SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE MEN WHO STAND CLOSEST TO THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Visitors, who from curiosity or business, have called at the White House, must have been impressed by the courteous yet systematic manner with which they were received and escorted through the mansion. The gentlemen whose duty it is to receive all persons coming to the White House are Colonel E. S. Denmore, Mr. John T. Rickard and Mr. T. F. Pendel, and they have occupied their present positions through the various administrations since and even during the war. Mr. Pendel was President Lincoln's bodyguard; saw him to his carriage the fatal night on which he visited Ford's theatre, and he now has in his possession the blood-stained coat which Mr. Lincoln wore on that memorable occasion. There is not a public man in America to-day who does not know, and who is not known by these gentlemen, and the reminiscences of public and social life which they can recount would fill a congressional volume. During the weary yet exciting years of the war; through the more peaceful times of Grant's administration; while Hayes held the reins of Goverement, and when Garfield was shot, it was these men who stood in the executive mansion, welcoming the advent of each new administration, bowing at its departure, and receiving both martyrs through its portals.

During that long, hot and never to be forgotten summer when President Garfield lay between "two worlds," the nation became aware of the deadly malarial influence which hung about the White House. But all through that period these three men never deserted their posts for a single day, although each one was suffering intensely. In conversation with the writer, Colonel Densmore said:

"It is impossible to describe the tortures I have undergone. To be compelled to smile and treat the thousands of visitors who come here daily with courtesy when one is in the greatest agony requires a tremendous effort. All that summer I had terrible headaches, heart burn and a stifling sensation that sometimes took away my breath. My appetite was uncertain and I felt severe pains in the small of my back. I was under the doctor's care with strict instructions not to go out of the house but I remained on duty nevertheless. You would be surprised to know the amount of quinine I took; on some days it was as much as sixteen grains."

"And was Mr. Rickard badly off, too?"

"I should think he was. Why, time and again we have picked him up and laid him on the mantel, here in the vestibule, he was so used up."

"Yes," exclaimed Mr. Rickard. "I was so weak I could not rise after lying down without the aid of two canes, and then in a stooping position. Oh, we have been in a pretty bad condition here, all of us."

And yet you are all the embodiment of health," said the writer, as he looked at the three bright and vigorous men before him.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Rickard, we have not known what sickness was for more than a year."

"Have you some secret way of overcoming malaria and its attendant horrors?"

"I think we have a most certain way," replied Colonel Densmore, "but it is no secret. You see about two years ago my wife began to grow blind, and I was alarmed at her condition. She finally became so she could not tell whether a person were white or black at a distance of ten feet. One of her lady friends advised her to try a certain treatment that had done wonders for her and to make a long story short, she did so and was completely cured. This induced me to try the same means for my own restoration and as soon as I found it was doing me good I recommended it to my associates and we have all been cured right here in the stronghold of malaria and kept in health ever since by means of Warner's Safe Cure. Now I am not a believer in medicines in general, but I do not hesitate to say that I am satisfied I should have died of Bright's disease of the kidneys before this had it not been for this wonderful remedy. Indeed, I use it as a household medicine and give it to my children whenever they have any ailments."

"Yes," exclaimed Mr. Pendel, "I use it in my family all the while and have found it the most efficient remedy we have ever employed. I know of very many public men who are using it to-day and they all speak well of it."

"I weigh 160 pounds to-day," said Mr. Rickard, "and when my physicians told me over a year ago I could not hope to recover I weighed 122 pounds. Under such influences you cannot wonder that I consider this the best medicine before the American people."

The above statements from these gentlemen need no comments. They are voluntary and outspoken expressions from sources which are the highest in the land. Were there the slightest question regarding their authenticity they would not be made public, but as they furnish such valuable truths for all who are suffering, we unhesitatingly publish them for the good of all.

INGROWING TOE-NAILS.—For ingrowing toe-nails begin the effort at cure by simple application of solution to the tender part of a small quantity of perchloride of iron. It is found in drug stores in fluid form, though sometimes in powder. There is immediatey a sensation of pain, constriction or burning. In a few minutes the afflicted portion is felt to be dried up, tanned or mummified, and it ceases to be painful. The patient who before could not put his foot to the floor, now finds that he can walk upon it without pain. By permitting the hardened woodlike flesh to remain two or three weeks, it can be easily removed by soaking the foot in warm water. A new and healthy structure is found below. If, thereafter, the nails be no more cut around the corners or sides, but always curved across the front end, they will in future grow only forward; and by wearing a shoe of reasonable good size and shape, all further trouble will be avoided.

FEED TO GET EGGS.—Hens cannot make eggs out of nothing any more than your tailor can produce a suit of clothes from your shadow. To give good returns in eggs the fowls must have more than barely food enough to sustain life. Feed them liberally and remember that they are as fond of variety as you are. Bones and oyster shells pounded fine supply a needed element for egg production.

