But now, when a Democratic House proposes to make a fair apportionment that will give each party a fair representation according to the votes of the respective parties, it is called gerrymandering. Its a poor rule that wont work both ways.

HISTORY OF THE CRIME.

The story of this crime is one of coldblooded murder by a woman who was form. In the early hours of morning of April 27, 1880, the dead body of Alice Meaker was discovered by Sheriff Atherton, of Waterbury, lying in a dark swamp in the outskirts of the ad-joining town of Duxbury, under a mass of muck and brush. The news of the murder created great excitement throughout a large section of country. The atrocity of the crime aronsed in-tense public indignation against the perpetrators.

The correspondent of an esteemed contemporary in the West has been making a study of our nice, well dress-ed President. He concludes that the ed that the government could stand Jackson's clay pipe and Jefferson's woolen socks, but it is questionable if it will long retain much strength if it is to be dressed in a new bonnet with fancy strings and paraded on Eas-ter morning as the best dressed administration that has yet been exhibited. Perhaps they are expecting too much of Mr. Arthur. It cannot be expected that when a man gives a great deal of time to the cut of his trousers and the color of his button-hole bouquet that he wants to bother about anything else. The President's duty is to look pretty ; if he succeeds in that he has no time to waste .- Times.

A priest known as Brother Frank, at Buffalo, N. Y. was convicted on Saturday of committing an assault on a little girl seven years old. He took her to his room to give her candy, and it i alleged there committed the outrage. In passing sentence the court reviewed the case and stated that other of-fenses of the kind had also been com-mitted by the defendant, who was not an ignorant man, but one enjoying all the advantages of education and access to refined society. He could not but feel compassion for the fallen man but. neverthe less, upon the finding of the jury he had a judicial duty to perform. He, therefore, imposed a sentence of five years in the state prison at Auburn, the maximum allowed by the statutes. The prisoner was composed through out. The convicted man has been presi dent of St. Joseph College, a strong Catholic institution, for a number of years, and was formerly a teacher in castern cities and has borne a good reputation in all but the question of temper. Those charitably disposed urge that he must be insane. He has a sister in the asylum for the insane. At the time of his arrest he was suspended from his position in the college.

The appointment of a new Treasurer has rendered necessary the counting of the money in the United States Treasury. There is one billion of dollars, and counted dollar by dollar at the rate of $200 a minute, day and night, it would take ten years to count it. As it is not all one dollar bills, and many make the public believe that he did not hands are engaged in counting, the work will take but a few weeks.

The Demonstration of Backson in the spoil in the spoil of the spo making a study of our nice, well-dress-ed President. He concludes that the President's only constituency is "a parcel of young, marriageable women and an old society matron, who re-marks after the President has gone away, that he has not committed a sin-gle mistake in point of etiquette during the evening." The conclusion is reach-ed that the government could stand Jackson's clay pipe and Jefferson's woolen socks, but it is questionable if merged in the Democratic party and has ever oppposed centralization in all its forms and consequences, "the result of the theory of the West Indian adven-turer, who was not American by birth nor aught but aristocratic in sentiment or action." The neighbors seldom saw Alice, but frequently in passing the house they were alarmed by hearing the shrill cry of a child. Stories of
