

THE COLUMBIAN

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY NOVEMBER 14, 1889.

The paper was out on Monday morning.

If Madam Bonifay is to be believed, the wedding season is not yet concluded.

30,000 envelopes just received at the Columbia office.

Shickelmyer has a gambling hell in full operation and the Rev. vigorously protests against the outrage.

Beware of bogus tickets. See that the name of every regular nominee is on your ballot before you vote.

"What every one says must be true," said Dr. Sellers' Cough Syrup has no equal for coughs and colds. Try it. Price 25c.

Stephen Collins is drawn as a juror for December court, the first colored man to serve in that capacity in this county.

The county officers are sure to be well filled in the next term. All the Democratic nominees are certain to be elected, and they are all good men.

For Sale.—A Baltimore heater of late pattern. Used only a portion of two winters. Will be sold cheap for cash. Inquire at this office.

The annual meeting of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry of Pennsylvania, will be held in the city of Williamsport on the 18th of December.

It is reported that coal of good quality and in paying quantities has been found at Summit Station on the Catawissa Railroad, about eight miles from Ringtown.

Two boxes of clothing and twenty-seven dollars in money have been sent to the Mayor of Detroit by the committee of ladies for the benefit of the Michigan sufferers.

For Sale.—A three-horse power steam engine and boiler, in good condition. Suitable for running a printing press or other light machinery. Inquire at this office.

Harnam & Hassert are kept busy constantly at their foundry and machine shop. Their excellent workmanship has built up a large business for them.

Rev. B. B. Hensley, of Northumberland, will preach in the Baptist church, Bloomsburg, on Sunday next, and on every alternate Sunday until further notice.

Backwater cakes now come to the front. E. (Yes, and people with limited bank accounts promptly step to the rear in this county at least.)

A water main burst on Fourth street, between Iron and Catharine streets, last Saturday afternoon. The repairs were not finished until an early hour on Sunday morning.

Rev. Father Fields, of Centralia, has been granted leave of absence for one year by Bishop Shanahan. He is an invalid and needs rest.

There was a meeting of the directors of the North & West Branch Railway Company, in the office of L. E. Walker, Esq., on Tuesday, to certify certain business transactions made in building the road.

Well executed $20 bills have been circulated in New York city, and some of them will doubtless find their way into the county ere long. Be on the watch for them.

We were in error last week in stating that Dr. Reber had severed his connection with the Sanitarium. In consequence of the overcrowding of the institution, he is compelled to remove his family to his own house.

The sink hole due to receive the water from our motor provided insufficient for that purpose. It filled up and caved in, and we are now compelled to lay pipe to the Fourth street run before using water power.

Hon. Wm. Taylor, Boston, is well again. Completely cured of a scrofulous humor which poisoned his blood, covered his face and head with sores, by Cuticura Resolvent internally and Cuticura Soap externally.

If there is any good reason why a single candidate of the Democracy of this county ought not to be elected, it has not been made known. Every man was fairly and honestly nominated, and is entitled to an election.

SIXTH OF THE FATHERS VISITED ON THE CHILDREN. Physicians say that scrofula cannot be eradicated, we deny it "in toto." If you go through a course of Burdock Blood Bitters, your blood will get as pure as you can wish. Price $1, trial size 10c.

People will take care now as to how they detach their postage stamps, for the post office department has just ruled that postage stamps with any fraction of them missing will no longer be accepted as prepayment of postage on the matter to which they are attached.

The only office over which there is much of a contest is that of Register and Recorder. There are four candidates, Stern, regular Democrat; Ringler, Republican; Hicks, Prohibition, &c.; and Jacoby, Independent. Stern will be elected. If you want to be on the winning side, vote for him.

In another column will be found the advertisement of Mr. L. T. Sharpless, who offers a large and carefully selected stock of goods at reasonable rates. He has just received a large assortment of seasonable articles which he invites the attention of the people of the town and county. Call and see him before purchasing elsewhere.

There will be a shooting match at the house of Ed Robbins, near Jones' mill in Fishersburg, on Wednesday, November 14th, 1889. There will be twenty swarms of bees and the woodwork of a horse sled put up and shot for. The best will be shot for with shot or ball as may be agreed upon by the sportsmen.

Do not pay attention to circulars sent out on the eve of the election, making all sorts of charges of corruption and incapacity against any candidate. Such circulars are frequently used by a campaigner, but it can generally be taken for granted that charges made too late to be denied before the polls open, are intended to deceive and mislead. Support the ticket.

[Danville, Ill. News.] John Stein, Esq., City Brewer, referring to its valuable qualities said to a New representative: "I have used St. Jacob's Oil to my family and recommend it to my acquaintances. It has always given the best satisfaction and is truly a wonderful remedy."

