With this number begins Volume 18 of the Columbian. During the coming year we hope to still further improve the paper, and make it more and more worthy of the patronage which it has hitherto received. Our subscribers can help us in this by saying a good word when opportunity offers, and thus aid in increasing our circulation. We hope to secure 500 new subscribers by spring, and we shall then give our readers the benefit of this, by giving more reading matter and less advertising.

If you have any stumps that you want to get out of the way cheaply and with no hard work, bore a hole in the top one o two inches in diameter, according to the girth of the stump, and about eight inches deep, put into it one or two ounces of saltpetre, fill the hole up with water and plug it close. Next spring take out the plug and pour in a gill of kerosene oil and ignite it. It is said that the stump will then smoulder away to the very extremity of

The comet of 1812, which is again on a visit to this solar system, can be seen with the naked eye on a clear, dark night in the northwest. It is necessary, however, to look intently at the heavens for some tim before the celestial wanderer will show it self, as the comet is only just becoming discernible without a glass, though with the aid of a telescope it has been visible for more than three months. The comet which is also known as the Pons Brooks omet, was discovered in 1812 by Professor Pons, the French astronomer, and was re discovered on September 3rd last by Prolessor Brooks, of the Red House Observaory, at Phelps, in New York State. It is thus demonstrated that it is a regular mem ber of the solar system and returns at periods of about seventy years. It will be brightest on January 25, 1884, when it will be nearest the sun, though at a distance of 73,000,000 miles. It is not so brilliant as many other comets, but being periodic, is an interesting object of study to astrono
