A Southern California Horse Farm.

Ex-Governor Leland Stanford's breeding farm for horses at Palo Alto. is one of the most complete establishments of the kind in the world. Of the seventeen hundred acres in the place, one hundred are occupied by the stables, barns, and small paddocks.

The buildings, at the foot of a gentle rise of ground, make a small city by themselves, inhabited by a population of nearly five hundred, who return hither from their headers, who return hither from their business on the pastures and race tracks, and have two hundred persons employed in their do-mestic service. The spacious barns are uniformly floored and ceiled up with redwood—a handsome material, which resembles cedar in effect. They are strewn with the freshest straw, and kept as neat as the most unexceptional drawing-rooms. Scions from the stock here raised, which represents the best thorough-bred and trotting strains in the country, are likely to be a most important influence in improving the breed of horses throughout the Pacific coast. It was here that curious experiments were conducted, at the expense of Governor Stanford, for arriving at a better understanding of the spend of horses by photographing them in rapid mo-tion. The photographer Mr. Muy-bridge, of San Francisco, succeeded by an ingenious arrangement of electrical wires communicating at the touch of the animal with cameras already prepared, in securing twelve distinct views of the different stages of a single stride. The attitudes are of the most unexpected and curious sort, some of them high

Great pains are taken in the raising gently and constantly, are made as fa-miliar with the touch of harness as they are with that of buman hands. As knows the value, and when properly a natural consequence they are perfect-cooked it is really very easy of diges ly tame, gentle, and even affectionate, and never need breaking. The effect of this system of training has been ap parent in the performances of some of the colts which have been publicly speeded against time. The first exhition of speed by a Palo Alto colt was made on the Bay District Association track at San Francisco in 1880, when the two-year-old colt Fred Crocker lowered the record for a one-mile trot to 2:251. Last year Bonita, a two-year old filly from Palo Alto, cut the record down to 2:241; and latter, at the same trotting exhibition, Wildflower, another two-year-old from the same farm, made the mile in 2:21; and Hinda Rose, a yearling filly, on the same day added to the fame of the farm by cutting down the yearing record to 23:61. It is asserted that there are colts on the farm which can do even better.-W. H. Bishop, in Harper's Magazine for October.

COFFEE IN TYPHOID FEVER .- In the early stages of typhoid fever Dr. Guillasse, of the French Navy, has ad ministered coffee with marked success Three tablespoonfuls are given adults every two hours, alternating with one or two teaspoonfuls of claret of Bur gundy wine. A beneficial result is immediately apparent. A little lemonade or citrate of magnesia is also administered daily, and after some time quinine is recommended.

BANANAS FOR TEA .- Bananas are delicious for tea; slice them-not too thin—scatter powdered sugar over them, and before it dissolves squeeze the juice of several oranges over them, or oranges may be cut up and be mix-ed with them, or they may be served with cream and sugar alone. They make an agreeable dessert with whip ped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla poured over them. tablespoonful of gelatine dissolved and stirred into the cream gives a little body to it. Serve with sponge cake.

TO PREVENT FLANNELS FROM FADno.—To prevent scarlet flannel or worsted goods of any description of this color from fading when washed take this precaution: Mix a half a cup ful of flour with a quart of cold water, let it boil for ten or fifteen minutes, then mix with the warm sads in which the article is to be supported. the article is to be washed; squeeze and rinse up and down repeatedly in-stead of rubbing on a rubbing board. If very much soiled wash in two or three waters, always taking care to have them of the same temperature if possible, and just cool enough to put your hands in comfortably. Make the suds before putting the garment in, and avoid if you can, rubbing soap on

The Medicinal Value of Vegetables.

A celebrated cook book discusse medicinal value of vegetables, as follows: Asparagus is a strong diuretic, and forms part of the cure for rhumatic patients at such health resons as Aix les Brans. Sorrel is cooling, and forms the staple of that soupe and herbee which a French lady will order for herself after a long and tiring journey. Carrots, as containing a quantity of sugar, are avoided by some people, while others complain or them as indigestible. With regard to the latter accusation, it may be remarked, in passing, that it is the yellow core of the carrot that is difficult of digestion the outer, a red layer, is tender enough. In Savoy, the peasants have recourse to an infusion of carrots as a specific for jaundice. "The large, sweet onion is very rich in those alkaline elements which counteract the poison of rheumatic gout. if slowly stewed in weak broth, and eaten with a little Nepaul pepper it would be found to be an admirable article of diet for patients of studious and sedentary habits. The stalks of cauliflower have the same sort of value, only too often the stalks of the cauli-flower is so ill-boiled and unpalatable that few persons would thank you for proposing to them to make part of their meal consist of so uninviting an article. Turnips in the same way, are often thought to be indigestible, and better suited for cows and sheep than for delicate people; but here the fruit lies with the cook quite as much as with the root. The cook boils the turnip badly, and then pours some butter over it, and the eater of such a dish is sure to be the worst for it. Try a better way. What shall be said about our and training of the young colts. From way. What shall be said about our the time of foaling the colts are handled lettuces? American Wheat-

From present prospects it is estimataggregate about five hundred million bushels. The expectation of it has already commenced to Europe, and what is somewhat surprising, buyers are here with orders to purchase wheat liberally for Southern France. This, however, is explained by the statement that American wheat can be laid down in Marseilles cheaper than wheat from the Black sea or from India. It is, true, this argues necessarily that the French harvest must again be deficent to meet domestic demands in France for breadstuffs; but in all probability the French grain-dealers have found it best to follow the example of the same class of merchants in London, by purchasing liberally of foreign wheat early in the season without waiting to ascer-tain the chances of the harvest in France. It is therefore, probable that we shall hereafter always be able to rely upon a permanent market in Mar-seilles for our wheat crop, and that the French mrechants at that port will ist kept a record of the relative hardiness of the leading kinds of that region, which may be of value in localities where peaches are liable to be in jured by the cold. We quote:

"In the following list, which for convenience I arranged in alphabetical order, the relative bardiness of the different varieties is given in a scale different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties is given in a scale of the different varieties of the different varieties of the different varieties of the different varieties in the populous and important countries bordering on that sea.
