Notice to Subscribers Outside the County.

About two weeks ago statements were sent out to every subscriber outside of the county who owes anything on subscription. Up to to this time but very few have responded. As we have to pay postage on all such papers we must insist on a compliance with our terms which are strictly in advance. We cannot afford to pay the postage on the papers, send several bills and pay postage on them, and then run the risk of losing the subscription money besides. Our request is but fair, and as very few have complied with it, we are forced to give notice that all papers going outside of the county that are not paid for by October 15th will be stopped. We dislike to print duns in the paper, but when our private requests are ignored there is no other alternative.

His cries for help immediately brought a crowd of people, who removed the earth and fearried him into Mr. Gilmore's house. He was considerably bruised and his one side partly paralyzed.

Sixpenny, tenpenny, and such othe terms, as applied to nails, have reference to weight and not to price. Nalls are made a certain number of pounds to the thousand. A tenpenny nail is a thousand nails to ten pounds, a sixpenny nail is a thousand nails to six pounds, etc. The Englishman abbreviates pounds "pun"-tenpun, and hence tenpenny.

TUNNELING FROM ONE MINE TO ANOTH-En.-Coxe Bros. & Co. are about starting a great undertaking, the driving of a fivemile tunnel under ground. They have lately re-opened the old Reese slope at Beaver Meadow, and propose tunneling from it to the No. 8 mine, and then from there will tunnel from Mud Run to Quakake, a distance of five tailes across the spring and a ridge of the Buck Mountains.

They expect by the success of this undertaking to gain command of two very extensive coal fields now regarded as lost.

One of the most careless things that man can do, says an exchange, is to leave his horse untied. It matters not how een tle the horse may be, or what his record is for remaining where stopped, he is liable o be seared almost at any time on a thoroughfare, and a runaway is a frightful sight, even when it is unaccompanied by njury to man or beast. It does not cost anything to tie him, and it is always safe and prudent to do so.

While in Bloomsburg recently we put ip at that justly popular hostelry, the Exchange Hotel, than which there is none etter in the interior of the State. Mr. W. R. Tubbs, the genial and social proprietor, is a thorough landlord, his employees are ourteous and obliging, while the cuisine is irst-class in every respect. We are pleased to chronicle the fact that all Miltonian ut up at that excellent hotel when visitng Bloomsburg, and all speak in the highest terms commendatory of the treatment received there. - Argus.

William McKelyy Hess, son of Mrs. J. H Harman, died on Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock aged 25 years, 8 months and lay. For several years he has been suffering from consumption, but was confined to the house only a few weeks before his death. He was a young man of excellent business habits, and fine social qualities which made him friends wherever he went. Though Death is no respecter of persons, it seems peculiarly and when one is cut down in the flower of his youth, with everyhing before him to make life desirable. Some of the papers have adopted the ale of charging for notices of festivals or announcements of any kind to which an admittance fee is charged. This ought to be the universal rule, but it is one very difficult to establish. People expect newspaper to publish all notices and anuncements of that character without charge, and yet we doubt very much whether the newspaper which publishes uch announcements without charge is ver thanked or remembered for its genersity. It is in such matters as it is in polities, the newspaper is the burden bearer, but some one gets away with the material profits of the load it carries. - Independent

The sentence we will impose upon you will be not so severe as we might impose, for you have run the risk by these larcenies of going to the penitentiary for apperiod of three years; Hereafter you had better pursue an honest course, and endeavor to tence of the court is that you, Charles Ham ton, pay a fine of ten dollars to the comnonwealth and the costs of prosecution in be case of larceny of Mrs. Webb's property, and undergo imprisonment in the jail of Columbia county for the period of sixty days, and stand committed until this entence is complied with ; and in the ase of the larceny of the property of Wiliam Rawlings the sentence of the court s that you pay a fine of ten dollars to the ommonwealth, and the costs of prosecuion, and undergo imprisonment in the all of Columbia county for a period of sixty days commencing immediately after the termination of the sentence just pronounced, and that you's tand committed until this Sentence is complied with.

Charles Cook was then called up.

