Just as a "An man may go on for years, with defective teeth, imperfectly masticating his food, and wondering why he suffers from indigestion, so a man may habitually live under an infliction of hurried dinners, and endure the consequent loss of health, without knowing why he is not well, or how easily the cause of his illness might be remedied.

The Value of Sods.

Sods are the cream of the soil, con taining the very elements of plant food that make soil so productive. When properly rotted this material makes one of the best invigorators to be found for trees, vines, vegetables and cereals and is one of the most readily and cheaply ol tained fertilizers in use. Sods may be gathered from the fence corners of tilled fields, gathered from the surface ask whether he might properly have after plowing and harrowing sward avoided the sacrifice. Water should be applied at intervals, sufficient to keep the pile moist and prevent a dry, keep the pile moist and prevent a dry, moldy rot. The best way to provide this has been a wrong act. In that with a brilliant sketch of the Life of Irving for the wetting down is to leave the top cupping and apply the water abundantly there in a dry time. To get such a lot of good material in the best shape for applying to crops we would advise mixing it with good, wellrotted barnyard manure. Say about two loads of it to one of the manure then spread it broadcast on grass and crops of small grain: for corn or veg-etables apply into the hills or drills.

What Makes Sheep Profitable.

saving on the farm effected by keeping sheep. They are excellent foragers, and are not dainty in their choice of they thus keep down many plants that would otherwise be troublesome to farmers, as well as converting into marketable flesh and wool much that would not only be lost, but also which could not be otherwise accommised by could not be otherwise economized by the farmer in any other way. It is this that partly makes them profitable, for Wi every item saved in the expense of keep, provided such economy is not falsely practiced, is so much added to the gain. Sheep should not only be utilized in every possible way, but also must be kept growing and fattening at the proper time, so as to derive every possible result in the matter of profit Our common sheep are active, and, being native, are acustomed to the sections in which they exist, and for that reason it is much better for farmers to breed from them with thoroughbred rams than to attempt at once on the venture of a whole flock of thoroughbreds, as it requires pastures adapted to the purposes in view, and also care in sheltering and system in feeding.

A Clergyman's Mistake.

The rector of St. Gaorge's Church, Southwark, England, recently fell into a laughable blunder. A lady who was a deaf mute and a gentleman who was a foreigner, and unable to speak Eng-lish, came to him for the purpose of being married. The clergyman, after much difficulty, made out the object of their visit, as he supposed, and appointed a day for the performance of the ceremony in church. He in fact under stood that they wished to be baptized, and on the day set had provided the and on the day set had provided the requsite number of godfathers and godmothers to answer for them. The reg ular baptismal service was used over them; they were asked if they renounced the devil and all his works, and duly signed with the sign of the cross. Though the service was not as much as they expected, they supposed it was the newest way of solemnizing matrimony, and departed, imagining themselves man an wife. The next day the rector received from them a package containing a piece of the wedding cake and a little note of thanks from the couple Horrified at the discovery of the mis take, the clergyman rushed to the hotel where they were staying, explained the matter as best he could, and hurried it to fill up.
