GEORGE A. CLARK, P. M. The Lee County Times, published at Pay

Paw, Illinois, contains the announcement of the death of Martin W. Girton, a native of Columbia county. He was one of the most substantial and prosperous farmers in that section. For some years he had been the victim of an asthmatic trouble, and this, with a complication of other diseases caused his death, on the 10th of July. Mr. Girton was born in this county September 27th, 1820. He married Miss Mary Barber, and a few years later, in 1854, they moved to Illinois. He leaves a widow, a laughter and two sons.

That was a red-hot picnic at Traub's cut article for that purpose. Grove on Monday, and no mistake. It was under the management of the Order of Red Men, and came from up the river, being gathered up all the way from Scranton down. There was a train of eight cars, and a car load of beer. After the latter had become pretty well distributed among the men and boys there was a fight every ten minutes; heads were cut with beer bottles, revolvers were flourished, and numerous eyes were put in mourning. Beer was sold on the grounds contrary to law, and it is likely that our authorities repeat the offenses of Monday. Those having charge of the ground propose to prevent a repetition of such a scene if pos-

A hitch has occurred between the Sheriff and the Commissioners concerning the apointment of a Janitor for the jail. Last April the Commissioners appointed W. W. Barrett to the position, and in June the Sheriff sued the county for janitor's services claiming that he had a contract with the old board until the expiration of his term. Justice Jacoby gave judgment in favor of the Sheriff of $10 and costs. From this, no appeal has been taken by

On the 10th of July the sheriff filed petition in court setting forth that under the Act of 1790 he had appointed a keeper 'to superintend the prisoners, confined in said jail, manage and attend to their clothing, diet and lodging; and the heating, lighting and policing said jail, and taking care that the prisoners be safely kept," and asking the court to approve of said appointment and to fix the wages of the keeper. Last Monday morning the court granted a rule to show cause why the appointment should not be made, and the case will be heard at

The latter's wife inances to her and that she had resisted. on Friday afternoon Sobreski left his home o pick berries, taking with him a thirtywo calibre revolver for the purpose of protecting himself from snakes. He returned about seven or eight o'clock and found Gueski sitting very close to Mrs. Sobreski sobreski told him he had no business there when he was not at home and ordered him o leave. Gueski gave him a defiant look nd a derisive smile. Sobreski reached for he revolver and struck at him, intending o hit him on the shoulder. The revolver was discharged and the ball entered Gu eski's right side a short distance below the arm and proved fatal in a few minutes. As soon as Sobreski discovered that Gu eski was shot he raised an alarm. Sobreski has been questioned and freely relates the whole occurrence. He says he was very angry when he saw Gueski there with hi wife, and that when he treated him with apparent contempt and defiance he became exasperated. He says he did not intend to shoot the man, but only beat him, and seized on the revolver as the most conveni-

The expression of preference of candied by the convention. The Directors May Furnish Text

For many years doubt has existed in th ands of public school authorities whether ownships and boroughs had the right to furnish text books free to the students of the public schools. Some years ago when Hon. Wm. Butler was the President Judge of the Courts of Chester county, he ren dered a decision to the effect that they had such a right; on another occasion Judge Pearson, of Dauphin county, in a similar case rendered a contrary decision. Neither case was ever taken to the Supreme Court

The matter has been settled by the las Legislature, by which a special act authorizes directors to furnish free text books The bill has just been signed by the Gov ernor, and is therefore a law. The act however, does not compel directors to tice of which meeting is to be given to the furnish the books but allows them to de teachers, as required by law, and also to so, and it is probable that it will result in the distribution of the free text books.

A Barnum Elephant Shot. HE KILLS HIS KREPER AT NASHUA, N. H.

