

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY SEPT. 3 1931.

PUBLIC SALES.

The administrators of William Whit, deceased, will expose real estate to public sale on the premises in Schuylkill township on Saturday, September 27, at 10 a. m.

I. K. Krichbaum, administrator of Peter April, deceased, offers valuable lands of said deceased in Clinton township, at private sale. See advertisement.

The executors of Joseph Paul, deceased, will sell real estate on September 22nd, 23rd and 24th. See advertisement.

You can shoot quail now—that is, the law says you can.

A substantial case payment has been laid in front of the Central H. tel.

Mr. and Mrs. Prose have returned to town on Monday evening, after a month's absence at the seaside.

Where are the buckwheat cakes coming from next winter? The question grows daily more interesting.

The fall term of the Normal School begins next Tuesday and a very large attendance of scholars is anticipated.

L. B. Powell, the known music dealer in Scranton, died of consumption at his home in that city, on Sunday evening last.

A very neat and ornamental iron fence has been erected around the Reformed Church, corner of Third and Iron streets.

The regular monthly meeting of the Winona Fire company will be held on Tuesday evening of next week instead of Monday.

If this hot spell continues much longer our agricultural friends can provide themselves with baked potatoes without the intervention of a stove.

By the way, Venmor, if you have such a thing as a second-hand rain storm suit in use, please loan for a month and oblige the people in this part of the world.

A festival will be held at Buckhorn on Friday and Saturday evenings, September 9th and 10th, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the concert band.

The long continued drought has produced a most unfavorable effect upon corn, buckwheat and potatoes. In many places these crops have all proved early failures.

The public schools of Bloomsburg will open next Monday. Fortunately, the small pox no longer exists and parents will have no fears for the safety of their children.

Mr. William Traub was so unfortunate as to have several fingers crushed in the cog gearing of a derrick at Harman and Hasen's foundry, a few days ago.

One of the finest and largest egg plants we have ever seen was grown in the garden of Rev. Dr. Mitchell this season. Its dimensions and weight have not been learned, but it was a beauty.

Two haggies collided on the road to Rupert last Sunday night, and the occupants were spilled out on the road. Nobody hurt and no great damage done to the vehicles.

FOR SALE—Fifty shares of water stock and eight shares of gas stock. Will be sold in single shares or all together, to suit purchaser. Inquire at this office.

The festivals of the Home and Friendship fire companies, on Friday and Saturday evenings last were very well attended, and each company netted a neat sum of money.

The regular monthly meeting of the (Upper) Temperance Union will be held in the Evangelical church on Tuesday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

A well executed counterfeit quarter dollar has just made its appearance. Merchants and others would do well to scrutinize all quarters as the bogus coins are so well done as to readily deceive.

Bloomsburg is at last free from small pox. Even Jones, the last of the sufferers, is no longer in need of medical attendance. We earnestly hope that there may be no more cases to record.

Two lots, with good horse, barn and out buildings on each, for sale, in Bloomsburg. Inquire of WILLIAM KRICKBAUM, July 29-31

The Friendship boys gave a ball in Brewer's Hall on Monday night last. Despite the intense heat, there were numbers of young people present, and dancing was kept up until a late hour.

How nearly total has been the failure of the peach crop in the Delaware Peninsulas, may be judged from the fact that the yield is estimated at 100,000 bushels, as against 4,000,000 on ordinary years.

Somebody has discovered that the linden tree exudes a frightfully poisonous gum, and somebody else makes the announcement that most of the wooden toothpicks are made of the linden. Oh, gum, gum, that's tooth-in.

A barrel of lager contains about thirty gallons. There are sixteen half pints to the gallon. Retailers, however, get about twenty glasses from the gallon. For a barrel of beer which costs $3 the retailer receives about $30.

The melon crop has been unusually large this year. In Philadelphia watermelons have been a drag in the market and have sold for less than $15 per hundred. Dealers have no excuse for high prices under such circumstances.

On Monday last, Sheriff Ernest went to Berwick with a bench warrant and arrested John Keller on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He was taken before Judge Elwell who released him on $200 bail for his appearance at the September term of court.

