Cabbage plants by the millions on the island at Epy that must be sold regardless of price. All of the best and leading varieties. Call and see them or address the undersigned.

W. E. Dietterich, the enterprising merchant of Epy, gets to town quite frequently on business. He was down on Monday and was in his usual good humor, but like everybody else, he complains a little of the dullness in trade at present.

One of the boilers at Montana Colliery near Centralia, exploded last Saturday evening, damaging the boiler house considerably and blowing out other boilers. Fortunately nobody was hurt. The boiler was very much worn.

The ladies of St. Columba's Church will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival at Evans' Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. The cornet band will furnish music on Saturday evening. Admission free.

Diphtheria still prevails at Orangeville. A son of Russell Drumstetter died on Tuesday night, and at this writing (Wednesday afternoon) a son of the late Samuel Hagenbuch is very low with the disease. There are several other cases whose names we have not learned.

Our new Spring Styles are in and prices lower than ever. No attractive style, but we credit it. No desirable novelty, but we have it, in fact for anything in the clothing line. We are emphatically headquarters.

It is rumored that the roads must be made 33 feet wide all over the township. Hurrah for road tax, now.

If you want the best cider you ever tasted, go to M. M. Hartzel's. There is where they keep it.

The young people of this place who attended the Sunday School convention at Epy report a very good time, good addresses, good speeches, and good accommodations. They heartily give thanks to the Epy people for their kindness.

Charles Coleman has rented the Mountain hotel, one mile above the old Hess stand, near the head waters of Big Fishing creek, and is preparing to accommodate travelers and fishermen, and boarders on reasonable terms. His address is Central, Columbia county, Pa. May 22-24

Several more deaths have occurred at Plymouth during the past week. It is hard to tell the situation there, as there are so many sensational reports about. Our paper says that the epidemic has broken out fresh, and another states that it is dying out, and business has been resumed as usual. The probabilities are that the worst is over.

The boardless beam will take notice that while the law which has passed the house at Harrisburg, prescribes a penalty of $300 on any minister or justice of the peace who shall unite in marriage any minor, it also imposes a penalty of $300 upon any minor who shall induce any minister to perform the marriage ceremony under false representation.

William H. Gilmore introduced his band to the public for the first time on decoration day. Starting at his building up town they marched down Main street to the Post room, with Gilmore in the lead like a drum major. Having thus made a public presentation, "Gilly" withdrew, and the band took part in the exercises of the day.

The inspection of the fire department took place on Market street last Saturday afternoon. Owing to the muddy condition of the streets there was no parade, but all the apparatus, and was inspected by the officers of the department. It is the duty of the town council to hold the inspection, but owing to some misunderstanding they were not present. All the companies were well represented, and they made a good appearance.

We are informed that there are several cross-roads in Millin, Orange, Briarcrest and Benton and many other townships, where there are no guide boards. The Columbia proposes to make a list of all such places, and if costables continue to make false returns in this matter, and are inspected by the officers of the department. It is the duty of the town council to hold the inspection, but owing to some misunderstanding they were not present. All the companies were well represented, and they made a good appearance.

Wm. Kriegerman, Sec'y.

Advertisers should bear in mind that the COLUMBIAN is the best medium in the county through which to make known their business. Our actual bona fide circulation exceeds that of any other paper, and our subscribers are among the best men of the county. Reference to our advertising rates on the first page will show that our prices are lower than any other paper published in Bloomsburg. Compare them with others, and see for yourself.

Last year the number of orders entered on the job book of this office up to June 1st, exceeded that of any previous year since 1875. This year the number of jobs printed is ahead of 1884. The latest styles of type, the best machinery, the neatest work and the lowest prices are what distinguish our custom. Persons desiring printing of any kind should see our samples and consult our prices before ordering elsewhere.

The Republicans, published at Laporte, says that all parts of Sullivan county show signs of improvement and prosperity are noticed. Farms are being improved, land rescued from the forest, and handsome and commodious houses are taking the places of the rude cottages of former days. These improvements are not confined to any particular locality, but are visible all over the county. Once the railroad is completed to Berne and connection made with the State Line road, there will be a direct route to Towanda, which will only require a few hours travel from Williamsport. Sullivan county will then be in quick communication with all parts of the country, and her valuable hard woods, coal and minerals will find a market.

An Erie County, Pa., farmer recently unearthed from a mound the skulls and vertebrae of thirty-one human beings, which remains, from their position and the dirt covering them, appeared to have been buried at intervals ranging from one to five years. The skeletons are being preserved, several having been secured by the Erie Natural History Society. Judging from the lengths of the thigh bones, the persons in fact must have been fully seven feet tall. No order was observed in their burial, and no relics of any kind were found with them. The mound had long been thought to contain human remains, chiefly from its peculiar shape, as no tradition concerning it existed. During the year of 1812 the region was traversed by both British and American troops, but nothing is known of any great number of internments having been made there.
