We read every now and then of fishing parties returning home with three or four hundred trout, the result of a day's sport. The trout are little things, three or four inches in length, much too small to be caught. Such fishing as this is what depletes our streams. There ought to be a law for the protection of infant trout.

This is the month of roses—and of rain. If the Vennor-able man in charge of the weather department would kindly hoist the barometer up to "fair," and turn on some sun, the effect upon the corn crops would be of corn-siderable interest to the farmers.

Does the corn grow in this weather? It does not grow, it stands still and waits for sunshine. Does the farmer enjoy this sort of thing? He does not enjoy it, he is inclined to howl and smash things. Two millions of young shad are to be placed in the Susquehanna at various points between the head waters and the Columbia dam. A kind of variety show, traveling under the name of the Don Allen Combination Circus, arrived in town on Wednesday. A meagre audience was under the canvas at the evening performance. There were athletic feats, character acting, songs and dances, such as are to be seen in the ordinary variety entertainment. As a circus it amounted to nothing—nor was it very remarkable in any respect.

BID HIM GOOD.

Mr Charles H. Bauer, editor of the above paper and Notary Public, in a late issue mentions the following: Patrick Kenny, Esq., some time ago, suffered much from rheumatism and tried almost every means to rid himself of this painful evil, but in vain. He was advised to use St. Jacobs Oil, which he did so successfully, that all pain has left him and he is as healthy and strong as ever before. Mr. Kenny is an enthusiastic advocate of St. Jacobs Oil, and it has done him good.

The law now makes it a misdemeanor for any minor to knowingly and falsely represent himself to be of full age, for the purpose of obtaining intoxicating liquors. This law should be rigidly enforced and liquor dealers held to a strict accountability for selling intoxicants to persons under age. There is no excuse whatever, moral or legal, for a minor who is seen in public under the influence of liquor. His condition proves him a law-breaker, subject to pains and penalties.

A sarcastic exchange thus relieves its mind, on a subject of daily conversation at this time: "How is the wheat coming on?" is a question heard almost daily. Well, it's about this way: if there's too much rain it will rust, if there's not enough it will spot; if a cold snap and a hard frost comes it will wilt. But if the weather is all that can be desired the wheat crop will be a good one, provided it is not injured by the grass-hoppers, locusts and other bugs, or that no heavy rain, hail, or wind storms beat it down. And yet some men will predict good wheat crops a year before harvest.

A New York jury recently awarded a man six cents damages for the loss of his wife's affections, she having deserted him for another fellow. This is exactly six cents more than the alleged affections are worth, and the husband is just that much ahead, in cash.

An M. E. Convention of the Danville district met in the M. E. church in this town on Tuesday and continued in session until Thursday. There was a large attendance both of ministers and laymen. The matters discussed were such as relate to the better management of the affairs of the church. There were some eighty delegates present, and at the sessions many interested visitors were in attendance.

The Oil City Derrick has the following scholarly criticism, which has only to be read to be appreciated: "We have received an advance copy of a new publication entitled "The New Testament, Revised Edition." We have not yet had time to look it over carefully, but it is well printed and seems to be ably edited. It is independent in politics and we predict for it a prosperous career."

The New York Sun of Wednesday last says, "While the rain was pouring and spattering in the streets yesterday the barometers in the opticians' shops all persistently pointed to the fair weather mark. April weather at the opening of June is, apparently, a phenomenon that not only sets the prophets all at sea, but even deceives the barometers." The year 1881 has thus far been full of meteorological surprises, but none more odd than the above.

A concert will be given in the hall of the Normal School this evening, by the pupils of the Music Department, under direction of Prof. Niles. The new Weber upright piano will be used on the occasion. Among the selections is an operetta by sixteen performers, and this alone should serve to fill the hall, as it will be given in the most artistic manner. It is believed that this concert will excel any of its predecessors, as the pupils are fully prepared. Tickets may be procured at George A. Clark's book store.

The rainy weather for the last week is very hard on the wheat; we notice in a great many fields the grain is down and badly lodged. It will require good reapers to do the work this year. Mr. William Eyerly near Buckhorn, says he had an extraordinarily heavy piece of wheat last year which yielded forty-three bushels to the acre. He used a No. 6, combined machine made by D. M. Osborne & Co. which did the work most excellently and to the surprise of many farmers who stopped at Mr. Eyerly's to see a reaper work in such heavy grain.

The work of improving the channel of the Susquehanna below Wilkes-Barre, is still in progress and bids fair to be successful. The dykes built last fall withstood the heavy masses of ice thrown against them in the winter, and by them the channel is materially deepened. Men are now removing gravel from the bar and it is thought a sufficient depth of water will be secured, to float the steamboats during the entire summer. The travel by boat between Wilkes-Barre, Plymouth and Nanticoke is very large during hot weather, and will be greater than ever when it is known that the trips will not be interrupted.