The base ball clubs of Hazleton and Nanticoke are to play a match game for $100 a side, in this town, at some date between the 15th and 23rd insts. This will undoubtedly be an exciting game and ought to attract a large crowd of spectators.

The officers and members of the Rescue Hose, Hook and Ladder Company desire to return thanks to the people of Bloomsburg for the liberal patronage received at their late festival and to the ladies who assisted them; also to the Bloomsburg Cornet band and Mrs. Lillie Edget.

A fine large assortment of floor and table oil cloths and window shades have been added to J. J. B. Wer's stock of carpets. These are of the best quality and latest and most approved patterns and are offered at reasonable rates. Mr. Brown's stock will be seen before purchases are made elsewhere.

We earnestly request that all persons in debt to us will promptly settle their accounts, whether by subscription or job work. The expense of changing to our new office will be heavy, and we need every dollar that is due us. Please don't wait until you are dunned, but come very soon.

Ladies highly praise Malt Bitters.
Physicians prescribe them freely.
The largest hotel and bar meals.
Our best people take Malt Bitters.
More cure for colic and liver troubles.

THE SEASON FOR OYSTERS BEGAN YESTERDAY.

The season for oysters began yesterday, September 1st, and all lovers of the bivalves will rejoice. There must be a change in the weather, however, before oysters can be thoroughly enjoyed.

It is simply marvelous how quickly consumption, biliousness, sick headache, fever and ague, and malaria, are cured by 'Kaiser's Liver Pills.'

A correspondent of the Wilkes-Barre Union Leader at Schick's bay, states that the Danville steamer, on their way home from the ocean, was 'choked in an outrageous manner at the Eagle Hotel, Schick's bay, straining her, cigars and money and scuttling the wife of the land lord.

The new M. E. church at Orangeville will be dedicated on Sunday, September 11th, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, by Rev. E. J. Gray, of Dickinson 8-ministry, Williamsport. Other ministers will be present on the occasion. The pastor, Rev. T. O. Cline, extends a cordial invitation to all friends to attend the ceremony.

The Rev. Eric O. propose continuing their late festival on the evenings of September 9th and 10th, for the purpose of disposing of the watch and sewing machines. They are offering to secure enough funds to pay the expenses of an accompanying band to Reading and should be encouraged.

It would be well for those who hold judgments entered upon our county dockets to re-examine them, for they may be liable on real estate unless revised within five years from their dates. This fact is generally overlooked, but an erroneous impression prevails with many persons that their judgments are kept alive by the payment of interest.

Burglars broke into four establishments in Bloomsburg and Danville last week, and secured $7 in each. Poor lot over there.—Wilkes-Barre Democrat.

We're not rich, but we can get nearer the truth every time than the Williamsport papers. No burglars have taken place in Bloomsburg, and nobody has said such as the case, except the Bureau.

Joseph Walter of Morrisstown, N. J., Jos. S. Elkinton and Jos. Elkinton, of Philadelphia and Edward Dean, of Chesterfield, Ohio, all members of the Orthodox Society of Friends, arrived in town on Monday last. A religious meeting was held in the evening at the Presbyterian church. The gentlemen named above are traveling through the country, visiting members of the Society and holding meetings.

On Sunday night last, a young woman, returning from the camp meeting at Rupert, was so unfortunate as to fall into the race near Paxton & Harman's grist mill. She was promptly rescued by her escort and the pair, happy but dazed, proceeded on their way. On very dark nights, lanterns are not bad things to carry, especially in a country where there are creeks, mill races and other water courses to avoid.

The Friends' Association of the State, will meet in convention at Reading on the afternoon of Tuesday, September 20th. Topics of interest to volunteer firemen will be discussed and a plan for the organization of a firemen's insurance company will be brought before the convention. The Secretary's headquarters will be at Manchester Hall, where delegates on arriving will report, sign the roll, and receive a badge.

The Democratic of Montour county have made the following nominations: Associate Judge, Thomas Butler; Commissioners, Frank G. Blew and Isaac Ammerman; Prothonotary, Joseph W. Phillips; District Attorney, L. K. Mawer; County Auditor, Wm. M. Robinson; and P. C. Murray. Dr. J. D. Masteller, was elected Chairman of Standing Committee by acclamation. Oscar Craig, representative delegate to the State Convention and Geo. W. Miles, Senatorial delegate.

