

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1931.

I. K. Krickbaum, administrator of Peter Appelman, deceased, offers valuable lands of said deceased in Benton township, at private sale. See advertisement.

The executors of Thomas Gibbons offer real estate at private sale. See advertisement.

Garrick Mallory, Administrator of G. H. Wells, will expose real estate to public sale on the premises in Berwick on November 10.

Our removal to the new office, and the purchase of new type and machinery will cost us about $1500. All persons indebted to us are earnestly requested to settle without delay, so that we can meet our bills when due. We are sending statements out as rapidly as we can be prepared, and we hope no one will take offense at being asked to "square accounts."

100 store boxes for sale by Alexander & Woodhouse.

Black and white ostrich plumes will be used in trimming Fall hats.

Look out for horse thieves. They are becoming unpleasantly numerous throughout the State.

A cherry tree in full bloom adorns the premises of W. B. Freas, in Berwick. Such a curiosity is worth a visit.

The Columbia County Merchants Association will meet at their hall this Friday, evening at eight o'clock.

The woods on the Catawissa mountains were on fire last week, but a timely fall of rain extinguished the flames.

The Friendship Fire company will give a ball in Brown's Hall on the evenings of Thursday and Friday during the Fair.

A crack in one of the boilers Lockard's car works has necessitated a partial suspension of work until repairs are made.

Adolphus Kester who was sent to jail in default of bail for disorderly conduct, has secured bondsmen and is now at liberty.

It is reported that the crop of wild pigeons is very large this season in Pennsylvania. Have you seen any in this vicinity?

Tumors, erysipelas, mercurial diseases, scrofula, and general debility cured by "Dr. Lindley's Blood Sederbitt."

The Bloomberg Corn Band will give a concert and dance at St. Peter's Hall, this Friday, evening, and a pleasant time is promised.

In the yard of J. F. Caldwell's bakery, Main and Centre streets, there is an apple tree in blossom. There's no end to the wonders this year.

Rev. B. B. Henshey, of Northumberland, will preach in the Baptist church of this town, next Sunday morning and evening, at the usual hours.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sunday School Association will be held at Johnstown October 18th and 19th.

Annie Muller committed suicide in Detroit because her sweetheart gave her trousers to another girl to mend. Veritable breeches of the peace were they.

Two lots, with good house, barn and out buildings on each, for sale, in Bloomsburg. Inquire of W. WILLIAM KRAMER.

Malaria has invaded the Milton Argus establishment and prostrated the editor and two compositors. The paper appeared last week by dint of much exertion.

FOR SALE—A desirable building lot in Bloomsburg, corner of Main and West streets. Price reasonable, terms to suit purchaser. Inquire of Geo. E. Etwell.

Arrangements are being made to supply Mr. Carmel and Centralia with water, by the Brush Valley water works, for which a charter has been applied and $20,000 subscribed.

Monday last was the most solemn of fasts in the Jewish calendar. It is known as Yom Kippur, the great day of Atonement, and it is strictly observed by the orthodox Jews.

The "Cheap Store" will return to Bloomsburg about the 10th or 12th inst. and our people are notified to expect great bargains, as the balance of the stock must be closed out.

Cards are out for the wedding of Mr. Levi Waller and Miss Bucklewe, daughter of H. C. Bucklewe, at St. Paul's church on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 29th, at half past one.

William Kramer has sold his store business to G. M. & J. K. Lockard who will hereafter conduct it themselves. We understand that Mr. Kramer will act for the Lockards as stockholder.

The statement made in many of the newspapers of the State that firemen are exempt from taxation to the amount of $5, proves to be untrue. Careful search by lawyers fails to bring to light any such law.

Navigation on the West Branch canal, which has been suspended for several weeks on account of low water, was resumed on Sunday. A large number of boats loaded with lumber are now going through.

The Sunbury Gazette is a very independent or non-committal—Republican journal and holds the names of both Wolfe and Bailly for State Treasurer. "You pay your money and you take your choice."

Burglars have again appeared in Sunbury and three houses were recently entered and ransacked. Bloomsburg has not been molested by these marauders, but it would be well for its citizens to bolt and bar doors and windows after dark.