Many of our readers who attended Bar num's show at Danville, a few weeks ago, will remember the large elephant that led the performing herd in their drill. The following despatch from Keene, N. H. shows that he has come to a sudden end: KERNE, N. H., July 20.—The huge elephant. Albert, belonging to the Barnum show, killed his keeper, James McCormick, professionally known as James Sweeney, at Nashua, N. H., on July 18. Sweeney's body, inclosed in an elegant casket, was shipped to his relatives at Manchester. The entire Barnum company, headed by the principal band playing appropriate airs, escorted the body to the depot and paid the last respects to their dead comrade, at six o'clock this morning. The ceremony was an imposing one and was witnessed

During the afternoon performance of the circus Mr. James S. Hutchinson, one of the circus managers, announced that as the elephant had taken human life he should be shot immediately after the performance and requested any members of the Keene Light Guards who might be in the audience to report to their captain at the door of the museum canvas. At 4:30 p. m. the giant Albert, loaded with chains and preceded by the head trainers, Arstingstall and Newman, marched forth from the menagerie, followed by thirty-three riflemen and nearly allowed. all the members of the show. The procession crossed a long field and passed down by the authorities and in the same manner into a long ravine near the river. Albert was an Asiatic elephant and leader of the performing herd. He was next in size to Jumbo and has, until quite recently, been considered one of the safeest of the herd. A telegram was sent to the managers of the Smithsonian Institution Museum, Washington, by Messrs. Barnum, Bailey and Hutchinson donating the remains to that institution. The authorities answered immediately that they about, what other subject so worthy of would send men to take charge, and thanked the donors for the present. But in spite had made a tour of the world with the lat- of the diaphanous dresses of the femal employees and the fact that men discard all garments, not insisted upon by civil and social laws, they perspire like iron puddlers. The President has learned for the firs ime what Washington could do in the way of hot weather and no doubt contrastelast Sunday in the city with the previous Sunday which he spent at Wood Mon on the upper Potomac. I see that some of the truly good Repub lican papers are greatly hurt because the President went to Woodmont and spent the Sabbath, like a bad boy, fishing. I will, no doubt, delight them to learn the the President did nothing of the sort, but passed the day like a gentleman and on the first Monday of April next after his Christian and caught his fish on Monday

When I first came to Washington, about thirteen years ago, I was one day in th gation and saw a stout looking middle aged gentlemen to whom I was introduced as Mr. Roach. Neither the name or th man impressed me as noteworthy, but after he had taken his leave, Commodore Am men, the then Chief of the Bureau, remarked: "that was Mr. John Roach, the John Roach's failure is the most interesting news of the day. It is not surprising in any respect. He has lived on Navy Department favoritism. It has been his entire stock in trade. When it was with drawn he had to fail. A prominent ship builder who knows Roach well says that when Robeson became Secretary of the Navy in '69, Roach was $800,000 in debt. By the constant friendly aid of Robeson who was by many persons believed to be a partner in Roach's establishment, Roach was cared for and enabled to continue his ship building business. During Robeson's time he practically controlled the Navy collector shall well and truly collect and Department, and was given enormous advantages in the purchase of old materials and in making new contracts with the Government. When the new cruisers were ordered by Congress three years ago, he, relying as usual on official favoritism, rushed in and contracted to build them a quarter of a nillion less than what careful men thought would be their actual cost. Such methods of doing business could only have one resuit. Had the failure occurred at some later period it might have been alleged to have been the result of political hostility. As it is now, it is the result simply of natural causes The Secretary of the Navy is in the presence of a great opportunity. It has been demonstrated that the Government cannot road taxes as it may be lawful and neces- ney can show that the Government is not seersucker, cream-and-ecru for

of which there are nine.

