General Grant still clings to life. He has good days and bad days, but his death is only a question of a short time. His disease is incurable and he has expressed a desire to die. He said a few days ago that every moment of life was a week of agony to him. The sympathy of the whole civilized world are with him in his sufferings.

There are many war clouds above the horizon. In the Dominion of Can-ada the half breed rebellion under Riel, in South America the disturbance by Barrios, who has been killed in battle, and in Europe what now seems to indicate an inevitable war between England and Russia, lead to the belief that there will be much blood shed in

A jury empannelled in a case at Scranton was discharged by Judge Archibald because two of the jurymen objected to the lengthy cross-examination of a witness. They said they had business to attend to and could not waste so much time in listening to evidence that had nothing to do all the evidence without criticism.

The bill now pending in the legislature to locate the Supreme Court permanently at Harrisburg ought to be-come a law. It would be just as conceive large fees can as well afford to go to Harrisburg and await their turns as the lawyers from other points can go to those cities. It would lessen the expense of court machinery and be much more satisfactory all around.

says that it is the first time that these airs have ever been played in the White House, an assumption that the new out the old popular loyal airs and in-troducing in their stead purely South ern music. This is entirely a fiction. The popular Southern airs above quoted have been played in the Executive Mansion and grounds ever since they were written. It is easy for me to recall an instance only a night or two before Mr. Lincoln was assassinated. The President had returned from Richto tender congratulations and a sere-nade. The man who was soon to be the victim of the assassin's bullet appeared in response to calls and thanked his audience for the compliment. Several members of his Cabinet surrounded him, and it was a very interesting and dramatic occasion.

Just as he was closing his brief remarks Mr. Lincoln said: "I see you have a band with you. I should like to hear it play 'Dixie.' I have consulted the Attorney General, who is here by my side, and he is of the opinion that Dixie belongs to us. Now play it." The band struck up the old tune and played it as I have never before or since heard it rendered. As the strains of the music rang out upon the air cheer after cheer went up from the throats of the hundreds of happy men who had called to congratulate Mr. Lincoln upon the return of peace.

Washington Letter in Hartford Times. Miss Cleveland has not worn the same dress twice, so far, in all her social ceremonies and women who notice such things augur that it is going to be a marvelously well-dressed ad-ministration. There has been lately a terest of a constituent who wanted an laughable hurrying-up of dress-makers among the families who felt their wardrobes were not quite up to the exigencies of the situation, but Miss Cleveland came well prepared for the spring campaign. The impression had "Oh, yes,!" replied the member, "we than the little of the time that spring campaign. The impression had gained wide credence, somehow, that her toilettes would be her least worries Congress is not at work." and that good clothes would be rather frowned down. Arother member of the Illinois legis-lature is dead. This makes the third death during the session, something which never before occurred. It was anticipated that upon Senator Davis, from Greene County, assuming office something tangible would be done in relation to the United States Seuntorship question, but this unexpected oc-currence will again throw it back for twenty days at least. What makes the situation still worse, it leaves the House a tie upon any question which may be construed into a party issue, and thus retard business. Members who wished business to progress are very much disheartened. The Governor will be requested to call a new election, which cannot take place; however, before twenty days after the

From the president down to his last appointment, the personel of the administration is capable of hard work, and it has evidently this object in view, more than pleasure, emolument, or fame. The cabinet of the new president are not men with itching palms. They are all men of sufficient wealth, or men to whom their wealth is sufficient. So it is with the recent bureau appointees, a gentleman whose fortune is not less than $150,000 was last week appointed to an office in one of the departments, the salary of which is only $3000. The Commercial Situation-

The markets for grain, cotton, petroleum and stocks were all influenced last week to a greater or less extent by the European advices in regard to the strained relations between England and Russia. The cable news was watched with intense interest through out the United States, and the prompt response of the markets to peaceful or warlike reports affords unmistakable evidence of the opinion entertained here concerning the probable effect of war on legitimate and speculative interests on this side of the Atlantic. In other words, it is generally conceded that in the event of actual hostilities between England and Russia there dation for office have been poverty and patriotism. England and Russia.

In answer to an inquiry as to what England and Russia are going to fight about, the New York Sun gives the following comprehensive explanation: England, as every body knows, has an immense empire in India. Russia has of late years been pushing her conquests in the direction of India, and bout two years ago, when the Rus sians seized the oasis of Merv, and got control of the great Torcoman desert, they came right up against what has always been regarded as one of the bul-warks of India—Afghanistan. Then England became alarmed.