The pump in front of the Central Hotel was removed last Saturday, after 70 years of usefulness. It is rather to be thought that this water-giving benefactor has been an illegal obstruction in the public highway for seventy years, and, as such, liable to removal at any time.

A Missouri farmer claims that every quail on a man's farm is worth, at the least calculation, a dollar for the good done in destroying chicken bugs. If this is correct, it would certainly be to the interest of our farmers to keep at least one cooey of quail on the farm.

"Siler's Liver Pills," have been the standard remedy for malaria, liver complaint, constipation, etc., for fifty years.

Venor's predictions for the past three months have not so conspicuously inexact that they have any credit. He says that with a little study and careful observation anybody can be a weather prophet. The simplicity of his plan irresistibly leads us to wonder why Venor doesn't study and observe.

Although the people of this county have suffered from the effects of the long-continued drought, they ought to be thankful that the terrible torridness which have devastated the West have not visited them. The loss of life and property by these hurricanes has been very great in many of the Western States.

A disease resembling hog cholera prevails in the vicinity of Limestoneville. Several farmers have lost from five to twenty hogs each. All remedies tried thus far have proved unavailing. The animals afflicted do not live longer than a week and some of them die after the sickness of a day or two.

Counterfeit five dollar notes on the Leicester National Bank, of Leicester, Mass., and the First National Bank of St. Johnsbury, Vt. are in circulation. Take a look at all five dollar notes before putting them in your pocket book. You might receive one of these worthless things.

A Neapolitan gardener, after years of experiment, has produced a camelia with a delicate perfume, and thinks it probable that these flowers may in the near future be so cultivated as to rival the rose in fragrance. It is to be hoped that his belief may prove true. With perfume, the camelia would be the most perfect of flowers.

Beer drinkers in Bloomsburg will be sorry to hear that Philip Robinson's brewery in Scranton was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last. The workmen who slept on the premises made a narrow escape by leaping through windows. The loss is said to be $25,000. The beer made by Robinson was of good quality and met with ready sale here.

The Friendship Fire company of Danville won the second prize in the movement in Reading for making the run of 300 yards to hydrant, attaching and laying one line of hose 300 feet, breaking coupling, attaching play pipe and showing water. The prize was a Spwan and Dennison hose jumper, valued at $150. Our neighbor "fire ladies" are to be congratulated on their success.

Let rats prey on a left in a cellar in shallow boxes ranged one above another, and open in the front part, so that each box can be examined from time to time, and the ripe ones removed. A few fine pairs for home use can be kept in a close and covered with a blanket, by which their ripening will be hastened.

Many of our readers will doubtless remember the small tent show of Main & Co., which was in Bloomsburg some weeks ago, one of the principal performers being Signor La Andre, the man with the iron jaw. This athlete met his death at the State fair in Indianapolis last week. He was holding a barrel of water and two men with his teeth, and letting go his hold was fatally crushed.

A determined warfare has been begun in New York against mutilated silver coins, and at many places they will not be taken in payment. Doigning recalls punch holes in the coins and seal a certain amount of silver. This lessens the value of the piece and the effort is now making to stop the practice by preventing the circulation of the pieces. Don't take them, or you may be left with several on your hands and no demand for them.

The Friendship and Resene fire companies had a friendly contest on Wednesday last, which was quite interesting. They ran a distance of 200 yards, uncovered 100 feet of hose, detached, coupled and threw water. The Friendship proved the victor, having accomplished the work in one minute and twenty seconds. The Resene's time was one minute and thirty seconds. As will be seen, both companies acquitted themselves well.

The North Branch Railroad company made application to the Court of Common Pleas for the approval of a bond in the sum of $10,000 for the lands of the Susquehanna Coal Company or Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Nanticoke. It was argued on behalf of the North Branch Railroad Company by Attorney General Palmer and ex-Senator Bucklewe, and on the other side by E. P. Darling, Esq. Upon technical grounds the application was withdrawn for the present, but it will be renewed upon ten days' notice to the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Mr. Robert G. Union-Lander, Sept. 30th.

