BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1884

Powell Clayton of Arkansas, who was selected by the National Committee for temporary chairman of the Repub-lican Convention at Chicago, was de-feated when his name was brought before the Convention, by 44 votes. John R. Lynch, a colored man of Mississippi was elected temporary chairman. It has been the general custom for the National Committee to select the chairman and the convention ratify it, but the departure from this custom this time was brought about partly by friends of President Arthur, and also with a view of capturing the colored votes at the November election.

The Philadelphia Record, followed by the other city dailies, is making vig-orous and just warfare on the anthracite coal monopolists and transportation companies, who have run up the price of coal from $2.50 to $4 a ton before and during the early years of the war to $6.50 at this time. The tax is an onerous one and its severity falls upon the poor, and to maintain such prices, by diminishing the supply, coal monop-olists have just ordered a suspension of mining for half the month of June. The high prices discriminate not only against the householders, but the manufacturers of the eastern part of the state, and the worst of this is that the anthracite is sold cheaper to rival .nterests outside the state than to Philadelphia manutacturers. The dangerous power of monopoly was never more dangerously or injuriously exercised than it is now being exercised by this conscienceless coal monopoly.—Ex.

The law officers of Lackawanna county started in with a great flourish a week or two ago to prosecute the fif-teen hundred of two thousand participants in a brutal prize fight. The Judge issued his instructions to the District Attorney to let no guilty escape. The District Attorney. it is said, at once hired detectives to collect evidence against those present and by the stir that was made it might have been supposed that the Lackawanna Jail would be packed like a sardine box with the prominent citizens who were to be sent up if they did not pay the fine imposed by law. Had all the fines been collected there would have been collected there would have been enough money to run the Lackawanna county government for several years without any taxation of property. Great things were promised at first, but the scheme was too big. First, the Judge weakened and suggested that perhaps it would be just as well to indict the principals and not disturb the two thousand spectators. The outcome of the whole thing was that the grand jury failed to indict even the two principals because they could not secure sufficient testimony, although the Judge sufficient testimony, although the Judge | 000 damages. said there were persons before the grand jury who could have given all the information necessary to secure an indictment. In view of this fact, Judge Handley's remark that justice is slow seems eminently appropriate, ! ut when he adds that it is sure the lovers of justice will hope that justice everywhere does not have to depend upon the sort of officers that attend prize-fights and cannot be made to testify to the facts in court .- Phila Times.

G. A. R. AGAINST GRANT'S PENSION.

The Coleman Asbury Post of Ohio forwarded to the House of Representatives, the other day, the following preamble and resolutions, which its mem bers had just adopted :

Whereas, The Senate of the United States has passed a resolution to place Gen. U. S. Grant on the retired list of the army, with full rank and pay of General of the Army:

And whereas, The said Gen. Grant

has been highly honored by the people of the United States, insomuch that he has been twice elected to the honored position of President of the United states, for which services as President Gen. Grant received the magnificent sum of $300,000;

And whereas, The wealthy and generously disposed citizens of the cities of New York and Philadelphia have subscribed and placed in trust a further magnificent sum of $250,000 for the said Gen. Grant, from which he receives an annual income of over $15,000; And whereas, The said Gen. Grant retired from the army of his own free will, and in perfect soundness of body and health; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby offer our remonstrance against the passage of said bill, and condemn the action of each and every Senator who voted for it, be he Democrat or Republican. The motive which urged these ex-soldiers of the State in which Gen. Grant was born to take this action appears from a subsequent resolution, that the passage of the bill would be an "outrage upon the memory of those gallant comrades who fell in the front, and whose widows are to-day eking out a miserable existence on the beggarly sum of $8 per month, and upon his ruined and crippled comrades whose small pensions are no just compensation for the loss they have sustained." The project is also declared to be an outrage upon all those thousands of soldiers "who, through the exposure incident to camp and army life, received disabling and permanent injuries to health and happiness," and are now drawing pensions ranging from two to six dollars a month for disabilities, and the many thousands who, having "like Gen. Grant returned home sound in body and health," are "too patriotic to ask for or even expect a pension." Not content with this spacial remonstrance agaiest the proposed retirement of Gen. Grant, Coleman Asbury Post also passed a general resolution in regard to army retirements. It declared that "the whole system of the retirement of army officers of sound body and health is pernicious and detestable," and "portentous of monarchy, and the entering wedge for the ultimate overthrow of those principles for which our revolu-tionary fathers fought."

How far these views may be shared by other members of the Grand Army does not appear, as the Coleman-Asbury resolutions only profess to give the opinions of members of that post. That repeated attempts, however, have been made in Congress of late years to ex-tend the retired list of the army beyond its legitimate functions cannot be ques tioned. It must inevitably create prejudice against the retired list to di vert it from its original and proper pur

Up to the time of going to press, Thursday afternoon, no nominations have been made by the republican con-vention John B. Henderson, of Missouri, was made permanent chairman.

Whatever evil this spring may have brought to stock gamblers, the farmers have good reason to be content with it. so far as the promise of their crops is

The Crops and Trade.

The weather has been generally favorable to agriculture, and throughout the country the early indications as to the barvest are all cheering. In the Northwestern States the present outusually encouraging. Moreover, the acreage under cultivation has been in-creased, and unless drawbacks occur during the next month, an exceptionally large crop is expected. Eisewhere wheat is looking finely, and, with some exceptions in Texas, the outlook for cotton is encouraging.

If the crops turn out as well as they now promise, it is reasonable to expect that by next autumn we may begin to see the revival of trade for which we have been so long waiting. Whether prices on the stock market have or bave not declined to their lowest level, it can hardly be doubted that those of mer chandise are dragging on the bottom, and that the general conditions of business now favor the coming revival. There is no inflation there, but the hrinkage has already taken place.

Nor has the Wall street disturbance seriously affected general trade, which may be depressed, but cannot be called unhealthy. Failures do not increase, and merchants continue to do a hand to-mouth business, which is safe and reasonably profitable in the aggregate. The bottom prices now prevailing will help the recovery when it comes, and a great harvest may start a demand next fail which will usher in the pros-perous times to come. Even now, despite a declining stock market, decreas ed exports, and three years of steady periods are wont to think it. We look for an active and fairly profitable trade this autumn, and expect that with the beginning of the next year the skies will be so unmistakably

The anthracite coal producers are devoting a good deal of attention to increasing the trade in their staple at the South. The mildness of the climate and the poverty which followed the close of the war seemed to preclude the cosmilling of much demand for he possibility of much demand for the Penusylvania staple, but increasing prosperity and the persistent efforts of the coal producers are having some ef-fect in this direction. The quantity sold last year in the South only aggre-gated about four per cent. of the total production, but even this small modi-cum is not to be disregarded, especialy as the most of it can be shipped durng the early months of the year when the demand is light from other quar-ters. The coal for the South is nearly all for domestic use and and the trade s chiefly confined to the seabord cities.
