Cameron Not Yet Satisfied.

Vashington Dispatch to Baltimore Sun.

Representative Butterworth, of Cincinnati, was here and had a protracted talk with Secretary Sherman about the political outlook, and he left for Harrisburg to see Senator Cameron. It is current talk among Republicans that Cameron, since his return home, is holding off a little, and before jumping into the canvass wants to know whether he is to control the offices in Pennsylvania if Garfield is elected. It is asserted positively that they have not yet come out any thing and every thing to accomplish his purpose, whether it be his official influence to Oakes Ames, or to De Golyer or the salary grab; or still worse and more disgrace ful, the affices which he may control, if the people should unfortunately elect him to the Presidency. If Cameron supports Garfield it will be because Garfield has sold out to onstruction ought to be applied by the courts him all the Pennsylvania patronage. If Conkling supports him in New York it will dischief would otherwise occur. Bi-hop on be for the same reason. Thus the offices are to be parcelled out to leaders, and the people are to be first sold out by these Republicans, and then plundered.

If we elect honest men to office we wil have an honest administration of public affairs; but if the Garfields and Camerons and Conklings and Logans are chosen then the old crew of wreckers and plunderers will be at the head of affairs,