Several prominent citizens of Wilkes-Barre have resolved to offer three competitive prizes valued at $800, $250 and $150, respectively, to be awarded the three best drilled companies of the National Guard of the State, that enter for competition. The competitive examination is to take place in Wilkes-Barre, annually, the first of the series to occur this Fall. The Union Leader says: "It is designed to make these contests perpetual, by compelling the successful commands to win the palm of victory three times, against all comers, before it passes into company ownership, and when such prize ceases to be a longer object for competition, its place is to be supplied by as valuable a substitute."

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

The venerable Alexander Colley of Benton township, reached the end of his long life last Monday afternoon. He was born on the 17th of August, 1786, and was, therefore, in the 95th year of his age. Some three weeks ago, Mr. Colley had a fall, the result, it was thought, of a paralytic stroke and never left his bed nor spoke afterwards.

Many years ago, Mr. Colley served a term as member of the legislature. He was well known as a surveyor, and also as a conveyancer, having drawn the greater number of wills, deeds and other legal papers, for residents of the upper part of the county for years past. After an active and useful life of almost a century, he has passed from earth to the rest that follows honorable labor. A large circle of relatives and friends will sincerely regret the death of the aged man. The funeral took place on Thursday morning, and was attended by scores of mourners.

On the 23d of October, 1828, in Danville, Pa., there was gathered a large assembly of citizens and masonic brethern, from far and near, for the purpose of lying the corner stone of Christ P. E. church, Lodge No. 106, of Williamsport, with their banner representing "strength," being the third in order of the procession. Divine service was performed at the court house, Rev. Robert Piggot, D. D., Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, officiating. When the services were completed, the brethren and citizens proceeded to the site of the church, when the corner stone was laid in ancient masonic form by William Donaldson, W. M., of Columbia Lodge, Danville. Of the officers and members of Lodge, No. 106, who were present upon that occasion, not one remains, all having gone to that bourne from whence no traveler returns. That venerable building, hallowed with the tenderest and deepest associations known to the human heart, has been razed to the ground to give place to a grand memorial church to be erected by the executors of Peter Baldy, deceased; and now, after the lapse of more than half a century, when nearly two generations of men have passed away, Lodge No. 106, with other lodges, expect to be present and assist in laying the corner stone of the new "Christ Church." The ceremony will be performed by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania on St. John the Baptist's day, June 24, 1881. Rev. Robert Piggot, D. D., now 85 years of age, who preached at the similar service fifty three years ago, will preach the sermon, and Past Master William Donaldson, who as W. M., laid the former corner stone, is expected to join the work. The occasion is expected to be one of great interest, and a full representation of the order is desired. —Williamsport Gazette & Bulletin.

WHAT JINKS THINKS.

Jinks says he doesn't like th — heavy showers. He went home one day last week in a thunder storm, and got wet through, taking the starch all out of a new white duck suit, and his wife blew him up for not wearing his gossamer overcoat, forgetful of the fact that she had loaned it to her brother a few days before to go off on a summer trip. Jinks had to change all his clothes, and about the time he had got fresh harness on, his wife called his attention to the fact that the spout from the verandah was stopped up, and the water would pour over the edges in a few moments and ruin her flower beds below. He took the kitchen poker and went to poke the leaves out of the spout. About the time he got the leaves loosened up, the water reached the top of the trough on the verandah, and four barrels full came over at once, lighting gracefully on Jinks' shoulders. At the same time, the leaves and water came out with a rush and attacked him in the front with a pressure of about two hundred pounds to the square inch. As soon as Jinks could catch his breath, and pick himself out of the mud, he went in the house and told his wife he had got things fixed so that there was no danger of injuring the flower beds, whereupon the ungrateful woman reminded him that he had ruined his Sunday broadcloth suit, and blew him up again for walking all over the parlor carpet with his muddy shoes. He might have waited until a pleasant day to clean that spout out, she said. Jinks changed his clothes again and put on his new embroidered slippers and sat down to read the evening paper. Just as he was becoming absorbed, his wife came in and told him that if he wanted any butter for supper, he could go out to the ice house and get it. Jinks went, and as he stepped into the spring house he simultaneously stepped into three feet of water that had ran in under the door. Then Jinks got up and said some awful things, and started for the house with a fixed determination of expressing his opinion to his wife about the proper place to keep the butter, but just as he reached the back door and before he could open his mouth, his wife threw out a pan of dish water, which took Jinks squarely in the face, and before he could get the grease out of his mouth, she lectured him on his carelessness in going out in the wet with his new slippers, and said a whole lot of other things about how clumsy a man is, and how little he cares for the trouble he makes his poor wife. Then Jinks didn't say a word, but he insists upon it that he doesn't like these heavy showers.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS.

