Ex-Governor Curtain was nominated by the democrats of Centre County for Congress, on Tuesday.

The New York Times on Tuesday published a lengthy article giving an account of cannibalism that had been practiced by the Greely expedition. The article is flatly denied at once, and a libel suit threatened. The matter will be thoroughly investigated.

The day for holding the State Conrention of the National Greenback-Labor party in New York has been changed from August 27 to August 30, the day when Butler will make his speech in New York city. This is done to help swell the crowd for Butler, their candidate for the presidency.

Billy McGlory, a wealthy saloon keeper of New York City, who was re-cently imprisoned for violating the license laws of the city, was releaseed from the penitentiary on Tuesday.

It is said that McGlory will open a saloon, that will be furnished in excellent style and that he will try to make it a first class place if he can get a li-and then ran toward the cataract. The men called to him and asked him to return but he shouted back something Advertiser because he could not supwhich they could not hear and the plunged into the water. He drifted rapidly toward the falls and was last seen near the horse shoe. It is possi-ble his death was due to a fool-hardy attempt to swim the rapids. The body has not yet been found.

Considerable time and money was le gitimately spent by candidates in their efforts to secure the nominations for the respective county offices. It has too frequently been the case, in years when a state or national election, that candidates have rested on their oars after securing the prize sought by them. This fall a President is to be voted for, and a large vote is looked for from this county. The party will expect its candidates to put their shoulders to the wheel and help to rool up a big majority for Cleveland and Hendricks. We do not anticipate that any candidate will fail to do his whole duty this fall. We are speaking only of what has happened in the past in some cases. There have been a few notable exceptions.

The delegate election is over, and there are sixteen men in the county who are disappointed. This follows as a where there are only eight offices to be filled, and twenty-four candidates who want to fill them. There will be soreness, and charges of corruption, and claims of false promises, and a general feeling on the part of those who are defeated, that the party is going to demnition bow-wows, but all this will wear off in time, or at least ought to. Men who offer themselves to their fellow citizens as candidates for office, take their chances of election, and it is understood that all who announce themselves are pledged.

General Jackson was assailed as a seduce and an adulterer; it was so when Governor Porter was heralded as a libration and a start in her right mind. Persons who ride past a dided, however, that she is not in her right mind. Persons who ride past a certain cottage see on the piazza a figure claim to garments of a hundred years ago. A near view of the face indicates about 25 years. She is a ninique monomaniae. She firmly believes that she has been dead a centurity. Her delusion had a start in her conversion to Spiritualism. A stranger came to Mr. William Apple man's in Hemlock township, Columbia county, Pa., on Tuesday, and was found went about their work, not thinking him seriously ill. He called to see him some time during the forezoon and found him sleeping. About two o'clock in the afternoon he called to see him again and found him dead. Mr. A. notified the poor overseers, who took charge of the body and buried him in the Vanderslice burying ground. They had an inquest held on the body, and was found that the stranger had stayed the night before at Mr. J. O. Hum mer's in Frosty Valley where he took supper, and breakfast the next morning. He told Mr. Hummer his name was Schuster and a German ; had been in the army, and had a scar on the left side of his chin the effects of a bayonet wound; was lame from a shot he received in his leg while in the army. And that he had two sisters in Williamsport or New York-Mr. Hummer had forgotten which place. He was about five feet ten or eleven inches in height, light complexion, sandy whiskers and eyebrows and brown hair; had on a good common suit of gray clothes-coat, vest and pants made from the same piece of goods, and appeared to be cleanly in his dress. On the inside of his satchel was written the name of C. A. Schuster which was undoubtedly his name, and a cabinet maker by trade. This name was also written on a catalogue from a furniture establishment of Detroit, Michigan. Age 46

The liquor question is being discussed by Neal Dow from the standpoint of prohibition, and by Dio Lewis from that of persuasion. They are agreed that strong drink is an evil of the greatest magnitude. Mr. Dow's argument consists of a vivid presentation of enormous figures, and his reasoning is that a trade resulting in such enormous that a trade resulting in such enormous and widespread misery should be suppressed as being inconsistent with the general good. Dr. Lewis on the other hand, holds that prohibition in Maine her head, the manner of the property of the manner of the property of the manner of the manne rescue taking with him a rope but in a few latter lay unconscious for nearly 2 hours. Invitation.

Friends, and enemies too, if we have them, passing through Philadelphia, are invited to make a convenience of the Big Store. It is between the Broadstreet station of the Pennsylvania R. R. and everywhere else, and is on the way from almost every station.

It would be old news to tell you what the store is here for. We'll skip that. For our present purpose it is here to be walked through, looked at, get rested in, and to hold your baggage while you run about town. As you enter the door, any door almost, you see a place to leave your bag. Leave a dozen parcels there, if you like; no charge. Go all over the store, up-stairs and down; ask for a guide, if you need one; go alone, if you like that better. After you have walked a few miles and climbed a pyramid or two, it may be lunch-time. In the basement is a place to get a bite: and that's the only part of the entertainment you pay for. We'd like to have that free, too, if we could. We fear the wrong people would

In a sense we do not pay much attention to visitors. We do not invite them in so often as we would, if the newspapers didn't make us pay for every hospitable word. When they come, one or ten-thousand at a time, we simply let them alone, unless they ask for help We have our hands full any way; besides, we don't want people to think that we ask them here to draw them into buying things.

What we really do want is that everybody every-where should have a pretty accurate notion of what is going on here; and that's the whole of it.

3. It was the merit of good Phosphates which established the present trade and such only will at hast come out victorious to the benefit of manufacturer, seller and consumer.

4. The word "Phosphate," as used commercially, has no meaning of value. The statement that one brand of Phosphate is cheaper than another, so far as price per Ton is concerned, means just nothing at all. The result on the field—not for one season only, but for two, three and four succeeding crops—must be the test of value. Thus tried we believe the ALLENTOWN PHOSPHATE to be as cheap as the chappest and as good as the dearest.
