The End of the Rebel Yell Issue.

During the last Presidential cam paign there was no small amount of frothy eloquence over the "Solid South" and the wicked rebels. Until the tariff issue was sprung late in the canvass it was the chief stock in trade of the Republican orators and became a sort of national nuisauce.

There is no probability that we will be afflicted with it in next year's campaign. The republicans can no longer make any use of that issue without hurting the feelings of some of their

If the Mahone conference which met in Washington did any good whatever it was in disarming the Republicans of this ancient and now blunt-edge instru-mers was a rebel brigadier, Longstreet was a rebel brigadier, Cash was a rebel colonel, and most of the other participants were at some time or other ad-orned with a rebel uniform.

The presence of these men in the Republican party is a sufficient guaran-tee that we shall hear no more of the windy tirades against rebels and the danger of putting them in power.

The Mahone alliance with the Republican party is, therefore, in this sense at least, a genuine public service. The rebel yell, of which George William Curtis and other Republican orators used to speak with horror, is now no longer solely a Democratic yell. It will henceforth burst out from Republican throats also, and the ears to which in Egypt since the outbreak of the epilic was once so harsh will hence listen to demic. There have been 140 deaths is it were sweet must with delight, as if it were sweet must be demic. There have been 140 deaths advance over the purchasing price. The story is a significant one.

Niles on Apportionment.

The republican county conventions, which are run either by the small subbosses under instructions from Boss Cooper or that class of politicians fitly described by Horace Greely as "narrow minded block heads," are rushing heedlessly into endorsement of the revolutionary policy of the senate in blocking those who generally compose those con-ventions were not so dense they would esitate before committing themselves against the position on apportionment taken by the gentleman who heads their own state ticket. On April 3, 1888, Mr. Jerome B. Niles, now the republican candidate for auditor general, arose in his place in the house of reprearose in his place in the house of representatives and began a speech on congressional apportionment in the following language:

"I agree with the members on the other side of the house that it is the duty of this legislature to pass a bill districting the state into congressional districts.

He then went on to criticise the de mocratic congressional apportionment bill, complaining chiefly of the Indiana district as not being actually republican and of the Huntingdon districts as not having sufficient republican majority. But, mark, he distinctly and emphatically declared it to be "the duty of this legislature to pass a bill districting the state into congressional districts. In concluding his speech he undertook to read the democratic side of the house lecture in regard to its duty, in these words: "I say it is your duty to forget your party and go upon the broad prin-ciples of patriotism and right regardless of where the chips shall fall." These words are like apples of gold in pic-tures of silver, but Mr. Niles fails to apply the precept they contain to his own conduct in the house, and the republican county conventions, with an audacity surely born of ignorance, en-dorse the gerrymandered bills of the senate and the revolutionary ultimatum based upon them. Mr Niles again in speech in the house of representatives on the legislative apportionment bill, April 10, took occasion to say : "Now, I agree with what was said by the democratic party in their last state convention, which met at this place on the 28th of June, 1882, representing the assembled wisdom of the democratic party of this state. The demo-cratic party demands of the legislature an honest, just and true congressional and legislative apportionment. I agree with the democratic party that it is the gressional apportionment."

Mr. Niles thus twice put himself on tive ultimatum and thus prevents the legislature from performing what Mr. Niles insists is its duty. Mr. Niles declared on April 3 that it was the duty of the democrats to "forget party and go upon the broad principles of patriot-ism and right" in making apportionrepublicans who do not propose to train under the Cameron banner this year any more than they did last, and in connection with this fact that the York Gazette observes that the woods are ty caucus orders senators, according to them in many parts of the state. ty caucus orders senators, according to their own confession, to support a partisan bill confessedly and shamelessly gate about $3,500,000. The total anzard. Mr. Niles proclaimed that on April 10 that he agreed with the demoeratic party that it is "the duty of this legislature to pass an honest, a just and a true legislative and congressio-nal apportionment bill." The objec-tions he then presented to the democratic bills have since been removed and therefore he must admit them to be honest, just and true" bills. But. the republican senate refuses even to conider those bills, amended as they have been to meet the views of Mr. Niles, and that gentleman himself sits in his seat and votes against them without a word of explanation. The conduct of the republican leaders, including Mr. Niles, is undoubtedly based on the low estimate they put on the intelligence of their own party and in this regard they have certainly done no injustice to the class who serve as delegates to republi can county conventions .- Patriot

Griefs of a Backslider.

