In spite of the attempt of the Stalwarts to laugh the Independents to scorn, that movement is rapidly grow-ing, and the people will be surprised after the November election, to find how many Republicans there are in the State who will no longer submit to the bosses. Even while they laugh the Stal-warts are trembling in their boots.

At an executive session of the Tariff Commission August 1 it was resolved, on motion of Mr. McMahon, that the Commission shall spend Monday and Tuesday next in New York, for the purpose, principally of getting a personal insight into the practical workings of the Custom House, visiting for that purpose the offices of the Collector, Naval Officer and Surveyo.

Chairman Cooper discovered that Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic candidate for governor is a native of Maryland; but Chairman Cooper is not insisting so strongly that a man not born in Pennsylvania cannot appreciate the wants of its people since it has been disclosed that Cooper himself was born in Ohio and that his candidate for lieutenant governor was born in Wales.

The republican organs are circulating the story that Daniel Dougherty has said that Pattison's nomination was a mistake. They said the same of A. G. Cartin and he at once contradicted the report, and so this time they select a man who is in Europe and who cannot deny the allegation because he has not heard of it. This is only one of the methods of modern republicanism.

The Democratic party, declaring against monopolies and in sympathy with labor, seeking its protection, and in favor of the protection of the indus-trial interests of Pennsylvania, at this time do solemnly protest against evils which the policy and practices of the Republicans by the insolence and long possession of office have brought upon the country.—Democratic State Plat-

The men who propose to have the laboring men of Pennsylvania on the auction block, will find a miscalculation. The men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow cannot be bought and sold by the Republican politicians of high or low degree. They will bitterly resent the insult that has been offered them by Cooper's boasts of the case with which he will make successful assaults upon their virtue.

A boy twelve years old has just been convicted of murder in St. Louis, for killing his father. The boy appeared to have no consciousness of the enorm ity of his deed. He was put upon the stand and freely recited the manner in which the crime had been committed. He claimed that his father had punished him without knowing that he had done wrong. He insisted that he only wanted to hurt his father as much as the latter had hurt him. The jury convicted the youthful defendant of murder in the first degree, and, unless a new trial is obtained, he stands a fair chance of suffering the capital penalty.

There are five State tickets in the field already-the Republican, Demoeratic, Greenback, Prohibition and In dependent Republican. To these it is proposed to add a sixth-a Labor Union or Working Men's Ticket. A circular has just been issued by the Philadel-phia Tra-le and Labor Conneil, which calls for a convention of all trade and labor organizations in the State, to be Philadelphia, on Monday, August 28th. The call says the convention is "to deliberate on questions of vital importance to organized lators, of harbor lines along the Potomac front. and to nominate a purely workingman" ticket for State officers.

Pattison was not present in Harrisbarg at the convention which nominated him; he never left his office in Philaed him; he never left his office in Phila-delphia, nor was he for a moment upset other valuable national objects a law, or distracted by his nomination. Such it is with great reluctance and only self possession in a young man not yet under a sense of duty that I withhold 32 years of age, and nominated for the it. My principal objection to the bill highest office in the gift of the people is that it contains appropriations for of a great State, is certainly remarka-ble, and his letter marks an epoch in the history of politics in Pennsylvania. It has taken years for the Camerons to perfect their wonderful machine in Pennsylvania. Mahone has captured Virginia in a few months. The Camerons rule with some semblance of decency, at least. There is no decency about Mahone. The Camerons slate their candidates in advance, but take care to delude the people into the belief that the slate is the popular choice. Mahone dictates from the word go, and if the people don't like it then there is no help for it. The Camerons named General Beaver for Goveraor, but called that he would incur Arthur's displeasa convention to ratify their choice. Mahone announced imperatively that John S. THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

President Arthur has just done the most commendable act of his administration in vetoing the River and Harbor bill. This bill appropriated a large amount of money ostensibly for the purpose of improving the rivers and harbors, but really to provide money to keep the Republican party in power. The voice of the press and the people was so strongly against it that the President could not do otherwise than veto

