Senator Wallace.

THE PAST AND FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY. THE MISSION OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

senator Wallace in North American Review, The events and progress of more than a reperation bave taken the control of goy comental affairs away from the intelligent rule of the masses and vested it in a power as yet formative and undefined Among these were the civil war, the creation and peculiar manipulation of the publie debt, reconstruction outside the constitution, universal negro suffrage, a plethora of paper money, loose public morals, enormous growth of private fortunes, and a close connection of the government with the banking interest. Each had its weight in sapping the foundation of a govcrament by the masses, and in shaping our course toward a different rule. Whether that rule is to be suffrage qualified and rarefied, or suffrage controlled by the power of aggregated wealth or monopoly or a senatorial oligarchy, or hereditary government, is beside the present loquiry, save as they each and all show distrus, of the people, and build their foundations upon universal suffrage, debased, corrupted and denominated.

The tendency toward a so-called stronger government is as manifest as are the causes that have given it form. It is in the nature of things for governmen a to grow stronger at proof of the existence of this tendency is found in the opinions of the federal judiciary in federal legislation over matters heretofore within the control of the people of the states, in the modes of execution of those ramification of executive patronage which will gathers in a single hand enormous contributions and unscrupulous obedience from niuety thousand paid efficials. "Executive patropage will bring us to a master." A net tions, crush independent thought and action an executive who governs in the name of party, points the road with uncrring certainby corporations, monopolists and wealthy rganizations, which are but over-zealousince the days of John Adams. The issues of 1799 and 1890 again confront the people. The theories of that day service, however slight, to Luzerne and are again to struggle for the mastery. The Lackawanna counties in the Senate, government of the Republic is already centralized. The canvass of 1880 teaches this The federal executive has been felt from the ward caucus to the vaults of the treasury from the primary to the presidential election A high federal efficial quits his place to tak a nomination for governor of the pivotal state, and at once the executive arm is extended to his support. Marshals, detectives collectors, secretaries, and all else that are needed, locate themselves within the state and its suffrage is debauched and its nodoubted will reversed. A suffrage, first de based, then corrupted, then obedient, is cenne means to the end sought. The mission of the Democratic party is decentralization. Its duty is to restore the government of the republic to the intelligent rule of the masser of the people. It must teach and practice the doctrines of its illustrous founder. It must appeal to the people themselves in their own interest. It must preach the eter nal truth that the individual citizen is the unit in government, from whom proceeds all power, in whom is vested all rights save hose which are granted by him for the good of the whole. The people at the base, the states and the federal government each supreme within its sphere, is the system to which it looks for liberty, and it must teach that he who looks to paternal government, to centralization, or to empire looks to despotism. Care for and perfect the government, and it will protect the liberties of the people, was the thought of Hamilton. Give intelligence and information to the people, teach them that it is their govern ment, and their interest to preserve law and order, was the thought of Jefferson. Paternal government and vigor in the federal head on the one hand, information to the masses and energy from the extremities on the other. The former gave the republic alien and sedition laws, direct taxation, federal marshals and centralized rule in 1799. The latter swept these out of existence in 1800; carried us successfully through two foreign wars; acquired an empire of territory, and governed the country for sixty We must choose between these two now. The Democracy must again plant itself upon the axiom. "Governments are made for men, not men for governments." It must be true to the people and aggressive in its fealty. Dominated labor must be taught its rights and its interests. Capital nust see its safety in the intelligence and justice of individual rule, and not in the exercise of arbitrary will. Honest performance of everygovernmental contract now is existence, but a change of policy by which the debt shall be managed in the interest of the people and not of the creditor; equal taxation on every form of property : thorougn inquiry into taxation for revenue and its readjustment upon a basis just to every interest and to all the people; no monoplies; forteiture of the franchises of corporations and punishment of aggregated wealth or individuals, for coercion of employees, or the use of money in elections; our own carrying trade made to be our own preserve

The Democratic party is not dead. An to as-like, after each defeat it arises from the people stronger than before. It cannot die whilst it teaches and believes in the rights of the masses. The hour for its triumph will have come when it boldly asser's its true theories and ignores the blandishments of money, monopoly, and corrupt power. He whose interests, judgment, or teachings are adverse to the rule of the masses will jain its enemies, but in his room it will reernit scores of those in whose interest it strikes, or who respect its attitude and detest strong government. The future of the Democratic party is the future of the republic.

The State Legislature.

AN HONEST DEMOCRAT-SENATOR-ELECT COXE REPUSES TO TAKE THE OATH OF OFFICE.

HARRISHURG, Jan. 4-The Senate was called to order at 12 o'clock by Leintenant Governor Stone and opened with prayer by Rev. W. A. West, of Harrisburg. The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth then presented the returns of Senators elected, which, on motion of Mr. Cooper, were opened and read. The roll was then called and forty-nine Senators responded. Presi dent Judge William Pearson, of the fourteenth judicial district, then administered the oath of office. The most remarkable incident in the organization of the Senate was the refusal of Senator-elect Eckley B Coxe, of Luzerne, to take the oath of office secause he could not consistently do so. He read a long address to his constituents in which he says that he spent money for political assessments and contributions; advertising political meetings, organizing lubs, and paying their expenses, paying axes, clerk hire, naturalization, to men at the polls for work, etc. In conclusion, Mr. Coxe says: It may be asked, why did I property of Joel Snyder. spend this money, knowing the consequenthe expense of the governed; but the plain ces. The answer is, I did not understand ontil I was well into the campaign what I would be called upon to pay for, and then I felt that if I should retire I would, as there was a third ticket in the field, endanthough in the heat and confusion of the cam-

