it with a motion. I d sire to say that I am bringing to this convention glad tidings. Great appliause. They are tidings that the people of the party throughout the common wealth, from one end to the other, have been looking for, hour after hour; and now, almost a sixty of the property of the party of the property of the p at the last moment, with failure imminent when impetuosity and high temper are approximately rule, they have given way to reason and directed to say that there is a plan by which we believe the differences in Philadelphia and the differences throughout the state wil be settled upon a basis creditable to all, hor be settled upon a basis creditable to all, nor orable to all, and eminently useful to the great party here represented. [Vociferon appliance, cheering, and remewed cheering. The party that my name has been identifi-with perhaps more than any other in the city of Pailadelphia, and known as the 'reand well known rules. While they desirthat all shall know that they are here in accordance with recognized rules, they desirated that all shall know that they are key desirated that all shall know that they are willing to take by the band all men! (here the speaker's voice was drowned by applau-and cheers), and as an evidence that we d mean that its matters shall be finally closed and put upon a proper adjustment, not only with a view of what is to be done to-day, but so that there shall be hereafter in the great city of Philadelphia one party only under the barner of the democratic part appliance to present a united front againthe common enemy, I have been asked a move (and I trust there will not be a di-senting vote) that the differences in that cit-

and all contests throughout the state shall be referred to a committee of six. Since I am asked to name the committee I would state that upon consultation we hav agreed upon names 'hat, I think, when you hear them, you will say is the best evidence that we not only mean to settle, but we mea that we not only mean to settle, but we mean to settle upon fair terms. [Applause.]

I therefore move that this subject he referred to the Hon. Andrew H. Dill, of Union [applause], the Hon. William S. Stenger, of Franklin [applause], the Hon. William M. Gibson [applause], the Hon. George A. Jenks, of Jefferson [applause], and the Hon. R. Milton Speer, of Huntingdon [applause]. For the purpose of allowing these gentlemen time to consultant report, I trust a recess will now be taken and report, I trust a recess will now be take -the convention first, however, ado the resolution properly and honorably.

As he concluded and the great result which had been consummated fully dawned upor the convention, and the spectators, the mos intense enthusiasm prevailed. The scrue that ensued is beyond description. Ringing cheer upon cheer went up until it seemas though the strong building would be shaken to its foundations,

Speeches were made by R. M. Spear, o Huntingdon; Richard Vaux, of Philadelphia; Malcom Hay, of Pittsburg; R M Gibson, A. H. Dill, W. S. Stenger and W. N. Hensel. The whole house then called "Randall, Randall," and that gentleman rose amid the wildest cheering. He said:

Mr. Chairman: This is the happiest political moment of mylife. [Great applause] Thisgives to the people of Pennsylvania and to the people of the United States hope that we shall early in the future return to constitutional government, and soon be in a post tion to demand of the executive officers of s government that they shall administer affairs according to the laws and the consti tution of the country. [Applause.] I do not mean to detain the body; but I say with all my energy, with all my intellect, with all the powers which I possess, that thi-means a thorough complete and honorable peace, the ending of all war in our party and an unending war on our opponents. He had no sooner finished than there wa a unanimous ery for Wallace. Mr. Wallace rose from his seat beneath the gallery. "Order, Order," called those "Hurrah for Wallace," shouted those above. "Bring him out where we can see him." Mr. Wallace was escor ed to full view in the centre aisle and a great deafening roar of welcome arose from the vast assemblage. It was useless for Mr. Wallace to attempt to speak until the cheering which it seemed would never cease had subsided. At length quiet was restored and he ad dressed the convention.

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you for the honor of this greeting. It will scarcely be supposed of me, after giving to the Democracy of Pennsylvania the best years of my life, that I would fail in this crisis of its history. Great applause. I have in the past done what man could do for the advancement of the faith in which I was bore, and in which I hope to die. I do not, therefore, come here to pledge you what my future is to be—you know it from the past. That is the guidon of my policy. I shall pursue that course, erring I know as mortals do err. But whether I am in the advance. or of the soldiery, and in the ranks of the private, [applause]. I yield to the democracy of Pennsylvania, and I accede to their demands when they seek unity, harmony cession and forbearance. Applause | Whatever may have been said in the immediate past, I trust the immediate future is to be one of victory only—victory only in a con-test unequalled in the history of parties in the past, and in which concessions are graver more important, farther reaching to our be-loved country than any that have occurred in the history of the past. You will find me wherever the Democracy of Pennsylvania see fit to place me. [Applause.] I am thei servant and will obey their behests. [Grea applause | I yield to no man in the present ation of a basis, a just basis of unity and sentiment; and this I believe to be one that will bring to the future of the Democracy Pennsylvania peace, harmony and victory. Great and long-contined applause.

The speeches were received with immense An adjournment was made until 5 o'clock, at which time the committee on contests not being ready to report the meeting adjourned C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg again until 8 o'clock in the evening. The committee then reported progress, and said they would be ready to report in the morning, and 9 o'clock was fixed for the meeting of the convention on Thursday morning.