The town of Pitsy is afflicted with the plague of small pox. No less than 104 cases are reported in and near the town, and the disease appears to be on the increase. A meeting of the citizens was held on Tuesday to express indignation at the reckless carelessness of the authorities, who have failed to take measures for the public safety. There are several new cases in Wilkes-Barre, one being a teacher in a public school, who had kissed all the children under her charge just before her affliction was discovered. Bloomsburg is fortunately free from small pox, but our town authorities should be on the watch and adopt the most vigorous measures to stamp it out should it appear.

Anybody can catch a cold now. The trouble is to let go, like the man who caught the bear. We advise our readers to keep a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup handy.

See that your ticket is straight before voting.

The Rev. David Verbeke, of Steubenville, Ohio, for which Mr. J. Salazar of this city is general agent, received the diploma of the Danville fair, and also the premium at the Washington fair, last month, for the best sewing machine exhibited.

The staid friends of Rev. Dr. Courtland Whitehead of South Bethlehem, will rejoice to know that he has been chosen by the clergy and laity of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Episcopal church, to succeed the late Bishop Keffer. Dr. Whitehead has many ardent admirers in this county.

An elegant assortment of finger rings, consisting of Cameos, Lapis Lazuli, Topaz, Pearl, Onyx, Amethyst, Garnet, plain and chased bands, and all the best looking rings. Articles engraved free of charge. All goods warranted at L. Bernard's Jewelry Store.

The newspaper publishers of Towanda have signed an agreement not to furnish their respective journals to subscribers for less than $1.50 per year and have declined the offer. They have learned from sad experience that there is no money in the business at $1 per annum. The papers are all good and certainly worth their readers the extra half dollar asked.

"The doctors said my wife had consumption. Tried 'Lindsay's Blood Searcher' and she has better health than ever." G. T. Lindsay, Danville, Pa.

A tramp answering to the name of John Williams was placed in the lockup Saturday night to await trial for larceny. He succeeded in getting fire to the building and the outside was pretty badly burned before it was discovered and put out. Monday morning he was brought before Judge Walker and sent to jail for stealing several articles about town and also for setting fire to the lockup. Williams has been carrying on his petty thieving operations at Bloomsburg and other points, and it is time he was put to his deceptions. Williams is wanted at Berwick. See this office.

The rich fields between Kingston and Wilkes-Barre are admirably adapted to the growth of tobacco and will yield an unusually large number of the plants when set out. They failed to head, owing to the long and severe drought, and are now suffering to rot in the fields. As a result the crop is ruined and the worst small it is possible to imagine.

So intolerable has this nuisance grown that some of the citizens of Wilkes-Barre have made a plan to erect the cage, over the city and the surrounding country, to prevent the flies from coming to the city. If the offending vegetables are not at once removed and the air allowed to become pure, there is certainly need of prompt and decisive action as all will agree who have traversed the Kingston fields within the past few days.

An opinion was filed in Scranton recently by President Judge Handley, which establishes a novel precedent in the construction of Pennsylvania Boards of Arbitration. A case was arbitrated there last June in which Mrs. Winton, wife of a prominent lawyer, acted as one of the arbitrators, and on the score of Warren J. Woodward, son of the late Justice Woodward, took exception to the award, claiming that under the act of 1876 a woman could not act in such capacity. The exception was argued before Judge Handley, by whom it was overruled. He cited numerous English precedents showing that under the act of William IV. the law of 1876 is taken, women frequently served on such boards and acted in other positions.

As a rule, a physician who gives such universal satisfaction as Thomas E. Reber, M.D., has done, is a man of a high order of ability and a true humanitarian. He has a large and successful practice in this county and his name is a household word.

Mrs. George Girton, who lived near the pining mill, died last Saturday after a brief illness of typhoid fever. The funeral took place on Monday.

Mrs. Annie Turner, wife of Dr. Turner, died at the Sanitarium last Saturday evening, aged 35 years, 11 months and 7 days. She had long been a great sufferer from cancer, and for the past two years had been confined to her bed. Death to her was a welcome visitor, ending a life of pain and sorrow and giving that relief from physical and mental suffering denied her by the world. The remains were followed to the grave on Monday by many sorrowful friends.

On Friday last the interesting little daughter of Mrs. Jane Scott, fell a victim to croup. The funeral took place the following day, after the services the mother was completely prostrated by grief. The child who was but two years of age, was the only daughter and greatly beloved. Mrs. Scott has the sincere sympathy of all who know her.

John Beagle, the well known miller, died at Mordansville on Friday last and was buried on Sunday.

Children Come Home to Feast. Is it democratic for a man claiming to be a Democrat, when he does not get his choice of candidates nominated, to turn around and defeat the ticket? (We think not.) In other words, it is the duty of every Democrat to help elect his ticket at all times.—Bloomsburg correspondent of the News Item, Aug. 5, 1889. Supported by W. H. Jacoby.

