BLOOMSBURG, PA.

Friday, Nov. 5, 1880. THE ELECTION.

At this time, (Wednesday afternoon) is books very much as though the Democracy tuve suffered a tremendous defeat. The Republicans are claiming New York, Connecticut, Indiana, Maine, California and oth er states. While it is too early yet to make an accurate statement of the result, there can be but little doubt that they have carried New York State, and if this be true, there is very strong probabilities that Garfield is elected. Pentagivania has given him about about 25,000 majority. The resuit was scarcely expected by the republicans, though for a few days past it has been indicated by many signs.

While our defeat in Indiana was no worse than the republican defeat in Maine in September, they had the advantage of us in having the last victory. The Indiana disaster was mainly due to the unpopularity of Landers and English, and was greatly assisted by the coercion of the workingmen, In the othe 1 -tat s we had to contend with this defeat and the great blunder made at the Cincinnati Convention in adopting the "tariff for revenue only" plank. While we are warmly in favor of protection, and believe that this plank when properly und r stood does not mean free trade, it was so worded as to allow of misrepresentation by the republicans. They at once saw their alvantage and seized it. Following this came the "business scare" which stirred up men of money all over the country, and they set to work with their purses and in fluence to beat us. In many instances the most unscrapulous means were resorted to to compel laboring men to vote the republican ticket. They were told that the mills and furnaces would all stop, and that there would be either very low wages or no wages at all, if Hancock was elected, and much other similar nonsense that no intelligent man of any party ever believed for a moment. With 100,000 office holders distrib uted over the whole country to manage their campaign, from whom the leaders drew millions of dollars to pay so called "expenses ; with the "tariff for revenue only" plank with English and Landers in Indiana; with John Kelly in New York ; with the refusal of Samuel J. Tilden to lend a helping hand in the organization of the campaign; with intimidation of laborers, and heaps of mon

We beleived that Garfield wrote the Chinese letter when we published it, and we have not yet seen anything to change our views. A despatch from Pottsville to the N. Y.

The failure of all the attempts to extinguish the fire which has been raging in the Keeley Run colliery for several weeks, it is eared, will add another to the perpetually ourning mines that now exist in the Pennsylvania anthracite regions. The greatest of these is probably that in the jugular vein, near Coal Castle, this county. This has been burning since 1835. Lewis F. Dougher y opened this vein in 1833. The upper drift of the mine was above water level, and a buge fire was kept in a grate at the mouth have considered as a loan from Oakes Ames to the above year the timbers of the drift himself. These men betrayed the trust of the cargust fire from the grate. When it was dispeople, deceived their constituents, and by covered the fire had been carried lown the air hole to the lower drifts and was beyond control. Two miners entered the mine, boping to recover their tools. They never came out. The mine was abandoned. No offort was made to mine any of the coal near the burning vein, although it was considered the best coal in the region until 1856. Then J. In McGinnis put in a slope on the east side of it, below water level. He struck the vein at a place where the coa! was so thick that two miners could keep a large breaker and intert a Fraud upon the Government. At supplied.