ger not only the success of the county ticket statutes, by which local rule, local courts, and which I was very anxious to see elected, but personal liberty are overthrown, and in that also, perhaps, of the national ticket, and alsends its mandates to the extremities, and at paign I was very particular not to contribute a cent for any improper purpose, I was not ab'e in the few weeks it lasted to consider the whole question as I have since. I did, however, determine twice to retire from work of office holders, bound each to the the field, but upon reflection I resolved to other, wielding time and money and power fight it out on the line of spending what ! of place to pack primaries, dictate nomina- could honestly for the success of the whole ticket, so as not to endanger its defeat by my and subordinate local control to the will of withdrawal, and to decline to take my seat if, upon careful consideration of the subject in the nine weeks that would elapse until ty to the end that Franklin, the wise man, election day and the meeting of the Senate predicted. Further guide boards on that I should decide that any part of the money road are seen in large donations of money was used for expenses not expressly authorized by law. Having made this full and men, to supplement the power of the execu- frank statement of the facts, I wish to say tive, and carry the elections in the interest that if I had done anything that I considof an aristocrat c class who dislike and dis- ered wrong, or anything which I would wish trust the people; in the domination of em- to hide, I could have resigned before the ploye by employer; in the marked ballot; in meeting of the Senate, giving as a reason the third term candidacy and pilgrimage my business engagements, or something of on the stump; in the National and Labor | that kind; but such is not the case. I have protests against this tendency, and in that of, and am ready as every honest man should ill-concealed demand for energetic govern- be to suffer the consequences of my actions. ment, which has been the fundamental I make no claim to having been deceived thought of the opponents of Democracy and kept in ignorance. district. The House was called to order at twelve o'clock noon by Resident Clerk Wm. P. Smull, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Beck, Chaplain of the House af 1879 Mr. Pomeroy announced that, by an agree-ment between Mr. Smull, Resident Clerk, and Mr. Huhn, Reading Clerk, of the House of 1879, and in order to avoid any dispute as to which of the two should be entitled to precedence, MrSmull would not as temporary Chief Clerk. The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth presented the returns of the election of members, which, on motion of Mr Graham, were opened and were read by Mr. Hubn. A call of the roll showed that all the members-elect were present except Messrs. Boyd and Whalley, who were dead, and Derrickson, of Crawford county. The oath of office was then administered by Judge Pearson.—Chronicl e-Herald.

The Handsome Nickel Plated New Home Lamp being introduced to the public this season, is the most meritorious article ever offered agents to make money wi h, is safer and more convenient than the student lamp, which has heretofore had the reputation of being the safset lamp made, it has a clamp to attach it to the sewing machine, pinno, organ, desk, etc. The fear of the ordinary lamp being socid-nt-ally unset or thrown from the table, is entirely relevised by the simple clamp contrivar co. It can be adjusted to throw the light just where it is wanted to suit the eyes, and can be converted into a hand-ome wall lamp. It has the best srgand burser, a filling indicat r, and convenient match box, and its price is within the reach of every one. ALTOONA, Pa., January 3 .- Mr. William P. Furey, late editor of the Altoons Daily Sun, died at San Antonio, Texas, last night or this morning, whither he had gone for his bealth. His disease was quick consumption, but he had likewise taken a fever since his arrival there, two weeks since. The parents of Mrs. Furey, who were with him, reside in Illinois. Mr. Furey had a large acquaintance in the State and country. He was an eloquent orator and was closely identified with the interests of the Democratic and a divorce between government and banks, are thoughts which find place in such an issue. The cry of a "Solid South" is exhaust at and impotent at last. It has served its purpose. Divided councils upon questions of administration have kept the Democracy a mere party of opposition, and concealed the silent approaches of the enemy to strong government. It will continue to

The Times for 1881.

Supremacy of heerty and law for every citizen of the Uriton.

The Times will begin the New Year strengthened in all of its already exceptionally strong departments. Its annals of the war will be continued in the Weekly Edition, with specially interesting extracts therefrom in the other editions, and the contributors for lest in this impotant feature of the paper will be from the most distinguished solders and evidians of both North and South. Its large list of contributors in this and in foreign countries will be more than maintained; its reliable newscorrespondence is unsurpassed by that of any other journal of the country; its various departments essential to a complete newspaper for the home and family circle are constantly enlivened by fresh writers, and it will maintain the position it has won solely on its merits, as one of the most reliable and complete newspaper for the form.

The Times for 1881.

The Times will enter the New Year with a larger circle of regular readers than it had at any previous petiod of the history, and the important events of the next year must steadily enlarge the field of independent journalism.

A new anministration will be imagurated; new political occasions will create new political duties; the great commercial and industrial prosperity of the country must stimulate progress and thrift in all sections and the rendency of political power will be toward corruption and despotism, as it ever is when the people are diverted from the stern criticism of authority by peace and plenty.

The Times will be in the future as it has been in the past, absolutely independent of political parties, but earnestly and fearliessy devoted to integrity and patrictism in our statesmanship and to the freedom and scancitly of the ballot. Dependent party organs will continue to babble about party men and party mensures; to excuse the public jobber and the demagog ue; to suppress, pervert or despite the truth, when party interests demand it, and to la ish the regulation praise of the servant to the master; but the growing intelligence of the age daily multiplies the readers of the independent newspaper, and the journals which best reflect the rapidly increasing independence of the people will be the great American journals of the future.

The Times alms to reach the highest standard of the ladependent newspaper. It fearlessly opposes BY THE COURT.