The fight may be brisk, and we want all good, solid men, irrespective of party, to take off their coats and see if we can't slide the regular nominee in between the two evils with that heavy, old-fashioned majority. It can be done if we all vote as we should. At all events try it, and see if the stuffing can't be knocked out of some who are always so full of conceit as to think they can look just as independent as independent candidates and win. We don't want such men. Therefore, lay them on the shelf for another purpose, if you can find any.—Bloomsburg correspondent of the News Item, Oct. 20, 1889. Supported by W. H. Jacoby.

A man is a poor Democrat who will oppose a nomination simply because he did not succeed in getting on the ticket. There are some such men hanging around the Democratic party, and the sooner they are driven out the better it will be for the party. The Democratic organ should come down on them like the Bismarck and thus end both them and scratching of tickets. These disorganizers assume that it is all right to defeat a ticket, so long as the Democratic press acquiesces in the miserable work. Go on, if there is no end to the party.—Bloomsburg correspondent of the News Item, May 27, 1889. Supported by W. H. Jacoby.

MAIMED BY DEATH. There is a lunatic in Girard to heal each gaping wound. In Thomas' Electric Oil is found. For internal and for outward use, you freely may apply it. For all pain and inflammation you should not fail to try it. If only cures a trifle, 'tis worth its weight in gold. And by every dealer in the land this remedy is sold.

For Register and Recorder. At the solicitation of my friends, I have accepted of party, through the courtesy of the Register and Recorder, the office of Register and Recorder, during the summer to be held by my party. I have decided to become a candidate for reelection to the office of Register and Recorder, the duties of which office I trust I have performed to the entire satisfaction of the people of the county. Hoping to receive a hearty support at the polls on Tuesday the 8th of November 1891, I remain, Most Respectfully yours, WILLIAM H. JACOBY, October 26, 1889.

All Hallow's Eve. Last Monday evening the boys of Bloomsburg amused themselves with the frolic which custom has sanctioned on Hallow's Eve. Showers of corn were dashed against windows and doors, startling quiet people sitting within, gates were lifted from their hinges and carried away and the air resounded with shrill whistles and cat-calls, the signals for meetings of troupes of boys. So long as these sports do not result in injury to property, no one will find fault with them, but the boys should be careful not to do any damage. In one case at least an offence was committed which should never be repeated. One of the iron gates of Col. Freese's residence was unhinged and then dropped upon the pavement with such force as to break it. This is all very well, but when it is repeated in peevishness to owners of property it is not well. The law makes no allowance for damage done in merrymaking, and offenders are liable to punishment. Let it be kept within such bounds that innocent persons shall not suffer in person or property. At the Normal School the scholars played many of the old-time games, such as, bobbing for floating apples in a tub of water, and spent a jolly evening. The pranks of the youngsters are not so boisterous as of old, and everybody is the better pleased that such is the fact.

Body Buried. For several days past men have been hard at work at Neal's furnace removing the timber and charring the stack. On Saturday afternoon, about 10 o'clock, the foreman of the works, was at the bottom of the stack, endeavoring to loosen a knot in the iron bar, the rod-like formation known as scum, folding and formed of iron, limestone, &c., suddenly the mass gave way, and a shower of red-hot ashes fell upon Nagle, burning his face, breast, hands, arms, and one of his legs in a terrible manner. Medical assistance was summoned, and the proper remedies at once applied. The wounds are severe, but are believed will result in permanent disfigurement or injury. McCreely was the first to attend Nagle, but the case is now in the hands of Dr. Gardner, who is giving the requisite attention. It is fortunate that Nagle did not lose his life in the fiery shower that fell upon him. The work of cleaning out a stack is both onerous and dangerous and needs to be done with great care. Jonathan Cronis had one of his hands severely burned while at work in the stack on Monday.

Mr. James C. Brown was taken to his home in Millville on Friday last, having acquired enough strength to warrant the drive. He has regained his appetite and it is believed will recuperate rapidly, though it will be some time before he is able to attend to business.

Messrs. Charles Parrish, W. J. Harvey, Irving A. Stearns, S. C. Stronkers, Cady C. M. Conyngham and Attorney-General Palmer, all of Wilkes-Barre, and Thomas Weaver, of Danville, were in town on Tuesday, to attend a meeting of the North & West Branch Railway Company.

Dr. A. L. Cressler, an ex-member of the Legislature from Luzerne county, was in town on Tuesday. He now lives in Shippenburg, is devoting his time to the settlement of his father's estate, and has abandoned his practice as a physician. Thirty years ago he practiced medicine in Bloomsburg.

The Montour White Lead, Zinc and Color Works, of Rupert, Pa., have recently increased their facilities and put their mills in first-class working order and secured the services of W. E. B.