The Third Brigade left in camp at Wilkes Barre, received pay as follows: Major General per diem during the campaign, $20.83; brigadier general, $15.28; colonel, $9.73; lieutenant colonel, $8.33; major, $6.94; captain, quartermaster and adjutant, $5; first lieutenant, $4.17; second lieutenant, $3.89; chaplain, $4.17; principal musician, $3; first sergeant and non-commissioned staff, $3; sergeant, $2; corporal, $1.75; enlisted men, $1.50. The commissioned officers furnished their own mess and cared for their own horses, while the others were all supplied by the State, the ration being superior to those of the regular army.

Adolph Kester, of Danville, was arrested and locked up on Saturday night by constables Laycock and Harris, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. This is the fellow who, when in this direction, successfully resisted arrest and assaulted the officers. He probably knows more than he did, and will be likely to behave himself on future visits. Kester was taken before Mr. Herring, President of the Town Council and fined $6.40. He did not have the cash to liquidate the indebtedness, and the officers were on the point of taking him back to the lock-up, when Mr. Herring agreed to accept his note for the amount. The back building has been erected, and the back building has been erected, and the back building has been erected.

The New York Herald has the following good words for homebrew, whether she be wife or servant, needs revision; if only genius can enable a person to be at the same time master and servant, none is so good as a woman. With a slighter physique than man, a physique that is occasionally subject to peculiar duties, to which that of man can offer no parallel, woman is expected to do more work in less time, and is expected to do it with a length of time. [It will be modestly called homebrew, is recognized as the noblest achievement that really is and is carefully cultivated. The thought of women by overwork will continue, for at present it requires that every woman shall be a pro of art, industry and endurance.

For some weeks past activity has been the order of the day at the Diocese (Reading) school. Carpenters, masons and brick-layers have been at work. The back building has been entirely demolished and a much larger structure has arisen in its place. A new dining room having been provided, he old oratory will be used for a school room. There is also a new dormitory and the much needed music-room and reading-room have been provided.

The library has been increased by a complete set of Sir Walter Scott and Washington Irving. The hall ground has been leveled and put in for a lawn. It is all up, things have been put in shape to make the next term both pleasant and profitable to the boys.

But what the young gentlemen will appreciate more than anything else is the gymnasium. This will be a separate building altogether. It is to be 30x35 feet and will be used both as a gymnasium and a drill room.

The military department of the school will be under the charge of Mr. C. B. Spahr, himself a cadet at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis.

Mr. Bick-up also brings with him the experience which he has acquired as commandant at De Vaux College, Suspension Bridge, N. Y. The cadets will be required to have the full military outfit.

The prospect for the fall term are good.

The best people will vote for the best man every time. And we judge by the number of the St. Jacob's Oil constituency, that it is the best remedy for the rheumatism known. Prof. Ties, of St. Louis, among others, says so.

IMPORTANT TO FIRMEN.

The law exempting firemen from taxation to the extent of $5 applies to members of any organized volunteer fire department of any town, city, borough or township of this State under control of any town committee, common council or municipal corporation, which are now or may hereafter be established. The law provides that the certificate of the chief engineer, or of the assistant engineer, or of the mayor, or of either of them, shall be a sufficient voucher and authority for the assessor or collector of taxes to deduct the sum from any tax assessed against any member of a volunteer fire department under the control of any town council or town committee.

RESIDENTIAL.

Rev. Dr. Mitchell and family returned from Asbury Park on Tuesday.

Judge Elwell went to Williamsport on Wednesday to hold argument court for Judge Conroy.

W. A. Marx, Esq. of Ashland was in town on Wednesday to attend an arbitration.

Rev. H. M. Crydwenick of Wilkes-Barre, was in town on Tuesday, making arrangements for the big excursion to New York and the sea shore, next Tuesday.

Hon. C. R. Buckleley is in Philadelphia, attending the meeting of the new revenue commission.

Prof. G. E. Wilbur and wife have returned from their summer vacation.

