Under this state f facts, who is it that is asking for an injunc on? Judge Rockefeller took the papers and ice of the Peace, and assumed the duties there promised an early decision.

OBITUARY. COL. CLAUENCE O JACKSON.

On Tuesday last it was with profound grie hat our people learned of the unexpected death f Col. Jackson, of Berwick. He had just reired to bed or Monday evening, apparently good health, and died without a word or stru gle. He was 38 years old last March His fo eral took place on Thursday and was attended

s hundreds from all sections of the country As a soldier his history is that of his brave iment which revenged the retreat from Bati with its just delivered and unfirable Belginn nuskets, by its refusal to retreat at Win hester when under Shields,

He belonged to Company H, of the 84th reg nent, and was mustered into service Augus 3, 1862. He was promoted from 2nd to 1s utenant, January 18, 1863, to Captain July st. 1863; wounded and captured at Chancel orsville, Va . May 3rd, 1863; transferred : ompany H., 57th regiment, January 15,1867 and discharged by special orders March 10th 1865. Such, in brief, is a history of his formal ecord. Its actual one would involve a volume out is recorded in the hearts of his survivin comrades. At the time of his death he was an id on Gov. Hoyt's staff.

As a politician, he has been an active, liber I Republican, tolerant to all, but adhesive to his organization when he believed vital queone were at stake. He was honored with nom nations for office in this county, and at times was the Chairman of the Republican organiza

On Saturday last the writer sent him a lette f invitation to address our citizens on Decora on Day. The reply came the evening of his leath that he could not attend "as he expected reave for Chicago the last week in May." He had been selected as a delegate to the Republican National Convention. He was a graduate of Dickinson college, and ssessed fine literary talents. The most of or eaders have heard him as an orator, and full appreciated his worth. He was an excellen iness man, and it will be impossible to re place his loss to the large firm of which h vas chief. He had hosts of friends among al dasses and parties, by whom his sudden deatl will be deeply mourned.
