We are informed that there is some talk of having the run on Fourth street between Market and Centre, covered with a stone culvert, and hope that the project may be carried out. The town authorities could not spend money in any way that would add more to the advantage of the people. The run is a natural outlet for sewerage, and no doubt will some day be utilized as drainage for at least half the town, A new use has been discovered for potatoes. They can be converted into a substance resembling celluloid by peeling them and after soaking in water impregnated with eight parts of sulphuric acid, drying and pressing between sheets of blotting paper. In France pipes are made of this substance, scarcely distinguishable from meershaum. By subjecting the mass to great pressure billiard balls can be made of it rivalling ivory in hardness.

A Big Establishment.

We recently dropped in the popular clothing store of David Lowenberg, and were astonished to find such a large and well selected stock. He carries as many goods as many of the large city stores, and his prices compare very favorably with the lowest. In addition to his stock of clothing is a fine assortment of cloths, cassimeres, beaver, melton diagonals, Trunks, robes and everything that can be found anywhere in the large clothing houses. Mr. Lowenberg is one of our most enterprising citizens and his large trade is well deserved A Painful Acci lent.

J. D. Bodine of Maunville met with very painful if not fatal accident last Saturday evening by the explosion of a gun The weapon had been loaded for some time and the charge was drawn all but the powder. Several caps were used in an attempt to discharge the powder, but the weapon hung fire. Bodine then placed the muzzle in his mouth to blow into the barrel when the explosion occurred. His mouth and throat were badly burned, and it was feared for a time that his throat would swell shut, but according to late reports that danger has past, and the doctors have hopes of his recovery. Mr. Bodine is well and favorably known through the county, having Berwick was the scene of a spirited tussle the other day. D. F. Sevbert attempted to compel a girl who had been working for him to change her purpose of leaving. She had taken the train for Wilkes-Barre when Seybert reached the depot, He took her from the car and was maltreating her when a Philadelphia drummer came to her rescue The drummer was too much for Daniel and forced him to let the girl go on her way. The next morning the man of many lawsuits appeared at the depot with the avowed purpose of punishing the "commercial tourist," who had remained in town over night. The man of the grip-sack was there to take the train and Daniel, pulling off his coat, squared for the fight. He let one of his fists fly at the drummer, but failed to hit his antagonist, but on the contrary was floored himse f. A desperate struggle ensued in which Daniel was so badly hammered that his most intimate friends didn't know him. The drummer proved to be game and escaped without being hurt.
