Friday night March 23, the house of Mr. Bruce Sutliff of Sugarloaf township was urned and it was supposed that there were $585.00 in gold burnt with it as there was that amount in it at the time, which belonged to his brother W. Then it was supposed it was stolen and the house burnt by the thief as there was no one at home on the night of the fire.

The History.

The Danville Intelligencer says of the His clearly written, and evidences much care and great labor in its preparation, and is calculated to afford all the information needed in relation to this important county Some one hundred and fifty pages of the work is devoted to an exhaustive narrative and review of the invasion and armed occupation of the county. All the facts in nnection with it are drawn from official ources, and Col. Freeze in enlarging on the subject has proved himself a faithful chronicler of one of the most momentous vents that ever happened in old Columbia. Altogether, we commend this history to our readers, satisfied that they will feel gratified on its perusal. The finest display of diamonds, gem jewelry and precious stones generally which has been made in this city since the Centennial Exhibition-if indeed, it was then equaled in any single exhibit-is now to be seen at Bailey, Banks & Biddle's. The centre piece of the collection is a set of diamond jewelry, consisting of necklace, carrings and lace-pin, contaning in all 210 large brilliants of the first quality, fortyeight of which are critically matched pairs. In the pendant of the necklace, mounted in exquisite taste is one stone of matchles fire and purity, weighing twelve carats. This set is valued at $45,000, and its surroundings are worthy of its value and magnificence. Upon a cushion are ten pairs of matched unmounted diamonds, worth $30,-000, while near these on a tray are five little heaps of loose précions stones of various kinds, sorted according to color. In a bewildering variety of beautiful jewelry may be particularly noted a case of rings of colored gems mounted in combination with diamonds. The collection includes, besides diamonds, rubies, sapphires, pearls of several hues, emeralds, opals, Alexandrites, ja cinths, ents'-eyes, etc., and the value of the whole is over half a million dollars. The nountings are after special designs by Balley, Banks & Biddle, -Press,

Although much is said about the impor-tance of a blood-purifying medicine, it may be possible that the subject has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it most:
