The safest thing to do nowadays, if you want to go on a journey, is to stay at home. If you are not killled on the railroad, or drowned in the ocean, you stand a good chance of being burned up in a hotel when you get to the end of your trip.

Another terrible disaster occurred in the German ocean last Friday morning in the sinking of the steamer Cimbria. She was run down by the British Steamer Sultan in a dense fog, and about 300 people perished.

Last year M. S. Quay, secretary of the commonwealth, advertised for proposals for stationery for the state in thirty seven newspapers. The bills for advertising amounted to $10,792. The stationery itself cost only $10,-

J. Mcdowell Sharpe, Esq., who takes a front rank in the leadership of the Democratic house, will introduce what is known as the "border raid" bill appropriating some $2,250,000 of the state's money to pay the adjudicated nia, residing chiefly in Franklin, Adams and Cumberland counties for losses sustained in Longstreet's raid into Maryland in the fall of 1862 and Lee's Gettysburg raid.

The House has followed the example of the State Senate, and the mem-bers have decided that, under existing laws, they are entitled to $100 worth of postage stamps. Whether the law allows it or not, such an amount of stamps ought not to be drawn from the treasury unless the members actually need them for correspondence with their constituents. The State ought not to pay the postage on private letters. There is a good chance for reform by the introduction of a bill that will put an end to this abuse.

Rev. Elliott, Chaplain of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, in a recent prayer gave thanks that the civrities are now greater than the military, and that no bayonets were present at the inauguration. This sentiment has given great offense to some republican members, because it was a "political prayer." They seem to forget that during the war which has been their stock in trade for the past twenty years, it was a very common thing for ministers to preach politics from the pulpit, and men who were unwilling to sit quietly and submit to the abuse heaped upon themselves and their party, were called "disloyal." It strains a point considerably to detect anything of a political character in what Chaplain Elliott fully recovered from their overthrow made for them.

Notwithstanding the severe criticisms that have been passed upon the new administration in this state, by the so-called independent press, it is probable that Governor Pattison and his cab inet will survive. The principal subjects of complaint were that Mr. Pattison walked from the depot to a friend's house, on his arrival at Harrisburg, before the inauguration, that he walked up to the capitol to take the oath of office, that he refused to ride in the procession, and other trivial matters. These were all things of person al taste, and if Governor Pattison chose to be inaugurated in that, way, he had a right to do so. No doubt, would have been more satisfactory to the many people who went to Harrisburg to see the sights, and it would undoubtedly have been much more dignified and impressive if there had been somearrangement to keep back the crowd at the time of the delivery of the inaugural address. A platform would have been more convenient for the Governor to speak from, than the small table on which he stood. But these matters, if not properly conducted, must be charged upon the committee of arrangements, and not on the administration. Gov. Pattison wanted simplicity, and he had it, and his manner of being inaugurated has very little to do with the public administration of ry, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Troga. Union, Warren, and York.

THE DEMANDS OF THE HOUR.

The people demand the abolition of peedless offices; the fixing of official compersation at sums commensurate definitely ascertained: rigid accountability in the expenditure of public moneys; a public performance of official trusts, and the raising of the efficiency of the civil service by means of a competitive examination. The lieutenant governor is to be the president of the commission and is to service without commission and is to with the services rendered by salaries fitness and integrity alone the tests for appointment. Care to the political purists and pictists should be taken, however, in the imposition of taxes, that we do not lose sight of those upon whom the imposi-tion finally rests. PARDONS AND THE PARDON BOARD

The exercise of the pardoning power y the Executive has been the subject of much public criticism. Nor is this recent only. So great had become the popular complaint, that the Convention which framed the Constitution attempted to correct what was admitted to be an abuse, by creating a board for the hearing of applications for pardon, be submitted to the Executive for his assistance in determining the merits of such applications. Such a plan ought to result in fuller and more careful consideration, and decisions more in and humanity. I do not believe, how-ever, that the Pardon Board was inthy and various judgments of a mixed board of lawyers and laymen. I shall make it a rule to grant no pardon escept for cause appearing since the

HOPES FOR THE FUTURE. I look forward with bright anticipation to the future of our Commmon wealth. Her possibilities are great be yond those of almost any of her sister States. Let it always be remembered by all citizens that intelligence and virtue are the safe-guards of liberal institutions. The law must be preserved in its integrity and supremacy; citizen-ship should not be treated as a light privilege: but its duties should be made a serious matter of conscientious performance : the purity of our elections must be sacredly preserved, and all alike should feel a personal interest in discharging their obligations to the State and sustaining the officers of the law in the faithful and just performance of their functions. It will al ways be my pleasing duty to co op-erate with the representatives of the people in giving validity to enact-ments whose object is the dissemina-tion of information, the promotion of the general welfare, the placing of additional safe-guards around the upright, or the punishment and restraint of the lawless and vicious. In short, whatever will tend to develop the resources, increase the comforts, or en large the happiness and prosperity of ehe citizens of a State, which has been alike fortunate in its location and the wise policy of its founder, should receive the sedulous atttention and constant support of every one who is called upon to make, expound, exe-

There were 402 passengers and 94 officers and and fourth officers erew on board. Of these only 56 so out of the water. far have been rescued. Of six steamers sent out by the Hamburg-American steamboat company on Saturday night four have not yet returned, but as the two which returned found nothing. there is scarcely any hope left that more of the unfortunates are alive. The cold at the time of the disaster was so intense that many perished therefrom before sinking into their watery grave. The question who is to blame for the catastrophe will, as usual, have to be settled by a court of inquiry. There is the same amount of assertion and contradiction as in the case of the