Owners of horses will do well to keep close watch over their animals and take prompt measures in case of disease. A new and mysterious horse disease, to which the name of "pig eye" has been given, has made its appearance in St. Louis, Chicago and New York. In the former city 6000 horses are already laid up. It is claimed by some veterinary surgeons that the disease is identical with the epizootic with which horses have become familiar. How far it may spread cannot be foreseen, and it may become epidemic throughout the country. In Harrisburg recently several fine horses have died from blood poisoning, and spasmodic colic is prevalent. Watch your horses and if disease attacks them, use every means to keep it from spreading.

MAIL FAILURES. The Bloomsburg papers are drawing attention to the repeated failures of the morning mail on the L. & B. R. R. and dealing some sharp arrows at the company and demanding of the department to institute a reform. We join with them in this complaint. There is no reason why a railroad company should not be held to its contract as closely as a private individual. The trouble is, railroad companies know that if the mail carrying is taken from them there is no other mode to serve it, hence their indifference as to complaints in this score. The Post Office department should find some way to bring these delinquents to their duty or else cut down their appropriations.—Danville Eagle-Ligoner.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE. The ever popular play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" drew a large audience to the Opera House on Monday evening last. It was quite well presented and gave general satisfaction, if we may judge by the alternating laughter and tears that attended the humorous and pathetic parts of the piece. Fred Mower made a dignified Tom; Tom G. S. Simons an adorable St. Clair; Maud Hillman a very exuberant and vivacious Topsy. The other parts were fairly rendered. Little Blanche Hoffman as Ann spoke her lines with a clearness of enunciation and with a self-possession remarkable in a young child. The big dogs were quite a feature in the play. The visitor of his drama is marvellous. After being on the boards for thirty years it yet has sufficient attractive power to fill a house when other plays of equal or greater merit fail by way of response.

NEARLY A MIRACULOUS. R. A. Smith, of Northampton, N. Y. writes: "I have suffered for several months with a dull pain through left lung and shoulder. I lost my spirits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. My mother proposed some Burdock Blood Bitters; I took them as directed, and have felt no pain since first week after using them, and am now quite well." Price $1.00, trial size 50 cents.

For cigars, tobacco, pipes, etc., go to Alexander & Woodhouse, whose stock is the largest and best in Bloomsburg. County merchants can make rare bargains by purchasing of this firm, who are fair dealers and liberal to their customers.

The dwelling house of John Getkin, near Catawissa, was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning last, together with most of its contents. The inmates were slightly burned in making their escape, so rapid was the progress of the flames. The loss fallowably upon Mr. Getkin who is a poor man, and a subscription to aid him has been started in Catawissa.

Messrs. Alexander & Woodhouse will hereafter have a retail candy department in their store and their grand opening will take place on Saturday. There has been such a demand for this addition to their business, that it is deemed best to yield to the wishes of their customers. A choice assortment of candies, plums and fancy, will be kept on hand at all times.

PERSONAL. Mr. H. Bruce Clark has gone to the city to purchase new goods.

Mrs. Dr. Conner, of Wilkes-Barre, is visiting her parents on Market street.

Jacob Snyder, formerly of Ely, has taken up his residence in Bloomsburg.

Brower Bragler of Missouri has returned to Bloomsburg to attend the Normal School. His younger brother Edward accompanied him for the same purpose.

When you come to the Fair next week be sure and call on J. J. Brower and inspect his splendid stock of carpets, rugs, mats, oil cloths, hassocks, etc. He has carpets of all grades and at all prices, and is sure that he can suit all demands. His stock has recently been renewed and now includes the latest and most fashionable goods to his line. We advise our readers to stop at Mr. Brower's store and satisfy themselves that our statement is true.

BUCKINGHAM NEWS. S. S. Shoemaker who has been confined to his room for two months is not improving.

Mr. A. B. Vanleue is in Philadelphia laying in a stock of goods.

Mr. Sylvester Pursell lost a valuable cow on Tuesday.

Quite a large party surprised the Rev. G. V. Savidge on Friday evening.

Mr. Frank P. Harris has gone to Philadelphia to attend the Coll. of Pharmacy.

Mr. Harry Stodler, of Wilkes-Barre was the guest of Dr. C. Linker on Saturday.

On the evening of the recent festival, the spring house of H. D. McBride was robbed of fourteen pounds of butter, and W. G. Fichard had the cushions stolen out of his buggy.

