BLOOMSBURG, PA.

Friday, Dec., 2, 1881. There is a very general demand for the abolition of all internal revenue taxes, and it can readily be done, in view of the enormous surplus in the treasury. It would be ridiculous to take off the tax on one or two minor articles and allow the more weighty ones to remain a burden to the people. It is folly to pile up vast and steadily increasing sums in the treasury when the people need relief.

Another embezzling eashier has turned up, this time in Newfoundland. He got ahead of the Prince Edward Island

A grand musical festival will be given in the great Music Hall of Chreinnati in February, beginning on the 13th and continuing for six days. There will be an orchestra of one hundred skilled musicians, and a chorus of two hundred trained singers. The solo singers embrace the leading artists of the day Max Macetzek, Signor Arditi and Otto Singer are the musical directors. Sev eral of the best operas will be given. All lovers of music will be interested in this affair and there will doubtless be a very large attendance.

When Mr. Randall was chairman of the appropriations committee in the Forty-fourth Congress, he laid down the policy of retrenchment and reform that carried the country in 1876. That is the sort of leadership the Democrats need and must have if they propose to continue their struggle for national power. If any one can supply it better than Mr. Randall we shall hall the fact with satand, until he does, the Democrats had best be careful how they renounce the only proved and safe leader they have in the House,—N. The London (England) Daily Notes commenting on the trial of Guiteau. says: "It seems obvious that the question of Guiteau's sanity and responsibility is a matter of word chopping and of psychological casuistry. Guiteau is per-fectly well aware of the nature of the We might say that Guiteau was crazed, just as so many people are called cracked who are yet acknowledged to be fit to control their own affairs. If Guiteau is declared insane a vast nun ber of people like him-feather-brained, conceited fools—will justly infer that they, too, may indulge in eccentricities are applauded and it is particularly enjoyable when he calls his coursel a light and murder.

Judging by the alacrity and acrimony with which the Danville Intelligencer replies to the Commun's suggestion that Montour county needs a change of Democratic leaders, we are led to the belief that the editor of the Intelligencer considers himself one of the leaders aforesaid. We were already of that opinion, and are more than ever convinced of the necessity for a change, if Montour county is to remain in the Democratic ranks. Columbia county can always be relied upon to maintain her Democratic ascendency and give steadily increasing majorities for Democratic e indidates. The full vote is never polled in any county in what are known as "off years," a fact which the editor of the Intelligencer very well knows. The other stuff, both silly and untrue, contained in the Intelligencer's little out burst, merits neither attention nor

The Supreme Court of the State have issued an order changing the court districts, by transferring to the Eastern district the counties of Bedford, Blair, Cumbeland, Centre, Columbia, Clinton, Clearfield, Cameron, Elk, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lancaster, Lycoming, Leb anon, Mifflin, Montour, McKean, North umberland, Perry, Potter, Snyder, Tioga, Sullivan, Union, Warren and York, and twelve of the nineteen counties of the Western district. The change meets with the approval of a large majority of members of the bar, throughout the State, though the lawyers of Allegheny county are opposed to it. It is believed that the business of the court will be transacted with greater despatch by holding the sessions in Philadelphia. Columbia county attorneys were strongly in favor of the change.

And yet another offence against the public by Philadelphia's office holders. Certain rascals are under indictment in that city for frauds perpetrated at the election of last February, and the ballots cast were needed to ensure their conviction When the District Attorney demanded the boxes it was discovered that City Commissioners Douglass and Martin had tions were never turned into the city destroyed all the ballots. In so doing Treasury, but were pocketed by the disthey flagrantly violated the law, which directs that the ballots east at any election shall be kept for one year. There were two sets of boxes and of course it was not necessary to destroy the ballots cast in February. These Commissioners have stepped between the law and the criminals, and it is quite probable that by so doing they have prevented the conviction of the rascals. A bolder piece of work is rarely done even by than the thorough purification of the Tax Philadelphia political sharps. THE ASSASSIN'S TRIAL.

