ANOTHER DISEASE-STRIKEN TOWN.—About a month ago the same disease which has raged in Plymouth made its appearance in Sugar Notch, a small mining town between Wilkes-Barre and Nanticoke. The disease has been steadily increasing until now twenty cases have been reported, but they are of a milder form than those at Plymouth. A strange feature of the outbreak is that it is confined to the most cleanly portion of the town. The doctors are of the opinion that the epidemic must have its origin in the rise of spring water, and all those who are ill with the disease have been using water from the springs for some time. Dr. Davis, of Wilkes-Barre, has secured for analysis bottles of water from the various springs in the immediate neighborhood, to which the fever is confined.

Sheriff vs. Commissioners.—On the 11th day of June, 1885, the Commissioners of Columbia county entered into an agreement with Sheriff Moore to pay him $20 per month for taking care of the jail, and doing such work as had been done for some time before that, by a man employed by the "Commissioners." This arrangement was carried out until last April, when the new Board of Commissioners appointed William Barrett as janitor of the court house and jail, and notified the Sheriff of their action. About the 1st of June the Sheriff presented a bill for two months' pay, which the Commissioners refused to allow, and thereupon the Sheriff brought suit against the Commissioners. This was a hearing took place on Monday.

The Sheriff based his claim on the fact that his contract with the old Board of Commissioners was for the balance of his term of office, and the Commissioners refused to pay on the ground that the work was not satisfactorily performed, and that their predecessor had no right to make such a contract. There was no evidence offered at the hearing on behalf of the county. The Sheriff, the old Commissioners, and some other witnesses were examined on behalf of the plaintiff. The Justice has rendered no decision yet.

Hughes, of Williamsport, J. A. Wirt, of Hughesville and F. P. Manhart, of Bloomsburg, were appointed a committee and Williamsport selected as the place for holding the convention.

Expense of Funerals.—[Philadelphia Record.] There are a thousand persons alive in Philadelphia to-day who will be dead and buried before a month rolls around. Any one who is curious enough to consider the average cost of these thousand prospective burials as it will be, compared with the cost as it might or should be, will find himself dealing with astonishing figures. To these sentimental persons who can find adequate expression for sorrow in the usual funeral expenditure perhaps no word of reason can be usefully addressed. For them the show of grief assumes grief. But the memory of the dead is best kept green by some serviceable help to the living. If half the money that is wasted in foolish display were devoted to the maintenance of better living, the dead would sleep no less peacefully, and the surviving friends would have profound reason for thankfulness.

Reasonable Advice.—In case of persons apparently drowned, they should be laid gently down, their feet wrapped in dry blankets, and their arms away from the sides, bringing the elbows up toward the head, pushing the arms down against the ground, so that the elbows meet over the breast, the stomach, and so on at the rate of 15 times a minute. As the arms are brought down gentle but firm pressure should be made on the stomach just below the end of the breastbone.

In case of heat or sunstroke lay the person in a cool shady place. Loosen his clothing. Lay the bystanders rub the arms and legs with pieces of ice wrapped in towels until the excessive heat of surface is allayed. Give twenty drops of aromatic spirits of hartshorn in a little water every fifteen minutes or half hour. No effort to rise or walk should be allowed till the person is quite restored. Heartshorn is said to be better than brandy in cases of sunstroke.
