HOW THE REPUBLICAN MANAGERS CO. ERCED AND BOUGHT A SMALL MAJOR-ITY IN A STRONG REPUBLICAN STATE, BUT FAILED TO SAVE ANYTHING IN WEST VIR-GINIA-CLEVELAND SURE TO BE RESCUED.

The National Democratic Committee has issued the following address:

To the People of the United States : The result of the elections in the States of Ohio and West Virginia is before you.

Ohio chose Republican electors in 1868, 1872, 1876 and 1880. West Virginia chose Republican Presidential electors in 1868 and 1872, and Democratic electors in 1876 and 1880.

The Blaine managers employed ex-traordinary methods in both States. They expended not less than $500, 000 in Ohio, and more than $100,000 in West Virginia, in their political work. They did not use money only. They called from every State the office-holders best fitted to do the work at which they were put. They crowded these two States with such men. They employed in political jobs the men engaged in the postal service of the United States. They left the veterans, who had saved the life of the nation, without the pay to which they were entitled, under the pretense of having an insufficient clerical force in the Pension Bureau, and then used the Commissioner of Pensions and a great number of his clerks as parts of their political machinery in the late elections in Ohio

Boone, whose wife has not recovered imagined that certain bruises on her arms had been caused by Governor Cleveland and to day he summoned up courage to take revenge. Governor Cleveland left the Executive Mansion about 9:30 and started for the Capitol. When he reached the Medical College, on Eagle Street, Boone rushed upon him and shouting, 'You have killed my wife," struck the Governor several blows. The Governor was unprepared for the attack, but he struck out right and left and defended himself. Then Dr. George H. Houghton appeared on street, picked up a cobblestone and was about to hurl it at the Governor when Dr. Houghton grabbed his arm.

After the first blow Cleveland staggered up against a tree and then re sumed his walk. Boone was handed over to the police and locked up. There is hardly a Democratic voter who cannot afford to give a dollar to this good cause, and it is a duty which each one owes to himself and the party to do something to assist in the conduct of the campaign. Let us show by our acts that we are sincere in our desire and determination to overthrow the party that has misruled the country for a quarter of a century. Send in your dollars. Pacts for Election Officers.

Judge Arnold of Philadelphia on Saturday last announced the following rules for the filling of vacancies in election boards, When a vacancy exists in any board, or when new divisions are formed, the court will fill the vacancy, if application is made ten days before the election morning, or if there was a tie in the vote for judge in the Spring election, the majority inspector shall appoint a judge; if the majority in spector does not attend, the judges shall appoint an inspector in his place, and if the minority inspector does not attend, the person who received the second highest number of votes for judge at the Spring election, shall act as inspector. I vacancy continues to exist in the election board for one hour after the time for open ing the polls, the voters present shall fil the vacancy by a curbstone election. No votes shall be received until the election board is complete and duly sworn in. Each inspector shall appoint one clerk, who must be a voter in the division. Appointed election officers and clerks hold over the Spring election, unless removed for discounty and, with District Attorney qualifying cause.

This madicine, combining Iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely cures Dyspessin, Indigestion, Weakness, Impure Hood, Malarius, Chilis and Fevera and Neuralgia.

It is an unfailing remedy for Diseases of the Ridneys and Idver.

It is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constitution—other from medicines do. It curiches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, aids the assimilation of food, relieves Heartburn and Belching, and strengthens the muscles and nerves.

For Intermittent Fevera, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, &c., it has no equal.

POTLATES PIETA, October 20. Gloves are peculiar. There is no sort of goods in which it is easier to go astray; none in which the utmost rigor in adherence to standards is more necessary. There are good gloves for economical people, good gloves for ex-travagant people, good gloves for people between, and a great variety for them all, There are also many sorts of good-looking gloves for all sorts of people. The good of all sorts we keep. The merely good-looking we do not keep. We draw the line sharply between the good and the not good. But there are degrees of goodness; and we keep several, To be short: Good-looking gloves are of all degrees of goodness; and we sharply rule out those below a fair standard of honesty. Have you noticed that we almost never advertise gloves below value? The reason is We can't get honest gloves below value, except by rare accident. Nobody can,

Let us now print once for all our standing news about gloves; for it doesn't change much. We have about everything that belongs to an honest trade in fall and winter gloves. Our prices are fair. They often seem high to people who believe advertisements and shop tales without discrimination. They are not high. They cannot be low. What sort of guarantee of gloves? Just the same as of almost everything else that we sell.

But that isn't enough. Gloves are peculiar. People do not often become dissatisfied with the worst of them till they have injured them. The guarantee, Bring back the gloves uninjured and get your money back, isn't enough. It doesn't secure against the worst abuse in the trade, viz., the selling of gloves that are only good-looking for good.

But a guarantee going further and protecting the buy-Brown a cragainst defects that develop only by wear is liable to se-rious abuse. Some people would strain it beyond all reason. It isn't as it we had only fair and reasonable people to deal with. There are those who would wear a new pair of gloves till a little soiled. and then tear them on purpose to get a new pair for nothing. Our guarantee has got to be such as to protect us against these one-sided lust as we said the other day of shoes, we do not agree to do more than is reasonably safe and just. We have to remember that half the shoes and gloves are worn by people who show very little wit in the choice they make of them or in the use they put them to. We are not going to bear the cost of their ignorance or folly. What do we do, when the buyer complains and the gloves are spoiled? Remember the answer. We straightway consider which of the three, maker, merchant, or speller, ought to bear the loss; and we put it where it belongs, if we can. We began about gloves. Really the facts about dealing in gloves and shoes are so alike with respect to what we keep, how we sell, and what we do in case of dissatisfaction after injury is done, that we might have put gloves and shoes together all through

There is more in this subject than how we gather and sell our gloves and shoes. They are difficult goods to guarantee satisfaction with. How we treat them is a clear indication of how we administer our guarantee all over the store. What if we sneaked out of every doubtful obliga-tion? What if we interpreted every understanding in the most favorable light to ourselves? What if, on the other hand, beyond our absolute guarantee of almost everything we sell, we study to find howmany of the losses incurred by people who trust us we can properly shield them from ho. many we can properly takupon ourselves, or put upon our source of supply? Let our dealing in gloves and shoe , then, stand for our general policy in trade.

If we try to administer so generous a policy in good faith, are we not entitled to a degree of indulgence for inevitable shortcomings beyond what is usual in trade?
