

BLOOMSBURG, PA. Friday, Feb. 2nd, 1889.

It is quite apparent that the Hon. Joseph Scranton has become weary of congressional honors, or that he preferred in the matter of the Wilkes-Barre post office a present course of revenge to the doubtful chances of the political future.

Mr. Punch offers that railway commissions would be averted only by chaining a bishop or a director to the front of the engine.

There has been a sharp fight over the Wilkes-Barre post-office, Congressman Scranton pressing the claims of Albert S. Orr, and a large number of prominent citizens, including high State officials, supporting Douglas.

not voting at all, being made to vote for that side of the bill under consideration, which needs them in order to carry or defeat the measure as the clerk desires.

Mr. George Scoville, Guiteau's lawyer, has reached the conclusion—long since attained by everybody else—that he has done as much thankless and unremunerative work for the assassin as is his duty.

Applications will be made at the next court of Clinton county to have the bridge crossing the river at Look Haven made a county bridge.

A disastrous fire occurred in the very center of the newspaper district of New York city on Tuesday morning last.

No living thing was found along one of the fraudulent postal routes in Nevada, for 200 miles except two jack rabbits, one coyote and some smaller game.

Two Congressmen have dared to introduce a bill for the reduction of letter postage to one cent.

It ought to be kindly suggested to the Secretary of War that it is time for him to put an end to these incessant attempts to hold up his mother as an object for public charity or compassion.

Let us all hope that the Democrats of the Keystone State may this year display the devotion and good faith which were the distinguishing characteristics of their conduct of the last campaign.

Not only has the order gone out for the nomination of General Beaver for Governor, but the manner of referring to him for public use by his supporters seems also to have been ordered.

THE LEGISLATIVE RECORD JOB. The report of the State treasurer shows that there was paid out of the treasury from December 1st 1880 to November 30th 1881, for the publication of the Legislative Record the sum of $23,524.40. It is likely that no man would afford the odd dollars and cents, but that the $23,000 is a clear steal from the pockets of the people, which is permitted by the laws of the Commonwealth. The Record is of no earthly use to anybody but the members of the Legislature who, when a candidate for reelection, refers to its pages to show his constituents how he voted on certain bills. It is useless, because it does not make its appearance until weeks and often months after the transactions recorded in it; because it is not a truthful record of the manner in which the public business is conducted, the lists of laws and bills being made according to the whims of the clerk who calls the roll, absent members or those