The different congressional delegation met during the day on Wednesday, and made selections of delegates to the National Convention. For the eleventh district, on townsmap, David Lowenberg, and R. H. Staples were chosen. The district delegation of Pennsylvania will stand 36 Anti-Tilden and 18 for Tilden. Hancock is the fa-noon) fur her proceedings of the convention have not been received.

The Clearfield Citizen understands that paper, says: "It wasn't wrong to be a Greenbacker when there was something else than the name to it, but now, when it has resolve ed itself into a party of dissatisfied and disappointed politicians, no excuse can be made for its adherents."

Hon, Thomas A. Hendricks says he will not allow his name in connection with the Vice Presidency this year. That four years ago, unexpectedly and without consultation. he was elected to the second place on the ticket, and in duty to his party he accepted but now he has a chance to express his views on the subject beforehand. He does not consider the office of Vice-President very attractive to a man who has been a Unite

THE BRIBERS SENTENCED.

Judge Pearson passed sentence on the bill bribers last Monday. Kemble Salter, Rumberger, Petroff, and Crawford, were each fined one thousand dollars and sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for one year. The punishment is indeed severe, but not too much so for the crime of which these men are guilty. It is probable that laws will be made in thi State hereafter without the free use of mon ey to obtain their passage, and the timmay soon come when men of ability and in tegrity will not refuse to represent their districts because of the disgraceful manner in which the Legislation has been conducted for some years past. A wholesome lesson has been learned, and it is hoped that it will not soon be forgotten.

It is said that the Board of Pardons will hold a session soon. Will these men be pardoned?

Whatever else may be doubtful about the ntention of the authors of our tariff laws, they undoubtedly meant to place on the free list all materials used in the manufacture of paper. It happened that pulp of wood, which is by far the most important element in the manufacture of paper used by the daily and weekly press of the country, was not specifically and by name exempted from duty. Under a Treasury decision which held that this verbal omission was ratal to the free admission of wood pulp, a few man ufacturers of that article have been able to mpose an exorbitant tax on the general body of paper-makers, by whom it is of course shifted on the consumers, the newspaper publishers of the country, and the burden falls with special hardship on publishers outside of the great cities we, consequently be ing impoverished so that a handful of mopopolists may grow rich. The most powerful champion of these monopolists is Repreentative Garfield. Were his opposition the bill withdrawn, the restoration of wood pulp to the free list, where it belongs, would be accomplished in a few days. While his opposition continues the monopolists are secure. Can Mr. Garfield afford to continue his support of a most odious and oppressive tax which brings in no revenue to the Gov ernment, but which interferes very decidedly with the dissemination of knowledge among the people?

The Disbarred Attorneys.

The Supreme Court will meet in Harrisburg on Morday, May 3, at which time it is expected the appeal of Messrs. A. J. Steinman and W. Uhler Hensel, the disbarred attorneys will be heard. These gentlemen have retained Rufus E. Shapley, Esq. James E. Gaven, Esq. and Colonel A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, as their counsel, the latter being expected to direct his attention principally to the relations of the appellants, as editors, to the court. In an interview with his Honor, Judge Patterson, ways corresponding was informed that he had your correspondent was informed that he had not yet retained cou-sel, although he had received offers from Republican and Democratic attorneys all over the state to repre-sent his cause. When told that a rumo prevailed that Attorney General Palmer had en retained, as well as Samuel H. Reynolds E-q., of Lancaster, he replied that they had been mentioned in connection with the matter, and were among those whose servi-ces were at his disposal, but that no definite arrangement had been made. It is beleived by those who stand very close to Judge Patson that the gentlmen named will appear as his counsel.

ORANGEVILLE ITEMS.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Coleman tool place on Sunday. The Union church was filled its utmest capacity, and the officiating pasor, Rev. H. A. Dietterick delivered a highly perecutive discourse. All of our merchants have returned from the city and are now busy re-stocking their stores with new goods. The commercial business of this place has almost doubled during the last few years. This speaks well for our men o traffic.

The number of students enrolled at the Academy for this term exceeds 90. It will quite probably reach 100,

Rev. Dickson, of Berwick, delivered a lecure on Monday evening. The portable saw mill has at last arrived. and will soon begin the Cadman and Kline intract, and many a stately oak which has hitherto graced our beautiful Nob Mountain. will be felled by the woodman's ax, cut into logs, stripped of its thick, rough bark, sawed into lumber, sent to Berwick, and there become the rolling stock of some railroad.

The Union Sunday School is now being supfied with a new library, "to guide our erring youths in the path where once their fathers Our milliners have received their new hats and bonnets, but whether they will make better or worse the appearance of the wearer, will be demonstrated on the first fair day in May. George, the new grocer, makes a very pleasant and agreeable clerk.

A number of our people attended the dedication of Kitchen's church on Sunday. James B. Harman intends starting for Kansas in a few days.