From the Pittsburg Post. The reverses of Colonel McClure these days should have the sympathy prophecy on the Berks county demo-cracy, but they refused to honor it, and prophe in various ways expressed their confi-dence in the state administration, and with unusual emphasis and unanimity. Thereupon the colonel pronounces the democracy of "Ault Berks" a bad lot, and that Cassidy is their prophet, which is very bad for the Cassidy if he has senatorial aspirations. Simultaneously with the bad taste for Berks, comes the explosion of the Times' double leaded sensation that at a conference of lead ing democrats, Governor Pattison was forced to his marrow bones, begged for mercy etc. This had the distinguished honor of being denounced as a lie on the floor of the senate on Wednesday by the alleged participants in the alleg-ed conference. THE RESOLUTION THAT THE DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE -ADOPTED.

The conference of the democratic sen ators and representatives Tuesday af-ternoon was held in the state library and was largely attended. Mr. Craw-ford, in the absence of Uncle Jake legislation on the subject of apportion-ment. Perhaps if the ignorance of adopted a resolution to the effect "that it is the sense of this meeting that there shall be no adjournment until the apportionments are made." This was agreed to, there being but sixteen votes against it. An amendment to the resolution—that a recess be taken until the 20th of November withtaken until the 20th of November with-out pay was supported by the sixteen who voted against the first proposition. The discussion was long and partici-pated in by nearly every one present. Senator Gordon made the leading ad-dress, a stirring appeal for the demo-erats to stand well together and apportionment must result.

A proposition was made to the effect that appropriation bills be passed and compensation be given to Septem-ber 10th, and that after that date no pay until the bills are passed. This was postponed for the present.

The conference considered some minor matters and then adjourned without day.

Judge Black's Will.

YORK, September 3 .- The will of Jeremiah S. Black was admitted to probate at York on Monday. It consists of twelve closely written pages. The executors are Vincent K. Keesey, Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black and Isham H. Hornsby, and the witnesses are General S. W. Crawford, Melinda C. Wilhelm and Horace Keesey. The will is considered very verbose b attorneys who have examined it and quite curious for so great a man to make. It was written at his dictation and each page bears the Judge's plain left-hand signature. The family request that its provisions shall not be made public. After making special bequests to all his children the undistributed portion, including Brockie, is eft to the widow, and at her death Lieutenant Governor Black is to have the acceptance or refusal of it at a fixed valuation. The will is dated February 21, 1883. The estate is estimated at about $200,000.

The inhabitants of Bellefonte speculate on their chances of having a population of forty thousand within the next five years. In commenting on this, the Journal has the following to say of its city: "We hope all will turn out favorably. Lock Haven sits in all her majesty, allowing her good manufacturing sites to lie idle, her people move elsewhere, and money sharks run the ranche. It's true, and you can't get over it." Lock Haven seems to be in a very bad condition if the Journal man's specs are not discolored.

A salt water turtle, weighing 500 pounds, was captured Sanday at the mouth of the Spurwink River, Maine, by two brothers named Jordan. It seems the monster got tangled in the nets these men had set, and they fas-tened to the turtle and towed him shore. Monday they brought him into the city, and sold him to Captain Howard Knowlton, for his garden at Peaks' Island. The price paid for the turtle was $50. So broad is the shell of this monster that four boys found room to stand thereon, and the turtle was strong enough to crawl along with this load.