F. S. Kimpfort is in Harrisburg on insurance business.

DEAD BODY FOUND.

On Tuesday evening last, Chauncey B. Lamereaux, a young man who had been an inmate of the Danville Insane Asylum, was being conveyed to his home in Jackson township in charge of his sister and another young woman, said to be his affianced, to whom he became engaged before his mental malady came on in May last. When the train arrived at West Nanticoke, Lamereaux made some excuse for leaving his guardians, else evaded their care, and was not missed until the train had started. The conductor was induced to back his train to the station, but the young man could not be found, and the young women were compelled to go on without him. A reward of $75 was offered to any one giving information by which he could be traced, but without result. Nothing more was heard of him until Saturday morning, when his bloated and festering corpse was found floating in the river near the Nanticoke bridge. The presumption is, that while wandering about in his diseased condition, he fell in, or threw himself into the water with suicidal intent and was drowned. He was about 23 years of age, and his parents are respectable farmers of Jackson. Coroner Spang was notified on Saturday morning, and sent down and held an inquest, but the examination failed to elicit any facts other than as above stated.—Scranton Republican.

A DETERMINED SUICIDE.

On Tuesday afternoon a man was found in the canal at Epy, and rescued by some young men whose attention was attracted by the splashing of the water. He was subsequently brought to Bloomsburg in a buggy driven by a son of Dr. Kae. The man arrived at the Exchange Hotel and refused to register his name. He sat moodily in a chair in the office and finally asked for supper. After eating, he gave two satchels to the clerk and walked away, saying that he would return. Nothing more was seen of him again by any one in the hotel. At half past two o'clock Wednesday morning, J. H. Meier, Esq., was awakened from sleep by a railroad employe who stated that a man had been run over and killed by the up freight train. Mr. Meier hastily summoned some of the neighbors and proceeded to the place where the body lay, about half way to Rupert. The following served as jurors: C. C. Peacock, Joseph Garrison, Zachariah Thomas, William Robbins, Jacob Melick and Frank Vanderhoff. John Baird, engineer, testified that when the man was first seen, he was about thirty feet from the engine and stepped from a slight embankment on to the track, looked up the road, then at the engine and then slipped down with his head across a rail. The act was done deliberately, and as if he intended to kill himself. The train was running at about twelve miles an hour. When the train went down to Danville at about eleven o'clock the man crossed the track some two hundred yards below the point where he was subsequently killed. This looks as if he had determined to commit suicide, but lacked the courage at that time. Frank Dennis, the fireman, testified that he did not see the man. The engineer told him that he had struck and killed him. He got off and walked back and found the body. It was lying with the head on the track and the feet under the wheels. In the pockets were found $14.14 in money, and several minor articles, none of which gave any clue to his identity. The jury examined the body, which was that of a man about 40 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height, light hair, blue eyes and sandy moustache. The hands were small and soft like a woman's. On the left arm was the wrist, where the initials S. G. G. and L. M. were underneath. The skull was crushed over the right eye and also at the back; both feet were cut off and horribly mangled. It was evident that the head had been struck by a bolt on the pilot, as upon it were found portions of the scalp and hair. This bolt was just above the rail, a fact that proves the engineer's statement that the man threw himself on the track. Death must have been almost instantaneous.

Mr. Clarence Fitzpatrick, clerk at the Exchange Hotel, went to the Poor House, to which place the body had been removed, and identified it as that of the man who had been at the hotel in the evening. From cards and papers found in the satchels, it was ascertained that the man was John G. Collins, 63 Collins, and that he was a traveling agent for Wilkes-Barre & Co., dealers in packing, oils, etc., 309 Race street, Philadelphia. Nothing could be learned of his residence or family. The body was interred in such a manner that it could be readily removed if necessary, and a telegram was sent to Wickersham & Co., announcing the death of Collins and asking for instructions.

The jury adjourned after viewing the body, until eight o'clock in the evening, when they rendered a verdict of death by suicide in accordance with the evidence submitted.

There is but little doubt that Collins had determined to die, and had endeavored to drown himself in the canal at Epy. What were the causes that impelled him to such a desperate act, can only be conjectured.

