The proceeds of the festival held by the Philologian Society for the benefit of Milton was $90.98, which has been handed over to David Lowenberg, Treasurer. This makes over $750 in money that has been contributed, which with provision, clothing, &c., makes the whole amount more than $1200.

The Sunday School Convention convenat the Presbyterian church on Tuesday morning, and elected Rev. M. L. Smyser as President and Lamon Bower, Secretary. The session was not well attended, owing probably, to the extreme warm weather. It should be sur tained by the church. The convention closed on Wednesday afternoon; a programme was prepared for the evening but in the absence of a number of delegates they adjourned. Next convention will be held at Zion's Church, near Orangeville.

With the great fondness for law which the Town Council are at present exhibiting, it would be a good thing for them to see that the ordinance forbidding pigs to run at large is enforced. The public schools will close this week. The high school will have commencement exercise on Friday evening, in the hall of the Y. M

No little excitement was occasioned last Sat arday evening, by a rumor that a man in wo man's clothing was prowling around town, an endeavoing to set fire to a house. The mas puerader was given chase but sluded his pur uers. He is still an enigma.

One evening last week, three men, Bitler owler, a weak-minded but wicked fellow, and - helped themselves to several thousand cet of lumber from the canal wharf, loaded i on a boat and set sail. The theft was witnesse y some one who informed the owners of the umber. The thieves were captured and taken before the justice. Two of them gave bail for their appearance at court and the other, Fowler was taken to the county jail.

Decoration day will be observed on Saturda he 20th inst. There is to be a parade to the hen to Reservoir Park, where an address wit e made by Rev. Kumler and a memorial his ory of our soldiers read by W. E. Smith. In the evening there will be a temperance dran played by the P. O.S. of A. in O. F. How an Elephant Was Weighed-

An Indian writer relates an interesting anecdote concerning Shabjee, the father of the first ruling Prince of the Maharattas of Hindoostan, who lived at about the beginning of the seventeenth century. On one occasion a certain high official made a vow that he would distribute to the poor the weight of his own elephant in silver money, but the great difficulty that at first presented itself was the mode of ascertaining what this weight really was, and all the learned and clever men of the court seemed to have endeavored in vain to construct machine of sufficient power to weigh the elephant. At length it is said that Shabice came forward and suggested a plan which was simple and yet ingenious in the highest degree. He caused the unwieldy animal to be conducted along a stage, especially made for the purpose by the water side, into a flat-bottomed boat, and then, having marked on the boat the height to which the wate reached after the elephant had weighed it down, the latter was taken out, and stones substituted in sufficient quantity to load the same line. The stones were then taken to the scales, and thus, to the amazement of the court was ascertained the true weight of the elephant.

Learning to Sew.

To be handy with the needle, is one of the sterling accomplishments of every educated woman. To be able to take the "stitch in time," is worth all the time and trouble that are required to learn the art. Like walking reading, and the many other things we comto do with special thought, the learning to sew is a slow process, and should be begun while the child is quite young.

The girl should not only have the use o the thread, needles, and patchwork, but be instructed how to take the stitches, turn the corners, and to do the various things connected with needle work. We are not excluding the boys in our remarks because they need to learn to thread a needle and do general sewing. Men are sometimes situated that they must depend upon themselves for their necessary sewing. Even if it is an age of sewing machines, it is best that all chilnearly three times as far.