Of course the old rotten system of run ning the navy yards as parts of the political machine must be reformed. The system of having a top-heavy organization of there's your rainbow. Are they foremen, and a few mechanics who "sol dier" over their work, and appeal to their congressmen if they are discharged for protection, must be reformed. The Bureaus in the Department which have connived at the fungus growth of abuses that public treasury must be reformed. As soon as navy yard work is managed on business principles the Navy Department can build ships and engines and fabricate ordinance cheaper than it can get the sam articles by contract. It has a plant of great value on which interests and profits need not be earned. It has a large number of highly educated officers who can do work for which every private ship builder must pay. When political interference is stopped, it will enable the navy yards to get the best mechanics. To argue that the Government cannot build ships or guns is to plead the baby act and to admit there will be no honest attempt to reform the abuses which have destroyed the usefulness of the navy yards. Asbury.

ng the regular quarterly conference ser. rices were conducted by Mr. Hooven, Love feast 9 a. m., preaching at 11 a. m. the text will be found in St John 3rd chapter and 14th verse. "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the son of man be lifted up." Mr. Hooven's discourse was one that will be remembered by all who were present. M. L. Smyser preached at 7 p. m. to a large and attentive congregation. The financial call on Friday footed up

I saw in the last week's Sentinel a big ee catch by a party from your town. They say they commenced setting one mile be-low Orangeville and set up to Forks, then took up Huntington Creek as far as Eli Robbin's. Yes they were seen by a number of people and the great wonder of our people up here is that the authorities at Bloomsburg don't have them arrested. They seem to bid defiance to civil law. I will just call their attention to a case that was tried a few years ago in Columbia Co. and the offender was fined and what has been may be done again. A hint to the wise is sufficient and will suffice.

Water. For the COULMBIAN. Do you hear the laughing waters,

As they onward rush forever, Sprinkling joy and life for all? O such lovely sparkling waters! Bounding Bong their public she Giving life to parched rootlets, Purging pure its sandy floor,

Kissing roses and white lilies, Sending silvery spray on high;
Till the nations, in their longings, Look and say, "How small am I?"
Life portraying!—see the picture Penciled on the mountain wall; Meeting out to each its measure-

Never passing large or small.

How to know about these pictures,
We must wander up the glen.
To the place where it is coming Forth a babbling sparking gem.
There amid the natural beauties
God has given to mankind,
We will find a purer substance. We will find a purer substance

Than, on earth, in man we find. Where the mocking bird is singing, Songs of sweetest love and praise Or the oriole's nest is swinging, Hung by him in former days; Or the lark from flight is resting On a branch of sighing pine

On a branch of signing p... Sighting in the gentle zephyrs; Such. O God! such gifts are thine. L. J. oolanamaker's.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20, 1885. Reader, you think you know what crinkled seersuckers are. Do you? Drop a line for samples and give us some notion as to the colors you like. Seersuckers! Nothing is more n favor for hot-weather dress among ladies of taste: and the treble reason is they are pretty and cool-they cost not much to begin with-they are easily washed-they are "ironed" by letting them hang in the wind and sun-they are cooler than anything smooth-the crinkles are pretty as well as cool-the roughness is part of the beauty. In short they are pretty, cool and inexpensive. We might have added a fourth-they are tough-as George Eliot says, stout enough to last a life-These are reasons ime.

Now, lady, do you know what these crinkles are? Let us imagine you don't. We are talking to you who don't. You have a night-gown-yoke of puffing insertion-a stripe of smooth and a stripe of rough. That's crinkled seersucker. You have seen a rainbow after a summer shower, the sun behind you. That's crinkled seersucker-its air is like the refreshing air of secrsucker. You have seen the canary shaking his feathers after his bath, each feather on end, the penetrating air betweenthat's crinkled seersucker. It's very odd; but almost all the seersuckers, almost all, are here. They're very scarce. What is odder yet, they are cheap. What is oddest of all they are better than ever before. and prettier, airier. A seersucker dress or twowhy, do you know, one seer-sucker isn't like another seer-sucker. There's such variety in seersuckers. Take a two color dependent on contractors, by building war instance, a puff and a ribbon, a ships in the navy yards of the United States puff and a ribbon, a puff and a ribbon, and so on all over. Take a three-color seersucker, pink-not in refreshing contrast? 18 and 25 cents a yard; the 25-cent seersuckers have a bit of lace between puffing and color. The 18-cent resembles have made every navy yard a leech on the the original India seersucker. The 25-cent is entirely modern. We have a hundred styles of both.
