Most persons have an ambition to carry how a watch case is made, or the vast differences in the quality of them. In a SoLID GOLD WATCH CASE, aside from the neceseary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus is not only needless, but undesirable, because gold is a soft metal and cannot furnish the stiffness, strength and elasticity necessary to make the case permanently strong and close-fitting. The perfect watch case must combine gold with some metal that will supply that in which the gold is deficient. This has been accomplished by the Jama Bost Gold Watch Case, and M. Press which see the wasses of weatare gold, and iner a the so at y and STRENGTH OF the case, and at the same time reduces the cost own mater.
