The old contention between the Danville, Hazleton and Wilkesbarre railroad company and the Pennsylvania railroad com pany, growing out of the lease of the form er company to the latter, in February, 1872 resulted in the filing of the declaration of suit Saturday. The declaration, after reciting the lerms of the lease, alleges that the Pennsylvania company failed to contuct the road properly, and on the contrary sanaged it in so careless and negligent a manner that it became ruinous and unproductive, that seventy-five per cent, more than the proper amount was charged account, that there was a total failure to meet the accruing interest coupons, accordng to the terms of the lease, and that the bligation to render just accounts was entirely disregarded. The Judicial Apportionment BLOOMSBURG, March 27, 1883.

EDITORS OF COLUMBIAN :-1 am informed that the 'Judicial Apportionment bill now pending in the House at Harrisburg annexes Sullivan county to our Judicial district. Is this right or just to us? The counties of Columbia and Montour have now a population of nearly fifty thousand, with large and flourishing towns, and a large amount of legal business. There as many districts in the State with less than 50,000 population, and it seems strange to me that we must be interfered with in the apportionment. Are not the people of Columbia and Montour as worthy of regard as other citizens of the State? Our legal business is now disposed of carefulo the amount of $2,000,000. The case will | ly and promptly : our courts are arranged for the convenience of suitors and witnesses; legislative interference at this time and in this manner can only result in injury to us. So think the members of the bar of both counties, who have protested against the proposed change, and so think many of our citizens. The Sullivan Review has well said, "The reputation of Judge Elwell for ability, integrity and industry is well established; he is a learned and laborious judge." This we [Communicated.]

EDITORS COLUMBIAN:—
The correspondent in last week's Columbian from Mifflin, over the heading of "Pinafore," is undeathing the beading of "Pinafore," is undeathing the beading of "Pinafore," is undeathing the beading of "Pinafore," is undeathing to do all the work of the district with Sullivan added. The legal business of that county is not a mere triffe—the opening of coal mines, the extension of doubtedly meddling unprecessarily.

Four regular terms, of two weeks each, are required in that county, them, they have but to refer to James besides argument courts and special cases. Vick, Rochester, N. Y.; Oliver P. Ross & Now add these to our business, and our judge will have to hold twelve regular terms of court, besides argument courts, special cases and work at chambers. There s not one judge in the State now doing that much work. But this is not all. The location of Sullivan county is such that travel from Bloomsburg to Laporte is no nearest point to Laporte our judge must go by Wilkesbarre and Towanda to Dushore; and thence by stage, ten miles, to Laporte; being nearly, if not quite, 150 miles; and requiring, as public conveyinces now run, two days to get there. I is nearer over the North Mountain, but our citizens well know that is a difficult road to travel at all seasons, and often impassable. It is the highest and most rugged mountain in this part of the State. By way of Muncy, there is, after leaving that place, 26 miles of bad roads. Eight or ten journeys of this kind in all seasons, and the holding of twelve regular terms, with special cases and argument courts, and work at chambers is enough to wear
