An exchange says it ought to be more generally known that wheat flour is probably the best article to throw over a fire caused by the spilling and igniting of kerosone. It ought to be known, because flour is always within convenient reach, and often valuable articles of clothing, blankets, etc., are destroyed in extinguishing such fires. Ashes and sand are equally as good.

The course of the law is slow. If the business men of Bloomsburg want a bridge across the river at this place, it would be good plan to hold a public meeting and appoint a committee to wait upon the Penn sylvania Company and see what arrangement can be made with them for building wagon track in connection with the railroad bridge that is likely to be erected during the next three years.

A new danger has arisen for those wh use sewing silk. It has been found that much of the silk has its weight increased by the addition of sugar of lead, and as this has a pleasant, sweetish taste, persons using thread are very apt to form the habit of keeping it in their mouths and thereby in ducing lead poisoning. This affliction is indicated by a blue line on the gums, a furred tongue, inflammation of the lips and general debility. It will be safe to reject all silk thread having this taste.

W. A. Swan, a detective officer of Wilkes barre, was in town last Friday. The object of his visit was to obtain possession of little girl two or three years old, who was in the hands of improper persons. The child was taken from the Infants' Home of Wilkesbarre through the misrepresentation of th persons who applied for her, and was en trusted to their care supposing them to be respectable people. When it was ascertained that they were engaged in a disreputable business, the directors of the institution armed the officer with the necessary papers, and he secured the child and took it home with him on Friday night.

Colliers' "Banker's Daughter" was played at the Opera House last Friday evening to a large audience. We failed to discover any ground for the severe criticisms that have been made by certain papers, on the production. It is full of interest from the be ginning. The members of the company sustained their several parts well. The scenery which they carry with them is good and the orchestra is first class. The people of this town have had no better play presented to them since the opening of the Opera House than the "Banker's Daughter.

A comet was discovered about a week ago by a young astronomer in Albany, which will probably reach its perihelion in May or June, and promises to give us the grandes celestial spectacle for many years. Prof. Chandler, is trying to show that the comet i flying directly at the sun and will probably approach within 100,000 miles of it. Other astronomers differ as to the nearness of its approach, some even making the distance 200,000, but all agree as to its coming very close to the sun. We may look forward to May or June for one of the grandest sights we have seen in the skies.

Assault and Robbery. On the evening of Saturday the 11th inst., Joseph Bingham, aged 55 years, residing on Welsh Hill, came lown town to arrange his pension papers. After doing this he went home and on entering his house he saw some one getting out from under a bed. While lighting a lamp he was violently struck on the head with a club and knocked senseless. The villain then went through his pockets taking what ever be found, which was not much. Mr. Bingham lay unconscious until Monday morning. It is supposed the robber thought Mr. Bingham had gone to draw his pension and that he could secure a considerable sum. No one has been arrested but strong suspicion points to one as the probable perpetrator of the outrage .- Montour American.

At the Central Pennsylvania Conference of he M. E. Church in session at Lock Haven. W. W. Evans, presiding Elder of the Dan ville district, read his report. The charges report 1,200 conversions and a total member hip in the district of 8,000. Two parson ages were purchased and seven churches were built. Numerous revivals occurred at different points and the work seems to be it an advanced and hopeful state. Special refcrence was made to the payment of the debt on the Second Methodist Episcopal church

The paper canvassed the great question of unday schools, camp meetings, cancellation of debts, etc. Seven churches are projected for the next year. The Wooden and Jackson manufacturing company of Berwick has donated $500 towards the conference claim

We would arge upon all newspaper sul scribers the necessity of preserving their receipts. It would save editors a great deal o annoyance if everyone who comes to pay his subscription would bring his last receipt with him. About one man out of every ten has lost it, but is confident that he has paid up to a more recent date than the books show. The last receipt will always prevent dispute, and when it is not produced there is up the particulars of William Robbins' wedno other guide than the books, and we know that when our receipts are presented they al. keeping house for him, but had now reways correspond exactly. The man who "has a receipt at home" never comes back with it to prove that the editor didn't keep his accounts straight. Judge Allison, in a long and comprehensive charge on this point, said: "The new con stitution holds as one of the qualifications of a voter that he"-emphasizing the pronoun "shall have paid a State or county tax within two years. The refusal of the prosecutor in this case to make oath that he had made such a payment, in connection with the admission that he had not made it and had no personal knowledge of its having been paid, justified the judge in rejecting the vote. The judge called the attention of the jury to the phraseology of the constitution; that, properly interpreted, would require that the tax should be paid by the voter himself or by some person whom he had authorized to pay it for him. In the latter instance, he said, the principle would apply that what a man does by another he does by himself. "But this," he said, "by no means allows a stranger to intrude himself into the business of a voter, who alone can determine whether he would pay tax as a qualification for voting r not. The custom has prevailed in this city, and been extensively practiced, of obtaining names of voters from the assessment list and without the consent of the voter, and even without his knowledge, having taxes paid into his house taking the occupants by en- for him." This, the judge thought, does not constitute a legal payment of tax, because it is not done by the voter directly or indirectly and is an unauthorized act of a stranger on whom the law confers no such right. the defendant in the case before him, he said, had accepted the prosecutor's vote, he would have been more properly chargeable with violating the law than by the act for which

This picturesque domestic drama which is to be produced at the Opera House or Monday evening April 3d by the famous New York Madison Square Theatre Company, was lately spoken of by The Chicago Inter-Ocean as follows:

"A story as simple as a garland of automr eaves, and as delicately beautiful, makes of 'Hazel Kirke" a charming play.