Judge-You have the privilege if you

The verdict of the jury convicted you of in offense of a heinous character. Your conduct was such that it is almost impossible to think that you were in your right nind. The idea of taking that little girl in he open daylight in the highway, tying per hands and tying her to the fence while her stockings were removed, and then unlertaking to wade across the creek with her, without any other interference with ier person, is unaccountable-it was cerainly a very strange proceeding upon your part. The jury were compelled to come to he conclusion that your intention was to have an intercourse with that little girl something more than ten years of age. You did nothing else to show that was your motive ; but you committed a gross assault and battery upon her by tying her hands and but for the fact that there were boys bout there, it is uncertain what would ne child for whom we feel great sympathy. Your conduct was of a character that the trial that you had hitherto maintained ounishment that we will inflict upon you will induce you hereafter to conduct yourself in every respect as a good citizen. We nave concluded to pronounce u on you a sentence, which is really, under the circumstances a merciful one. The sentence of the court is that you, Charles Cook, pay fine of ten dollars to the commonwealth and the costs of prosecution. that you un lergo imprisonment by separate or solitary onfinement at labor in the eastern penitentiary for the term of one year and nine

James D. Terwilliger and Charles Mc Dowell, come before the court. Do you desire to any anything to the court in reference to this case.

TERWILLIGER-No. sir.

McDowm L-No. sir. The jury were compelled to come to the conclusion that you young men laid the plan of robbing Levi Michael of his money The circumstances pointed so clearly your guilt that, although they would glad y have acquitted you of that charge, they were forced to the conclusion that you saw this man intoxicated at Lightstreet, thought als money could easily be got from him and being somewhat drunk already and readily o be made more so, provided yourselve's with the means of doing that, and followed nim to Espy and across the river. It is not probable that you had any idea of being compelled to use force in order to get his mony; but, finding some resistance on his part one of you did inflict upon him olence which might have terminated faally and you might have been placed upon rial for a much more beinous offense even than highway robbery. He was left senseess upon his wagon ; if his horse had gone on with his lumbre, Mr. Michael might have been thrown off and been killed. You eft him insensible upon his wagon, and took from him that which was of value to him, some one hundred and forty dol-

You have sustained, both of you, accordig to the evidence, good characters hereofore; but in an evil moment you allowed ourselves to be tempted by what you beieved to be an opportunity to get money wrongfully; instigated by an evil spirit, you allowed yourselves to be led away to enmit this wicked deed. You are still young men. It is a painful task for the ourt to impose the sentence of the law. It s not our sentence; it is what the law re juires, what the wisdom of those who leg slate for us has provided. You may yet strieve your character ; it is not necessary that you should consider that your man good is entirely lost because you are comnitted to prison; but if hereafter you shall s heretofore, behave yourselves as good citizens, I have no doubt that upon all hands you would be welcomed back into society and all be glad of your reformation. Your own thoughts suggest to you all that it would be proper for us to say in reference to this matter. We doubt not you feel penitent, regret the act more perhaps beacuse of its wickedness than because of the punish. ment that it brings down upon you. The sentence of the court is that you lames D. Famous for Sleeping Four Months John Gyumber, the Hungarian who sevral years ago achieved almost a national reputation as a long-time sleeper, was married, recently, at Allentown. The bride is a woman about twenty-five years of age, and for several months she was cook in the Hungarian boarding house. The wed ling created quite a stir among the friends of the couple, and after the words were spoken which made them husband and wife, the entire party repaired to the Hungarian quarter, where amid feasting and drinking the event was celebrated. Six barrels of beer were furnished for the wedding. Gyumber will set up a boarding house with his bride as chief cook.

Charles Price, a helper in the nail works t Sunbury and another young man named Shrunk, visited the Snyder county side of the river, using a small boat for the pur pose. It is stated they both imbibed pretty freely, and started for home about half-pas six o'clock. The half of the return trip was made in safety, when at the place where the water is known to be very deep, it being a point opposite the second pier of the new Reading railroad bridge near this side of the river, Price got up from his sent in the boat. Shrunk says he advised him to sit down, when he remarked, as he straightened himself, "Good-bye, Bill." Then getting into a stooping position, he sprang from the boat into the river and sank beneath the waves. Shrunk called loudly for help and was towed into shore. Instant assistance was given him, but the drowning man could not be seen, his body failing to come up. Price, the drowned man is said to be from Reading, and his relative a also reside there. Furnace Village, Wayne Co., N. Y. March 3, 1882. March 3, 1882.

Gents—Fifteen years ago I had a very evere attack of rheumatism, which settled n my back and hips, and much of the ime for the last five years I have been unable to attend to my business: for weeks and weeks at a time I have been unable to turn in my bed or to feed myself. I have tried many remedies, and two years ago I consulted one of the most celebrated phycians in the State, who pronounced didney disease, but I grew worse all the ime during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended and I tried it, and before I had used two pottles all pain had left me, and to-day can get about and am able to attend to my usiness, and am improving rapidly every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease.
