A BURNING MINE.

On Friday afternoon last, a fire broke out in No 9 colliery, near Tamaqua, operated by Charles Parrish & Co. It is the largest of nine collicries owned by the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company and employs between 500 and 600 hands. Samuel Powell, the engineer, was repairing one of the steam pipes, when the lamp on his head ignited a prop made dry as pank by the heat from the pipes. Powell had turned away be-the pipes. Fowell had turned away or fore he discovered the fire he had unconsciously started, but soon after noticed it and set about heroically to extinguish it. It had already gained such headway that he was powerless and soon turn, a month ago, has been in poor fell exhausted, in which condition he tell exhausted, in which condition he was found and the alarm given. An ex-plosion of sulphur soon followed and completed the work. The air-shafts acted as flues and furnished a powerful draft to the fire. Superintendent W. D. Zehner was promptly on the scene, and organizing the excited men in gangs, proceeded to brattice up the tunnel and to stop the outlet of the air shaft, from which the flames were bursting to great heights. The steam from nineteen boilers was turned on the fire and this, it is believed, will smother the flames. No. 9 is not only the largest, but the ber of men were in the works, and their wives and relatives hurried to the mouth of the tunnel with the wildest cries of distress. The mine is provided with am-stances indicating murder. Bishop Smith a man or mule being injured. The John D. Lee, of the Mountain Meadow
