It took a republican congress two years to pass a law, and immediately an acci-dental President vetoes it upon a very flimsy excuse, and stalwart organs endorse his action. This shows what the professions of republicanism are worth.

The usual machine programme has been carried out by the tools of Cameron in this county. At a recent meet ing of the so called republican standing committee, most of the members of which we believe were appointed by the chairman, D. A. Beckley and B. F. Crispin were chosen delegates to the State convention, with instructions to vote for Beaver for Governor. J. C. Brown was recommended as senatorial delegate, with power to choose his own | feetly much." conferees. Beaver is securing all the delegates from nearly all the minority counties. A wise discretion on the part of the Democratic convention in the selection of a candidate, will give the democrats the next Governor.

In a contested election case recently were not qualified voters at an election held on the 15th day of February 1881,—although they had resided in the district sixty-one days. In computing time by months, the right method is to proceed from a given day in one month, to a day with a corre sponding number in an ensuing month without regard to the number of days embraced within those periods.

In fixing the time of residence requisite to entitle one to vote in a district at two months, the framers of hanna. the constitution rejected any other mode of computing the time than that above stated.

"Jambo," the big elephant that Barnam, Baily, & Hutchinson recently purchased in England has just arrived in New York city. He was brought over on the steamship Assyrian Mon arch. A large box, or cage, was built upon the main deck just large enough to cover him, measuring thirteen feet in length, twelve feet in height, and six feet eight inches in width. It was made of three inch yellow pine planks, fastened together by seven inch beams, and straps of heavy iron. The entire box weighed about six tons, or onehalf ton less than the weight of the elephant. He measures eleven feet six inches in height, the extreme suit against the county for money ex-spread of his ears is fifteen feet, and pended by him while in the Sheriff's he can reach up twenty-six feet with his trunk. His daily diet on his journey consisted of ten or fifteen loaves of bread, two bushels of oats, three quarts of onions, a bushel of biscuit, two hundred pounds of hay and as much fruit, candies, &c as the passengers would give him. He cost his present owners until he arrived in New York about $30,000, although $10,000 was the price paid for him. They were obliged to pay the fare of 200 steerage passengers, because of the London Board of trade who forbade the vessel taking steerage been cured of a terrible skin bumor by passengers along with the elephant the Cuticura Remedies, I did so that ing the best plans for housing the inmates of the proposed new reformatory at Huntington. The governor is a member of the commission to erect that institution, and it was through his efforts that the plan was changed from a middle penitenitary to a reformatory. It has been found that the architect who drew the plans for the buildings has based them on the three story system, something to which the commision is unanimously opposed—the one story plan of the eastern penitentiary being their first choice. As there are twenty acres in the Huntington plot there will be plenty of room for the enlarged area demanded in spreading out the building of the constraint of th ing on the one story plan.