EDITORS COLUMBIAN: I notice in your issue of May 27th, that it is a good time for Democrats to make up their minds as to what kind of men they will support; whether they will put in nomination men who will be a by word and a disgrace to the good old Democratic party, or select men whose records are square. The question arises, what constitutes a square record? I will give a negative answer—It is not one who starts out to secure his nomination and election by means of money and drink. If the party were to place men in nomination whose record for honesty and fair dealing were above reproach, there would be no need of traveling through the county trespassing upon our time, shaking hands with every one they meet, and making themselves disagreeable generally. Some two or three years ago, I was at work about half a mile from the house. I was sent for, and came in to find a candidate for treasurer, and two candidates for commissioner sitting in the shade, waiting for me. I felt—well, you know how one would feel. Now, what I want to say is this: Amend the rules so that a man who is a candidate shall stay at home and show the people that if he cannot be elected by fair, honorable means, he will follow some other vocation. I believe the people are tired of the kind of men they are compelled to support, and would rally around and elect good men without candidates doing so much boring. I for one, am tired of such proceedings and unless there is a radical change in the party machinery, will favor a convention of the people, independent of the partisan politicians: to put in nomination good, sound men. I am a firm believer in Democratic principles and mean to hold to them until I am convinced that the founders of those principles were in error.

There are a number of men in and out of Congress, who call themselves Democrats who are not "Simon pure." In fact, we have them in office everywhere; in our State legislature, in our county and township offices. Now, the question is, do we propose to continue to send men to do the public business that not one-half of us would trust to transact our individual affairs? Before closing this communication, I would like to ask the people of the county to give expression to their thoughts on this subject through your paper, believing as I do, that no harm can come from it and it may result in much good. A. M. WHITE.

Mr. D. W. Smith, of Limestoneville, Montour county, says he has used an "Osborne" Self-binder since 1879; has cut 160 acres; been at no expense for repairs; has cut oats that were as badly down and tangled as it was possible to be, and will wager the price of the machine that he can cut any grain that it is possible to cut with any machine, and bind it tighter and better than can be done by hands. T. W. Pursel, near Buck Horn, says the "Osborne" Self-binder bought last year, "fills the bill" and does all that is claimed for it.

P. E. Maus, near Danville, says he cut the worst tangled oats he ever saw, last year, with the "Osborne," and cannot speak too highly in its praise.

A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.

There is a dangerous counterfeit in circulation, purporting to be "Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer." The strongest evidence of the great value of "Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer" is the fact that parties knowing its efficacy try to imitate it. Each bottle of the genuine has a "fac simile" of the signature of "O. E. Becker"—the manufacturer—blown in the glass; and the "Restorer" is so clear and harmless as water, while it possesses all the component properties necessary to restore life, vigor, growth, and color to the hair. Purchasers only from responsible parties. Each bottle warranted. C. S. Clifford, New York City, Wholesale Agent. oct. 22, 80-tf are undoubtedly the cheapest and most durable fence made, is not effected by fire, wind or flood, does not cause snow drifts, takes fewer posts and stock cannot push it down. Our wire is four pointed, is made of two strands of number 12 best galvanized steel wire twisted together just enough to allow for contraction and expansion in Summer and Winter, barbs are fastened every seven inches. The use of barbed wire is no longer an experiment, as last year over one hundred thousand miles were put up. We believe our wire to be the best and cheapest now manufactured because it is made of the best steel wire and runs 15 feet to the pound having the greatest strength and visibility with the least weight of any made. Put up on spools of about 100 rods weighing about 100 pounds. Price per pound 11 cents by the spool, less quantities 11½ cents per pound.

BARBED WIRE

NEW STOCK.

We have been adding considerable to our House Furnishing Goods; our line of Cooking Stoves and Ranges comprises many new and useful features not found in other stocks. We have the White Mountain Ice Cream Freezer, triple motion; examination alone is sufficient to show their superiority over any other make. We are, without question, headquarters for Cutlery. Our variety of Scissors, Shears, Razors, Pocket and Table Cutlery is greater than the stock of all the stores in town, giving you the advantage of selection. Prices run according to quality. Our stock in general, has all been gone over, sorted up, and is larger than ever. We are paying special attention to Mechanics' Tools, and invite examination. Any odd tool not in stock furnished in three days. For the benefit of those to whom it may concern, we take Irondale, McKelvy's or Lockard's orders at cash value.

TINSMITHING.

It does not seem to be generally understood by some of our trade that we are prepared to do Tinsmithing in all its branches. This we have often noticed by the expressions of surprise of many who, when in the rear of our store, noticed men working in an adjoining building. We carry a full stock of Tin and Tinsmith's Supplies and are prepared at all times to do all kinds of work. As low prices seem to be the most popular we have using the same grade of tin as heretofore and other work at corresponding prices.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.