He is endeav-oring to convince the jary that he is in-sane, but shows far too much shrewdness for that. He daily bullies and insults his counsel, affronts the court and interrupts witnesses, and the feeling of indignation at his outrageous acts grows stronger. He was unusually annoying quiet. He was not quiet nor was he gagged. A. B. Amering of Williams-port, was one of the principal witnesses on Friday and gave testimony as to the insanity of the Guiteau family. Gen. Logan testified on Saturday, that he thought the assassin was insane. The brother and sister of Guiteau were on the stand Monday. Their evidence tended to prove the insanity of Guiteau. The assassin himself appeared as a witness on Tuesday. He was allowed all possible latitude in language as is apparent from the significant comment in the report, that a portion of the testimony "is unfit for publication." The case as conducted is a wretched low-comedy per-formance, disgraceful to the Court and a burning shame to the people. There will be a general sense of relief when the end comes. Guiteau occupied the stand all day Wednesday. Judge Por-ter late in the afternoon began his crossexamination, which promises to be inter-

The Shame of the Guiteau Trial-

The Guiteau trial is a burning shame to the country. Nothing like it was ever witnessed in any but a border court. Instead of a solemn tragedy, a comedy has been enacted every day since the trial began. Judge Cox seems to be a particularly weak individual. District Attorney Corkhill is a vain, pompous man. Be tween them they have brought about a pretty state of affairs.

It is a fearful thing to contemplate seriously. A few weeks ago the nation was bowed down with grief at the death of its beloved Chief Magistrate. Now everybody laughs at the antics of the assassin. Reports of the trial are read for the fun they may contain. Disgrace-ful outbursts of rage from the prisoner joyable when he calls his counsel a liar and addresses the Court in a patronizing manner, such as a jockey might be expected to assume towards the boy who rubs down his horses. No doubt his freaks are often laughable, but that such It was owned by Graff, Bennett & Co., hings should be allowed for one moment in acourt of justice is incapable of explanation.

A great mistake was made at the very outset. There should have been no more fuss over this trial than over the trial of any other murderer. In the eyes of the public Guiteau's crime may have been greater, but in the eyes of the law he is entitled to just the same consideration. no more and no less, than any assassin Judge Cox is apparently afraid of the prisoner. Mr. Corkhill is afraid that he will not get all the glory due him, and instead of conducting this trial in an unstentatious, ecommon-sense manner, the risoner has been allowed to carry on just have been solemn in every detail, has sunk to the most undignified level imaginable. Judge Cox has made frequent threats. Why doesn't he put them into execution?—Phila. Times.

GIGANTIC FRAUDS.

When the better class of Philadelhia's citizens, roused to desperation by he corruption of office holders, over hrew the political bosses and elected uch honest men as Mayor King, Comp roller Pattison and Tax Receiver Hunter, they did more good than they could have expected. The people are beginning to ascertain how much it has cost to keep secundrels in office. Re cently startling disclosures were made of he stealing of large sums of money from the Tax office. Messrs. Hunter and Pattison are now investigating the matter and will soon place the results before the proper authorities. Theodore Hanel, formerly a clerk in the Tax Office, has confessed his participation in the crimes and has given the names of other thieves. He believes that fully $1,000,000 of the people's money were stolen between 872 and 1877. It cannot even be surmised how much may have been taken during the terms of other Receivers. Taxes paid by large estates and corporahonest clerks. As may well be imagined, the discovery of these tremendous frauds has created great excitement and further developments are awaited with deep interest. Some of the thieving clerks are now employed in government offices, some are dead, and some live in luxurious retirement on their dishonestly acquired wealth. The people of Phila-delphia will not be satisfied with less and fill their places with better men. It

WHAT A KISS IS.

The amatory editor of the Phila delphia Times has written an article on "The Right Time to Kiss," in which he gives a definition of osculation which we fancy it would be difficult to surpass. It is as follows:

"A kiss is the visible sign and token of a inner sentiment which no words can express The eyes and the tongue do a good deal of The eyes and the tongue do a good deal of appreciable work in love-making, but the meeting of the lips is the sign and seal, the chrism, so to speak, which transforms the earthly into the divine. Love without a kiss would be like a harp without the hand, the rainbow without its hue; the brook without its babble; the landscape without its colors; the tea rose—sweetest flower for seen that blows—without its olor, the barralis with olows—without its odor; the borealis with-out its variations: poetry without rythm; spring without sunlight; a garden without foage or marriage without love. The young oman whose ideals teach her to recoil from woman whose ideals leach her to recon from a kiss cheats the lover of the joys of loving and does not deserve the devotion of a manly heart. She may live up to the dining room dado and the sideboard bric-a-brac, but she will never prove a congenial wife, and our correspondent will save his heart, strings or the provent her baseling but to ber ado and bric-a-brac.

When General Sherman said that if the Arrears of Pensions bill became a law it would require a hundred millions to meet it, friends of the bill said he was talking wildly. That amount has now been paid out, and it is estimated that $235,000,000 more will be required. It would be interesting to know how much of all this has gone and will go to the deserving pensioner, how much to claim-hunting sharks, and how much to perjured applicants.—Phila. Press.