A French investigator finds that, in proportion to its size, the bee can pull thirty times as much weight as a horse. He probably got his idea from the great power with which a bee can push.

Labor North and South.

General John B. Gordon (who succeeded to the command of "Stonewall" Jackson upon the latter's death,) gave this interesting talk on the relative condition of labor North and South, a few days ago: "I have no hesitation in saying, sir, that the colored man today in the South is, take it all in all, much better paid for his labor and much better fed and housed than the laboring man in any part of the world. Colored labor is chiefly on the cotton plantations. A laborer gets on an average $10 a month, and his hours of labor are at no season of the year excessive. Now $10 a month does not look like a very large sum up here, but see what it means. It means, if the laborer cares to hold it clean, net profit to his credit. And I may be permitted to say that our people deserve great praise for that system which produces this result. You see, the land is divided up in this way. First of all there are the land owners, who let it on lease or work the land at their pleasure. Then there are those who lease the land and work it—either by regular payments to the laborers of a given sum or by a stipulated share in the crop. Thus the laborers are at liberty either to draw their money from month to month or to leave their wages stand, take its worth in cotton at the end of the season, and sell on their own account, or they may take part money and part cotton. Meanwhile they, with the families, live on the plantation rent free. They have their house and their patch, where they may cultivate enough corn, vegetables, potatoes and fruits to supply the family during the year. They have firing free. They can rear their chickens or their pigs. They have a cow to give them milk, and if not they have their milk free from the cattle of the owner or lessee. Moreover, they have their rations free—of bacon, bread, molasses or whatever it may be—and their money from month to month or at the end of a season, as I have said. They have a magnificent climate, which is just adapted to them. Their clothing is cheap and they need little of it. Compare the condition of the laborer up here who receives his $30 $40 or even $50 a month with that of the negro laborer on the plantation. What with rent and clothing, food and fuel, it is much harder for the laborer here to save money, while he does not live nearly as well as the man on the plantation; and I say again, our people deserve great praise for the system which so arranges labor as to produce this condition of things."

Remedies for Headache.

The following recipes and suggestions for the treatment of different forms of headache are collected from a variety of trustworthy sources: Two grains citrate of caffeine, in capsule, taken every half hour, is a very effectual remedy in nervous and sick headache. One or two doses are often sufficient to give complete relief. The only objection to its use is sleeplessness, which sometimes results if it is taken in the evening. It is probable to guarana, as being hardly ever rejected by the stomach. The following according to Dr. W. W. Carpenter, is very effectual in most forms of headache; Muriate of ammonia, three drachms; acetate of morphia, one grain; citrate of caffeine, thirty grains, aromatic spirits of ammonia, one drachm; elixir of guarana, four ounces; rose water, four ounces. Mix. Dessertspoonful every ten or twelve minutes. In nervous headache, Dr. W. A. Hammond states the value of various drugs as follows: Oxide of zinc is of great value. Ordinary dose, two grains, three times a day, after meals; maximum dose, five grains. It is best given in form of pills. Nux vomica is preferable to strychnia. The dose is one-quarter grain, after meals. If the patient be chlorotic it is well to combine a grain of reduced iron and half a grain of sulphate of quinine. Bismuth, in the form of subcarbonate, will often take the place of oxide of zinc. Dose, two grains, after each meal. Bismuth probably aids digestion more than any mineral tonic, and is of use when there is gastric disturbance. The bromines are serviceable when the nervous system has been irritated; when it is exhausted, they do harm. Phosphorus is very useful in most forms of nervous headache. The best results are obtained from dilute phosphoric acid, in doses of thirty drops, largely diluted, three times a day, after eating, or phosphide of zinc, 0.10 grain, in pill, three times a day. Arsenic as a nerve tonic, stands next in value to zinc. Dose, five drops of Fowler's solution, three times a day, after meals. Galvanism is sometimes valuable, but by no means a specific. The constant current should always be used, being careful to avoid too great intensity, lest amaurosis be produced.

Thousands Hastened to their Graves!

Relying on testimonials written in vivid glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that the same miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cures, while the so called medicine is all the time hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have

of them, of the most wonderful cures, voluntarily sent us. It is our medicine, Hop Bitters that makes the cures. It has never failed and never can. We will give reference to any one for any disease similar to their own if desired, or will refer to any neighbor, as there is not a neighborhood in the known world but can show its cures by Hop Bitters.

A LOSING JOKE.

A prominent physician of Pittsburg said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A LADY'S WISH.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By use of Hop Bitters that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did for me as you observe."

GIVEN UP BY THE DOCTORS

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago the doctors gave him up and said he must die, from Kidney and Liver trouble!"