A telegram was received from Wickersham & Co. on Wednesday afternoon, requesting that the body be sent to Mrs. Collins, the wife of the dead man, in Philadelphia, and promising to pay all expenses. Mr. Garrett went to the Poor House, disinterred the remains and they were sent to Wilkes-Barre on the evening train, where the night train would take them to Philadelphia.

It has since transpired that Collins acted a young man named Mosler, at Kramer's store, and asked him if he had a revolver. Mosler applied in the negative, whereupon Collins asked him to purchase one and offered him money for the purpose, saying that he wished to do so. Subsequently Collins met J. M. Christian and grasped him by the arms. When asked what he meant by this action, Collins made no reply. Mr. Christian was convinced that the man was insane and said so at the time, but did not try to detain him as he had no assistance. It is now a doubt that the unfortunate man was demented.

Lindsay's Blood Searcher—the great medicine for fever and ague, malaria, and all blood poisons. Don't fail to use it.

A GRAND EXCURSION.

Our readers will not again this season have an opportunity to visit New York, Coney Island, Long Branch and Ocean Grove, with as much comfort and for so small a outlay of money, as on the Grand Union Excursion which leaves Kingston at 8.45 next Tuesday morning. Tickets to Kingston can be procured at half rates and from that point to New York and return, the fare is only $3.25. For $4.35 all the points mentioned can be visited. Hotel accommodations will be furnished at very low rates. Every arrangement has been made to secure the pleasure of excursionists, and all at low figures. It is believed that this is the cheapest excursion ever taken to the seacoast, and those of our people who are yearning for a breath of salt air and a view of the tumbling sea, should not let this chance escape them.

The people of this place will either return on a morning train or a special will run down from Berwick, so that all on this line can reach here the same night. A large company are going from Bloomsburg, and as this is the opening of a lifetime let all be ready for September 6th. See advertisement in another column.

PHYSICIANS REGISTERED.

The following additional names of physicians have been entered upon the register of the Frothingbury's office. There are but one or two physicians in the county who have not completed with the law.

Alfred P. Stoddard, born in Philadelphia; graduated as M. D. from Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, March 10th, 1880; resides in Orangeville.

Jacob Schuyler, born in Danville; graduated as M. D. from Pennsylvania Medical College, Philadelphia, March 7th, 1843; resides in Bloomsburg.

J. Jordan Brown, born in Middleville; graduated as M. D. from Jefferson Medical College, March 12th, 1870; resides in Middleville.

Charles A. Haines, born in Lehighville, Carbon county; graduated as M. D. from College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore, March 1st, 1880; resides in Freder Valley.

Charles Stewart Haines, born in Catawissa; graduated as M. D. from Green Mountain University of Vermont, June 9th, 1866; resides in Bloomsburg.

Isaac L. Edwards, born in Lime Ridge; graduated as M. D. from Jefferson Medical College, March 11th, 1870; resides in Benton.

Isaac E. Patterson, born in Orange township; graduated as M. D. from Jefferson Medical College, March 12th, 1860; resides in Benton.

ROHSBURG REMOVS.

Some of the people here are preparing to attend the Christian Conference at Schick's bay, which begins on Wednesday and will continue over Friday.

Jas. L. Preston is lying dangerously ill on the Benton camp ground. None of the family have yet returned.

A disgraceful fight occurred between Hen. Keller and wife and Horace Evedal a few days ago.

Lizzie Hartman aged about six years, daughter of Augustus Hartman, of Orange, while playing on the pump platform last Wednesday, fell in the well. The smaller child gave the alarm and the mother hastened out but found she could render no assistance. She ran to call a neighbor, when she descended and found Lizzie holding to the pump jack with both hands and feet where she had caught. She was lifted from the water, a rope was adjusted around her waist and she was raised from the well which she reported "good and cool."

Jacob Evans and Maggie Patton are very much troubled by swollen feet since having the dysentery, which they contracted at Adam Ely's and one of Wilbur Hess' children are very low with the above disease at the present time.

Nothing can be more annoying than loud laughing and hallooing on the streets on Sunday evening, and a few little boys in the lower part of town seem to try to make the evening as hideous as they can, and their parents if they have any should look into this.

