DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET. CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE,

W. W. H. DAVIS. Mr. Lowenberg voted for Randall

on the first ballot, and for Cleveland

The Germans of Buffalo are making a very aggressive campaign for Cleveland. Jacob F. Shebellkopf, who is the wealthiest German manufacturer, always a republican and protectionist, has announced himself for Cleveland because he believes him to be able and honest.

The Democratic Convention was one of the strongest political gatherings of modern times, and its work was done deliberately and well. Everywhere the nominations were received with enthusiasm, and the ticket will receive the support of a united democracy, and also of the independent republicans. An effort has been made to make it appear that John Kelly and Ben Butler will not work for Cleveland, but what their action may be is not yet announced, though it is believ-ed that they will stand by the nominations. Even if they bolt, the defection will be counteracted by the independent republicans and the chances of democratic success will not be dimin-

"The understyned committee invite all repub the nominations made by the republican national convention at Chicago as unworthy of support; who think that the interest of good government and public morals demand the defeat of the redent and who are, therefore, resolved not to vote for Blaine and Logan, to meet for conference either in person or by delegation for the purpose of detiemen desiring to take part are requested to re-port their names to 8. The details and arrangements for the conference will be in charge of the executive committee of New York.

Why Mr. Blaine is Opposed.

What does an exclusively persona contest import? The opening of the floodgates of scandal, the raking of cesapools for electioneering matter and a canvass which in its material should be confined to the Police Gazette. Mr. Blaine's republican opponents are not shut up to any such necessity. They oppose him from their want of confidence in him, considering his whole career as a federal representative and senator; on account of his demagogic looseness of views on the question of coin; because he abused his senatorial privileges to attack Massachusetts; in the position of secretary of state, so comitted the general government that the utmost skill of his successor was required to preserve the good name of the repubblic and settle the difficulties Mr. Blaine's rash measures produced; because of the unworthy elements gravitating to bis support, and from Democratic Unity and Sincerity

Deputy Coroner Messemer occupied the chair. The Coming Revolution-

The following article was telegraphed from Chicago to the Philadelphia Times on the day of Cleveland's nomination by Col. McClure. It goes to the root of the whole matter, and is worthy of careful perusal :

"All great revolutions are born in violent throes, and the desperate battle just closed in the Democratic National Convention will stand as a memorable illustration of this troth. It was the most heroically contested struggle. Let none misunderstand the issue of the great conflict that is upon us. It involves a sweeping political revolution-not merely the transfer of power from one political party to another, but the revolutionary overthrow of the worst methods and purposes of both parties and the triumph of the best in spirations of every political faith. It is honest for the protection of industry, for the maintenance of our manufac tures, for the strict enforcement of public economy and for the reform of our debauched and debauching proffigacy by the reduction of taxes to the economical necessities of the government. On these vital issues the great productive industries of the land have commanded frank and manly tribute from the supreme tribunal of Democracy, and free trade has been eliminated from our party conflicts by the he role revolt and victory under the lead of Samuel J. Randall. There is no idiotic theory in the Cleveland platform to breed revolt in 1884 as it was bred in 1880, and the plain issue of houest, economical public administration comes with revolutionary tread to restore free government to the purity that is its lifeblood and to crown with dignity and power the noblest government of men.

Curious Interjections.

An odd thing about interjections is tha very few people know what they imply when they use them. One of the most fa miliar of all is the cry, "Dear me!" which, as a comedy that had a very long run some years ago, went to prove-though proof was not necessary-is susceptible of many interpretations when differently spoken Few people are, perhaps, aware that "Dear me" is believed to be a corruption of the common French "Mon Dieu," through the Italian "Dio Mio." These words, when quickly pronounced, sound much like the often heard "Dear me," and are supposed to have originated the phrase; while the companion cry, "Oh, dear me !" is said to be the English form of "Ay de mi!" How it happens that words and phrases from all ountries have been pressed into service b English speakers is a matter which it would be very difficult to explain; but the fact remains. One frequent exclamation is bor rowed from the "unspeakable Turk," as Mr. Gladstone used to call the subjects of the Sultan a few years ago. This is "bosh!" for "bosh" is the pure Turkish for "empty. There are so many ways of telling a ma he is mistaken, or is talking nonsense, that it is strange that the Turkish method should have been adopted. "Jingo" is another Oriental term, a corruption of "Jenco," which means the devil. "By jiggo" is employed by many people who never suppose that they approach to what need of engaging in microscopic dis-sections of the two principal candi-dates.