President's message:
To the House of Representatives: Having watched with much interest the progress of house bill No. 6242, entitled "an act making appropriations for the construction, repair and preservation of certain works on rivers and barbors, and for other purposes," and having since it was received carefully examined it, after mature consideration I am constrained to return it herewith to the house of representatives, in which it originated, without my signature and with my objections to its passage. Many of the appropriations in the bill are clearly for the general welfare and most beneficial in their character. Two of the objects for which provision is made were by me considered so important that I felt it my duty to direct to them the attention of congress. In my annual message in December last I urged vital importance of legislation for the reclamation of marshes and for the the establishment In April last, by special message, I recommended an appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi river. It is not necessary that I should say that when my signature would make controversy are entirely for the benefit of particular localities in which it is proposed to make improvements. The following letter from Hon. Channeev F. Black, democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, to B. M. Nead, Esq., corresponding secretary of the Jefferson Association of Harrisburg, tion of Jeffersonian principles: YORK, July 20.—My Dear Sir:-

Nothing could have given me greater pleasure than the receipt of your kind communication of the 12th inst., informing me of my unanimous election to honorary membership in the Jeffer son Association of Harrisburg. I accept the compliment with a lively and grateful sense of its true value, and I shall endeavor to make my name worthy of its place on your roll by continuance in those humble but earnest efforts in the great cause you are organized to promote which have doubtess procured me this unexpected hon-

When the federalists in the closing ears of the last century had well nigh revolutionized the government estab lished by the constitution, transcending its most important limitations and in vading many of the fields of power expressly reserved from its operation, their dislodgement became necessary to the preservation of the Republic. That, like the present, was a most unequal struggle between power, patronage, money and monopoly on the one side and the masses of working people on the other. The latter must have gone down and all that they contended for must have been lost in one prodigious disaster but for the character of their organization and leadership. These were wisely adapted to the nature of the conflict. Jefferson, Madison, our own Gallatin, and their devoted compatriots were not content with merely sounding the alarm. They called the people together in their primary capacty, and urged them to organize in close and permanent associations like the popular committees of the revolution. ere they might take council one with another respecting the public dangers and the means of defence There were the "Democratic Societies" which filled the federalists with terror by their bold agitations, and which it was once actually proposed to put down by the strong hand under a statute to be passed for the purpose. The first one established in Pennsylvania was formed in Philadelphia in 1793, with David Rittenhouse president and a list of other officers, some of whose names are only less illustrious than his. The democratic societies were, as Mr. Jefferson said, the "nurseries of the Republican principles of the constitution,' and to them, with the widespread in-fluence of their discussions and publieations, and the "rousing of the people" by frequent meetings in small bodies, where every man had a voice, was due, in no small degree, the great deliverance of 1800 and the defeat of the infamous scheme to exclude Mr.

The Democratic societies of our day are called Jefferson Associations, not merely in veneration of the personal character of the great apostle of American liberty, but to indicate our devo-tion to the body of political principles ministrations of the government

But it is said that "Jefferson is dead." I think this is a mistake. Jefferson died in the body some hours and in his innuence, and when he ceases to live, the republic itself will have ceased to be. When Mr. Adams died the failure of federalism and the trimmph of democracy seemed both complete. But if any man imagined that these conditions have been related to the surface of a run on the bank and the denositors are confident that they versed, and that the "strong govern- the depositors are confident that they ment," for which the federalists have contended from Hamilton and Adams, Craft is a deacon in the Presbyterian to Grant and Arthur, has finally dis-placed the Republican government of enumerated and limited powers, let him remember the federalist exultation which went before the mighty fall of 1800. The principles of Jefferson are dear to every honest republican heart; there never was a moment since the adoption of the constitution, when, if and patriotism of the Democratic party put fairly at issue, they would not have received the unreserved approbation of a vast majority of the American people. Jefferson is not dead. He will be dead only when we ourselves or our less fortunate children are dead in political slavery that is to be rewarded by victory. Every one who wishes to join in its ranks. The demoralization and divided ranks of our antagonists, place a brilliant victory clearly within our reach. litical slavery, that is to say, when the independent Commonwealths which took their places among the nations of the earth upon Jefferson's immortal hand of the spoiler, and restore the addeclaration and were again rescued by him from a worse peril in 1800, shall have been crushed in the coils of a corrupt centralization, and the last vestige scared off. Political tricks and chicanery need concealment and hide in darkness. Publicity and exposure wither them. Wherever it is sought to ber of Republicans denounce the methods and principles of their own party, and refuse to support the machine tickgovernment which he so nobly maintown Democrat. tained in life were entombed with the vided for in the bill be appropriated for expenditure during the fiscal year and that the sum so appropriated be expended only for such objects named in the bill as the secretary of war, under the direction of the President, shall detection of the President, shall detect the sum of the president that the president that the sum of the president that the president that the sum of the president that the sum of the president that the presid cent federalist gloating over needless millions snatched from the hands of pa tient labor and distributed among favored classes enjoying undue privileges or lavished on objects not distinctly de fined by the Constitution, then it is high time for the resurrection. The sober judgment of the people is again invoked upon a situation far graver than that of 1800, when Jefferson fought in the flesh. Can any reasonable man doubt the result? The huge gress shall suffer no injury. Congress will also convene again in four months when this whole subject will be open aggregation of special interests, artifi ially fostered by our later legislation, combined under the name of the repubhean party, and administering the gov-ernment for the benefit of the few in ntter disregard of the rights and needs of the cruelly plundered and heavily burdened many, is visibly rotting asun-der and falling away into helpless frag-ments. The hour of our second de thirds vote in both houses. A republican congress has assumed the responsibility of this plundering law, the President first informing the leaders that he would not consider an adverse vote as would not consider an adverse beginning and their being, draws near. To this most desirable end nothing can contribute more directly or more powerfully than the establishment of Jefferson associations in every quarter. It is the method of Jefferson himself. and I hope to see the great party of the common people, defrauded in 1876, make itself ready for the final conflict before it by the formation within its ranks of thousands of these democratic societies or Jefferson associations, speaks for itself and will be read with which being closely affiliated and in delight by all who hope for the restoraintimate correspondence with each other, would keep the democratic party democratic and put it in a posture to meet another electoral conspiracy like that of 1876-7 as our forefathers met that of 1800-1. Meanwhile I am. very truly, yours, etc., CHAUNCEY F. BLACK. BENJ. M. NEAD, ESQ., Corr. Sec'y Jefferson Association. Publish the Pension Roil.