Our band have just received some more new instruments. The boys are making rapid progress under their proficient teacher, Prof. Thomas Metherell.

The recent festival held by the members of the Lutheran church was a decided success. The receipts were over $200 and net profit over $150. A very fine cake baked by Mrs. Wesley Pursell was presented to the band; the invited guests were in their seats, and soon afterward the bridal party arrived. At the door they were met by the ushers, who led the procession up the center aisle, the bride's maid following, and the bride entering first on the arm of her father. As the procession moved up the aisle, the organist performed the Bridal March from "Lohengrin" and the clergymen, Rev. J. Hewitt, of Bellefonte, and Rev. L. Zahner, the Rector, attended the changed from the vestry room, accompanied by the groom, and his "best man," Mr. C. F. Montgomery, of Bellefonte. The bridal party stopped at the foot of the changed steps, the groom receiving the bride from her father, and the two proceeded to the chancel rail where the marriage ceremony was performed. At the close the organ played forth in joyous tones the familiar old "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn and the party left the church in reverse order of entering. The ushers were Mr. Richard Beaton, of Blanchard, Centre county; Mr. J. L. Spangler and Mr. T. J. Keogh, of Bellefonte; and Mr. J. W. Williams, of Baltimore.

THE COUNTY FAIR. A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Agricultural Society was held at the Exchange Hotel on Saturday last, to make final arrangements for the Fair next week. It was decided to lay a pipe to connect with the Water Company's main, in order that there may be an ample supply of water for live stock. There are three wells on the ground from which water can be drawn for drinking purposes, etc. A bell will be placed on the Committee's building, for the purpose of summoning the judges and members of the Committee, as occasion demands.

M. C. Woodward has been appointed Chief of Police on the grounds and C. K. Hughes, Chief Marshal. There will be a large police force of good material and the best of order will be maintained.

No driving will be allowed on the track until the opening of the Fair, and new locks have been placed on the gates to prevent access to the grounds.

Excursion rates have been secured over the various railroads. Tickets on the Reading road will be good from the 12th to the 17th inst., and those on the L. & B. and Sunbury; Hazleton & Wilkes-Barre roads, during the days of the Fair's continuance.

Dinner will be served on the grounds by the Reform Church and the price will remain the same as last year, despite the increased cost of edibles. Excellent meals will be furnished—so fact which lovers of good eating will do well to bear in mind.

Mr. F. B. Hartman, the Secretary of the Society, will be at the office of T. Jeff. Vandell, Esq., on Monday and Tuesday next, for the purpose of making entries.

The Committee are doing as in their power to make the Fair a success, and there seems to be no reason why it should not be. The recent change in the weather will render a visit to the grounds much more comfortable and, unless a storm sets in, there will undoubtedly be a large attendance, both from this and adjoining counties.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE FAIR AND PITTSBURGH EXPOSITION, SEPTEMBER, 1931. The Pittsburg Exposition and Pennsylvania State Fair now in progress, have awarded to the Davis Sewing Machine, the silver medal for best double tread sewing machine, first prize for best plain work, first prize for best fancy work, and first prize for best silk embroidery. Other machines represented there were the Wheeler & Wilson, Singer, Domestic, New Home, Wilson, and others.

Be sure and see the Davis Sewing Machine work at the Fair, October 12th, 1931.

General Agent, Main Street, Bloomsburg, Oct. 2-24

INGLETS—BROWER. One of the most brilliant weddings that Bloomsburg has ever witnessed occurred on Wednesday morning last, at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The parties to the contract were Miss Mary Brower, youngest daughter of J. J. Brower, Esq., of this town, and Mr. J. Howard Lingel, of Bellefonte. The church was beautifully trimmed with flowers and evergreens, a large floral bell hanging from the corona in the chancel. At the appointed hour, nine o'clock, the invited guests were in their seats, and soon afterward the bridal party arrived. At the door they were met by the ushers, who led the procession up the center aisle, the bride's maid following, and the bride entering first on the arm of her father. As the procession moved up the aisle, the organist performed the Bridal March from "Lohengrin" and the clergymen, Rev. J. Hewitt, of Bellefonte, and Rev. L. Zahner, the Rector, attended the changed from the vestry room, accompanied by the groom, and his "best man," Mr. C. F. Montgomery, of Bellefonte. The bridal party stopped at the foot of the changed steps, the groom receiving the bride from her father, and the two proceeded to the chancel rail where the marriage ceremony was performed. At the close the organ played forth in joyous tones the familiar old "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn and the party left the church in reverse order of entering. The ushers were Mr. Richard Beaton, of Blanchard, Centre county; Mr. J. L. Spangler and Mr. T. J. Keogh, of Bellefonte; and Mr. J. W. Williams, of Baltimore.