The millers are having an easy time.

The prevalence of so much sickness here is attributed by some to dead water in the race.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The amusement season in Bloomsburg will be opened on Monday evening next, by Mene-Rentz's Minstrels and Vienna Orchestra. This troupe gave an entertainment here last season, which was in all respects satisfactory, and a more enjoyable evening is promised this time. The company has been strengthened and improved and the performance now given is far better than any heretofore. It is to be hoped that there will be a large audience to inaugurate the season and to encourage the management to secure the attendance of first-class companies at later dates. The minstrels are well worth seeing and there is nothing in their program that can offend the most fastidious.

A change is to be made in the seating arrangements of the Opera House. The chairs which have heretofore been in use in front of the auditorium will be replaced by cushioned in a seat such as are in the body of the house. This will be a decided improvement, as the chairs were exceedingly uncomfortable. Greater space will be preserved between the rows, thus affording additional comfort.

Our readers will certainly find the entertainment amusing, and will not regret their attendance. The New York Clipper of August 20th, says: "A recent performance at Long Branch, N. J. 'Long before eight o'clock the doors were closed, and hundreds of people turned away. At the close of the entertainment, the Young Ladies' Society, under whose auspices the company appeared, made arrangements to have the orchestra return, when prices will be raised to one dollar to all parts of the hall. The decision was unanimous that Mene-Rentz's Minstrels gave in all respects, by far the finest entertainment ever seen at our most aristocratic summer resort."

THE DANVILLE HOSPITAL.

The Danville Intelligencer says of the progress made in rebuilding the Hospital for the Insane in that town:

Work on the two longitudinal and transverse sections of the southern wing of the hospital is progressing rapidly. The beams or joists have been inserted through the corridors of the lower story from which brick arches will be sprung, which will effectively protect the various basins ventilating, water pipes and other apparatus in the basement beneath in case of fire. The second and third stories will be of brick and will be supported by the joists with brick arches which will make when finished, two story fire proof floors, the first and second stories being of brick and the third of concrete. The roof will be of iron and will be supported by the joists and will be replaced in the sections where it will be but a week or two before the carpenters will be at work putting on the roof, which is now dry framed on the ground.

* * * * * The only portions likely to be placed under roof this season are the sections already mentioned, leaving three of the longitudinal and two transverse sections between main building to be placed under cover. A portion of the walls of these sections are already completed, leaving three of the longitudinal and two transverse sections between main building to be placed under cover. As they are entirely all to be torn down, they are being entirely left to be used again. Two-thirds have already been torn down and prevent them from being used.

MONTHLY BOARDING.

Mr. Montias Yeager lost a good horse one day last week.

Remember the Free Will picnic next Saturday, at the Welch chapel, September 10th.

Rev. L. R. Kramer and family are visiting relatives in and about Schickly Haven.

J. W. Snyder was visiting relatives at Milton last week, and reports a pleasant trip.

Mr. William Adams' new house near the Free Will U. E. church is fast approaching completion.

The Lutheran and Reformed Sunday school picnic at this place realized $80.

A young son of Henry M. Adams had his arm broken in two places on Sunday last.

The principal crops injured by the severe dry weather are the corn, potatoes and buckwheat, the latter of which will doubtless be a total failure.

Our enterprising citizen, Mr. Montias Yeager, has made some attractive improvements in his dwelling by way of weatherboarding, new roof and cornice.

A cat belonging to the family of Mayberry Snyder of this place, recently brought home to her two young kittens, a snake of a greenish color which measured twenty inches in length and about three-fourths of an inch in diameter.

The Kernville band picnic last Saturday was a grand success. The Mainville band discoursed some of its sweetest strains. Among its members we found E. representative D. S. Brown, J. D. Bodine, Esq., and Leander Yohe, the latter a former resident of this village. The gross proceeds of the affair will amount to $350.

Marriages.

SHARPLESS—MARR.—At Mainville, Thursday, July 28th, 1881, by J. D. Bodine, Esq., Dr. B. Frank Sharpless, of Numidia, to Miss Savilla Agnes Mann, of Beaver township, all of Columbia county.
