THE BILL PROPOSED BY THE BOARD OF SPECIAL COMMISSIONERS.

The special commissioners appointed by Governor Hoyt to inquire into the treatment of the insane in the State, have never been out of their pens since have reported a bill to the Legislature. I put them in in November, and they The bill creates a Central Board, to have supervision over places where in to have their heads cut off. They are sane persons are under treatment said board to be composed of the Board of Public Charities and three additional I have had flocks of 20 and 40 that members, appointed by the Governor, had free yard range, but never could one of whom shall be a member of the bar, and another a physician, both of ten years' standing and practice. I cannot give the cost of General the Committee on Lunacy is keeping, as 185 little chickens were fed to act as a licensing board. All pay places, where insane patients are treated, must take out license under regulations prescribed by this committee for month, which I think is good evidence the conduct and control of such estab-lishments. The committee have pow- They are provided with all the green er to enforce their regulations by sus food they can eat, and are given a few pending the license upon disregard of their rules, and such withdrawal of license lays the offending parties open the nineteen hens were divided among to a charge of misdemeanor; and any thirteen hens, nine of which began lay-institution of the kind that fails to when the chickens were three weeks also be brought against them. The release of the Committee of Lunacy for all other cured cases is to be equivalant to, and, in the absence of release by the superintendents of such asylums, a sufficient discharge.

The Folly of the Day.

There is a dreadful ambition abroad for being "genteel." We keep up appearances too often at the expense of honesty; and though we may not be rich, yet we must seem to be "respecta-ble," though only in the meanest sense —in mere vulgar show. We have not the courage to go patiently onward in the condition of life in which it has pleased God to call us; but must need live in some fashionable state, to which we ridiculously please to call ourselves, and all to gratify the vanity of that unsubstantial, genteel world, of which we form a part. There is a constant struggle and pressure for front seats, in the social amphitheatre; in the midst of which all noble self-denying resolve is trodden down, and many fine natures are inevitably crushed to death. What waste, what misery, what bankruptcy come from all this ambition to dazzle others with the glare crops. of apparent worldly success we need not describe. The mischevious results show themselves in a thousand waysin the rank frauds committed by men who dare to be dishonest, but do not care to seem poor; and in the desperate dashes at fortune, in which the pity is not so much for those who fail as for the hundreds of innocent families who are so often involved in the ruin. -The Home Journal.

No part of the farm is better worth careful attention than the woodland, and, as a rule none is so much neglect ed. Year by year lumber of all kinds is harder to find, and higher in price when found, and fire wood, excepting in the newer districts, is fast becoming a luxury, when on the farm. That this is true is owing largely to the extravagance, wastefulness and carelessness with which the woodland is treated. The farmer who has a hillside or back lot covered with trees, is to be envied his possession, and if he is wise, will bestow upon it care and attention equal, at least, to that given to the best of his arable land. As a source of fuel supply is one method of buying fertilizers for a few acres of woodland may be made to serve a farm for generations, by proper attention to selecting, and increase in value every year. Generally, when fire wood is wanted, a certain district is cut over, taking all that will reason he she burn, good, bad and indifferent, and cools down. the land is subsequently "cleared" and put under crop, or suffered to grow up again, with but little regard as to what grows, or how it grows. A better way is to carefully select from the whole area of wood land, such trees as from any cause are least adapted to any useful purpose excepting fire wood, or is that manures drawn in the fall and having arrived at full majority, are a spread on the surface produce a better hindrance to the growth of some fine, thrifty young hard wood sapling, which left until Spring before drawing. may stand near them. In addition to this, the trees left standing should all be carefully and neatly trimmed of all branches as high as can be reached with an axe from the ground, taking pains to leave a nice smooth stub, cut as short as may be, that it may readily heal over, and not injure the growth of the tree, nor leave a bad spot in the timber when it is cut for use at some future time. The brush may very advantageously be hauled out to the adjoining field, spread in a thin layer over the ground, and when dry, burned. This will prove an excellent and cheap way of giving the land a dressing of potash. A little care and thoughtfulness in connection with the woodland will be found very profitable.

One pint of corn and oats, half and half, twice a day is a full allowance for each sheep, unless you wish to fatten them for market.