The gentlemen all wore full dress suits. The bridesmaids were Miss Ada Brower, sister of the bride, and Miss Lottie Powell, of New York, and were dressed in white with veils, and water lilies. The bride was beautifully attired in white broadcloth silk, with long train, tulle veil and orange blossoms. The diamond ear rings worn by her were the gift of the groom.

A reception was held at the residence of Mr. Brower from half past nine to half past eleven, and was attended by more than one hundred persons. Among those present from other places were Miss Flora Fox, Miss Kate Best, Miss Bessie Montgomery, Miss Emma Lingel, Mrs. J. Hewitt, and Mr. M. J. Lonn, of Bellefonte; Mrs. A. A. Marple, of Bridgeport, Pa.; Mrs. Baldy, Miss Martha Baldy, and Miss Mertie Baldy, of Danville; Mr. Morray, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Monroe of Reading, Pa.; and Mr. J. W. Williams, of Baltimore.

There were many valuable and handsome gifts, a few of which are named here: Large family Bible, diamond ring, mantle clock, two scoops, fruit dish, berry dish, two cake baskets, toilet set, a number of perfume bottles, two card receivers, two pickle castles, ice pitcher, jewel box, pie knife, brass candlesticks, two lamp, napkin ring, butter knives, two dozen silver teaspoons, four knives, nut picks, coffee spoons, salt spoons, painted china, lavender, soap, salt, pocket knives, and a number of beautiful fancy articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lingel's home didn't show a few of the gifts, as they were in the room train. They went to Philadelphia, and from there will visit New York, Baltimore and Richmond, taking a trip of about two weeks. May they live long and prosper.

"CALL THE LIPS THAT FLESH IS BORN TO." Arising from a impurity of the blood, torpid liver, irregular bowels, disordered kidneys, etc., can be safely and speedily cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1.00, trial size 50 cents.

THE BERWICK EXPERIMENT. EDITORS COLUMBIAN: Allow me to break my long silence with a few words concerning the result of the experiment of unleavened bread. It is well known that the press of neighboring towns, and many of the citizens of this town, consider the scheme a failure. As the press gets its knowledge from the citizens of Berwick, the latter are responsible for the verdict. Those of us who have reported the experiment unsuccessful, as well as those who believe it successful, generally have moved to do so, not by close inquiry or observation, but by our wish, desire or hope. These conflicting opinions have induced me to try to lay aside prejudice, and then to inquire as to the result of my inquiry. I find that the police as well as much drunk-ness now as before the time of prohibition, but that the carcasses are confined mainly to the lower end of the town, hence the citizens of that region generally condemn the temperance plan, while those living in the hotel quarter rather uphold it. One business man remarked to me, that certain of his customers once tardy with orders, now are prompt with cash payment; another said that certain of his patrons are not so much in arrears as formerly; both were positive this improvement is owing to the non-license plan. Another observer says the young men drink less and that there is less social drinking. These statements, in a measure, effect what the police see, and probably form a better criterion for judging the matter than the general comments floating around. The conclusion to which your reporter, an advocate of neither licensed hotels nor prohibition, but a layman as it were, has come is that those who live liquor before the new era lose it still and drink it; that those who drink socially, only, do so no longer; that there are fewer new recruits to the army of drinkers and this result in itself stamps the non-license plan with "not failure but success." For success in this matter means not curing the drunkard but turning the young and giddy from the drunkard's path. Any scheme that accomplishes as this is a success, and if I were an ardent reformer in this particular branch I would not waste a moment upon the army of drunkards, but direct all my efforts against the reinforcements it is apt to receive. Let this army go to the "ditch" unbridled, but let it go alone.

REPORTER. Berwick, Pa., Oct. 5, 1881.