The surprising fact has lately come light that the list of pensioners of the United States has never been printed, and a motion for its publication has actually been opposed in the Senate on the extraordinary ground that deserving soldiers should not be subjected to the "mortification" of having their names published as pensioners. It is hard to believe that anyone could think it a disgrace to receive a pension for honorable services. On the contrary, it should be esteemed, as it always has been es teemed, an honor, and the only persons who would possibly be "mortified" at seeing their names on the pension list would be those who never have done anything to entitle them to such a re-

This is one reason why the list ought to be printed, and possibly one reason, also, why it has not been printed. It would lead to the detection of fraud. The pension list has now been swollen to the enormous total of one hundred millions, and even under the very liber al provisions of Congress it is impossible that all this money is disbursed to those only who are entitled to it. Indeed, it is notorious that thousands of people are drawing pensions upon manufactured claims, while others who did receive disabling injuries in the service for Representative to the Legislature. Subject to are getting nothing. The publication and proper distribution of the roll of pensioners would stop all this. The pension roll should be a roll of honor. It should be carefully compiled and printed and copies of the list for each State should be placed on file at every State capital, and the list for each county in the office of the county courts, so that they should be accessible for public examination. In this way repetitions, impersonations and claims of every kind would be detected, the impostors exposed and the names of heroic soldiers who suffered for their country and have received the country's grateful acknowleagment in return, would be preserved to fame. By all means let the list be printed .- Phila. HE SPECULATES IN OIL WITH THE PUNDS OF THE BANK-$100,000

Quite a flurry was created in Frank-lin Pa. last Friday morning by the an-nouncement that John F. Craft, cashier drawn mainly from the Democrats. In 1878 Quay played that game successfully. He hired men to organize Greenback lodges and paid his agents to get Democrats to vote the third ticket while their Republican associates, by prearrangement, voted for Hoyt. That scheme succeeded because it was worked secretly. The plot to betray the Labor cause this year has been exposed. The honest candidates and leaders in that cause will not allow themselves to be sold out.

Improvements in their own heighbor hood.

Thus, as the bill becomes more objectionable, it secures more support. This result invariably and unnecessarily follows a neglect to observe the constitutional limitations imposed upon the law making power.

The appropriations for river and harmonic for the Labor cause this year has been exposed. The honest candidates and leaders in that cause will not allow themselves to be sold out.

But it is said that "Jefferson is dead." I think this is a mistake. Jefferson died in the body some hours before his great friend and antagonist, John Adams, but the last words of the latter were: "Jefferson still lives," and they were true. He lives in his deathless work, in his teachings and in his influence, and when he ceases to live, the republic itself will have ceased to be. When Mr. Adams died the failure of federalism and the triumph of democracy seemed both are prepared to meet all demands made upon the bank. The bank will con-
