In order to souteract the effect of Gar field's Chinese letter, the republican committee has procured the arrest of Kennard Philp, one of the editors of Truth, on the charge of forgery. He was bound over for a hearing. The only evidence against him was the affidavits of two men, profes sing to be experts in hand writing, who awore that they believed Philp wrote the letter. This bluster on the part of the republicans is too thin. Nobody is at all scared at it. If Garfield did not write the letter himself why doesn't he swear that he did not, as he did about the $329 Credit Mobilier dividend of which the Poland Committee reported that he did get the money?

The following letter appeared in Truth, a free lance daily newspaper of large circulation in New York, on Wednesday: Personal and Confidential.

The additional fact that the views express ed in the letter are in barmony with Gener al Garfield's record in Congress on both the Tariff and the Chinese bills, is also a strong point in favor of the correctness of the letter in the absence of such emphatic and circumstantial denial as would likely be made if the letter was a forgery. The anti-Chinese bill was passed in the House on the 29th of January, 1879, by 115 yeas to 72 pays, and General Garfield did not vote, as will be seen by McPherson's Hand-book for 1880, page 39. The bill went to the Senate where it was amended and passed finally by 39 yeas to 27 nays. When C. A. Kleim, Bloc Dec 12, '79-1y

the amended bill was returned to the House Mr. white moved to lay the bill and amend ments on the table, which would kill the bill if successful and General Garfield voted for the motion, as will be found in the same hand-book, page 41. The motion failed by 95 yeas to 141 nays, and the bill passed finally on the 22nd of February. The President vetoed the bill on the 7 b of March, and on the question whether the bill should pass over the veto, the year were 110 and the nays 96, and General Garfield voted against the passage of the bill, as will be seen by referring to the same hand-book, page 45.

The letter of General Garfield to Mr. Mor. ey, of the Employers' Union, is, therefore, in harmony with his votes on the question to which the letter relates; and being certifled, after careful personal inspection of the original by Speaker Randall, Mr. Hewit and others' who are familiar with General Gar field's writing, it will require very positive evidence to discredit the genuineness of the

All such publications on the eve of an election are to be considered with much a'lowance for the party necessities which would dictate the fabrication of letters calculated to injure a candidate, but the delay in meeting this letter with emphatic contradiction from a responsible source leaves little room for doubt as to its authenticity .- Phil

Nothing more is heard of Southern bulldozing, but the newspapers teem with accounts of republican politicians in the manufactories attempting to intimidate their employees and with the horrible recitals of political murders committed by republican rowdies. Just before the Indiana election the Democratic Sheriff of Shelby county, that State, was shot dead by a republican ruffiat. Democratic negroes have been driven off the stump and brutally maltreated by republican partisans and on Saturday a Democratic procession in Wilmington Delawaie, was fired into by negroes from their club house and a riot ensued in which twenty or thirty persons were seriously wounded, one of them mortally. TO THE WORKINGMEN OF PENNSYLVANIA.

A LETTER FROM JAMES A. GARFIELD WHICH EVERY ONE SHOULD READ.

The accompanying fac simile of General Garfield's letter to H. L. Morey, of the Employers' Union, is given to the public ecause we are convinced that Garfield wrote it. We believe it to be genume for the following reasons:

1. Its contents are in perfect accord with Garfield's course in congress on the Chinese question.

2. The hand-writing is of a uniform character throughout and shows no strain as would be the case in an attempt at imitation.

3. The signature is Garfield's. His autographs on comparison with the signature to the fac-simile show it to be genuine.

4. The best expert in hand-writing in the United States, Edward H. Rouch, pronounces the letter genuine and declares that to document of that length could have been forged or imitated unless the original had been in possession of the forger.

5. The theoretical performance of Masshall Levell and the states of t

5. The theatrical performance of Marshall Jewell, chairman of the republican national canonittee, in arresting the editor of Truth is evidence that Garfield and his friends cannot discredit the authenticity of the letter by a resert to ordinary or legal proofs.

6. The simple denial of Garfield amounts to nothing since Poland committee refused to believe him when testifying under eath. 7 A number of people have been found in Lowell, Mass, who knew H. L. Morey and knew him to be an agent of the Employers' Union at Lynn.

S. The allegation of the Washington postmaster that a different cancelling stamp was in use at the office in that city at the time the letter purports to have been mailed, has been shown to be false by the production of envelopes mailed at that office at that time and since, which bore the same cancellation of the stamp.

Thoroughly convinced, therefore, that the letter is genuine we print the fac-simile and ask its careful and dispassionate examination by the public. Meanwhile we do not think that the fact, that the genuineness of this letter has not been discredited, adds one jot or tittle to the case against Garfield as a supporter of the Chinese policy of the Hayes administration and the republican party. The letter is simply an expression in words of the acts and votes of Garfield on the Chinese question in congress.
