The opinion of Judge Rice in the sewer injunction case is printed in full in this number. It discusses the whole subject, and the effect of it is that the council have the right to lay the sewer where they please, but the injunction is continued because of a defective bill not showing that the change from the Market street route was properly made. When the record is amended a motion may be made to dissolve the injunction. Now that the Council has learned of the objection to the proposed course, and that the town may not be able to obtain any money from the Normal School if the Market street route is abandoned, they should be sure they are right before going ahead. The course that will give the best sewerage, and that will be of the most benefit to the greatest number of people is the one that should be followed.

Under the act of 1883, it may not be generally known, persons committing jail can be discharged without the roundabout and expensive proceedings of the insolvent laws. Upon the order of Court or a Law Judge in chambers the County Commissioners may direct the discharge of convicts at the end of their terms of imprisonment, or those who are committed for non-payment of costs, without such payment or the payment of the same. This provision, providing their insolvency is established by their own affidavit and otherwise to the satisfaction of the Commissioners. This practically deprives courts and juries of the power to punish by imposing fines or costs, in case the defendant or other party aimed at is not worth the amount.

The Lutheran Church appreciates the talents, worth, and deep piety of their young Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Irvin Winters, whose efforts are a success. Slighting parties going out from this place are too numerous to mention.

On the morning of the 16th inst. at the family of H. B. Angle were quietly performing the duties of the day, they were startled by the door-bell being violently rung. The summons was answered by the lady of the house who found there two lady friends who monopolized her attention for some time, and then going to the window, exclaimed in an excited manner: "Oh, Aunt Mary, look here!" And she looked and saw loads upon loads of people and baskets. The people were soon all in the house and the baskets in the kitchen, where the contents of the baskets were, such chicken, cakes and pies; with oysters, coffee, and other delicacies too numerous to mention. It was Mrs. Angle's birthday. The party, eighty-four in number, all seemed to enjoy themselves most heartily. The time was passed with plays in which all participated, interspersed with music, both vocal and instrumental, and the grand dinner. Rev. H. C. H. Cattell of Berwick, honored the party by assisting to wait upon all of the tables which was no small matter; for, in addition to the fifty-eight who came in sleighs, there were from Berwick and Nesquehony, a number of friends in Epy were invited by the party, and all together there were about one hundred and twenty guests.

The party was over the guests going home, and I heard mine host and hostess say "Two ladies not so surprised, and we hope that they may again be the next time." All come again no far distant day. Osk who was There.

J. W. K. Jackson and Vicinity Notes.

The health of this community is generally good, no sickness to report, except colds, which are prevalent in all communities, at this time of year.

Mr. German, Esq. tied the matrimonial knot on Saturday evening last between Mr. Lloyd Albertson and Miss Elizabeth Lockart, both of Greenwood.

We understand that D. W. Parker and Lloyd Albertson have purchased a new engine and shingle mill, and that they will soon have it in successful operation, near Mr. Alvin Cole's grist mill.

We understand the business of a vintner writing up items for a vicinity is to report accidents, removals, deaths, etc., and such items of a general character as are interesting to the public generally.

Therefore we will refer our readers to the correspondent of the Republican in Philadelphia, who says to-day, "A. J. Der's clerk. Now we would suggest, Mr. Pilgrim, that you take another text, as the people generally think that dissonance worn out."

Again "Mr. Pilgrim" seems to be troubled about the future prosperity, politically of some other parties. We wonder if he has in his mind that young Republican from Jackson, who we have been credibly informed is an applicant for the appointment of Mercantile Appraiser next year. We are not much of a prophet but we make this prediction and ask him to stick a pin here, viz. that when the Mercantile Appraiser is being made, a year ago next spring, the young man will be following the plow, or in the house singing a lullaby song.

Elder M. S. Blair of Blainebach, Centre Co., is holding a two week's meeting at the Christian Chapel in Jackson.

We have not heard of the lost dog described as yet, but from the minute description given of the same, we would think that we could find it.

If it leaves a singed round spot. If the carpet is a good one it will burn off the singed spot without the least trace of the burn being after visible.
