ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD.

Two deer were brought to town from the North Mountain last Saturday. Col. Jamison bought one, and Mr. W. Neat the other. It was the first venison of the season.

Hon. F. W. Hughes, the well-known lawyer of Potsville, died last week (Thursday). He was the leading counsel for the prosecution in the Mollie Maguire cases.

Phillip Y. Weaver, Esq., of Hazleton, has been appointed Deputy Register of Luzerne county. Application for marriage licenses are made to him in that part of the county.

A personal of Gallina's new advertisement, headed "The Radiant Home-Baker," will not only make you laugh, but furnish some valuable information about stoves. Read it.

James W. Ketchner, of Fowlersville, will discounte backsminting January 1st, and make arrangements to start for Kansas, soon afterward. All who know themselves indebted will please call and settle without delay.

Judge Shuman, one of Catawissa's most enterprising citizens, has laid new water pipes between the Water Company's reservoir and the springs. The Judge is interested in the water works there, as he is in every progressive movement.

John C. Youm, Esq., of Catawissa has just concluded an important case by special pleading. On Wednesday afternoon he was married to Miss Fannie C. Killinger at Annyville, Lebanon county. We tender our fraternal congratulations.

Persons who are expecting to have sales will consider their own interests by getting their sale bills printed at this office. For every set of bills printed here a free notice is given in the paper, the notice alone being worth as much as we charge for the bills.

The county commissioners publish a notice to tax collectors this week, requiring them to make returns of seated and unseated lands upon which no property can be found from which to make taxes, on or before January 1st. Tax collectors should read and heed it.

We are requested to state that the entertainment given at the Opera House on Tuesday evening was fixed for that date, because the services of Mrs. Crenshaw could be secured for no other evening. It was not for the purpose of getting ahead of anybody else.

The concert given on Wednesday evening by Prof. Strickland's choir and orchestra, of Danville, for the benefit of St. Columba's church, was well attended and highly appreciated. The singing was of a high order, and the execution by the orchestra was good.

There will be a meeting of the Penna. State Board of Agriculture and General Farmers Institute at Bloomsburg, Dec. 2nd and 3rd. His excellency, Gov. R. E. Patton will preside at the meeting. Farmers and Farmers' wives and the public generally are invited to attend and participate in the proceedings. Programme of Meeting will be published later.

Last week there was a meeting of the descendants of the Huguenots held in New York to commemorate the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685. The bi-centennial has given occasion to many historical sermons this country as well as in France. A sermon on the subject is to be preached in the Presbyterian church by the pastor on Sunday evening next.

The Washington fair is in bad odor just now. After exhibiting very extensively the fair has been closed, and giving out the impression that Honner's horse was referred to, the officers pinned off a Danville horse by the same name as the celebrated trotter. A large number of gamblers were arrested on the grounds and taken to Danville and the President of the association was also arrested for allowing gambling on the grounds.

The only leading newspaper in Berwick is doing a horrible death. In its delirium it utters slanders and falsehoods, by the column, thinking that its readers will protect it from libel suits, but foolishly forgetting that it may be given some prominence by engaging in a controversy with respectable newspapers. Its last week's utterances are too false to require any denial, and too contemptible to receive further notice.

List of letters remaining in the Post Office at Bloomsburg for week ending Oct. 27, 1885:

Alice Bader, Mr. John Brown, Miles A. Fry, 2, W. W. Kinn, Mr. R. M. Lawrence, Charles Miller.

C. W. Colles, S. B. Kinn, Mr. B. W. McHenry, Pomeroy Bro's & Smith.

Persons calling for above please say "advertised." GEORGE A. CLARK, P. M.

An entertainment was given at the Opera House on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's P. E. Church. The programme consisted of recitations by Mrs. S. E. Crenshaw, a gifted ecologist, vocal solos by Mrs. Parker of Washington, D. C., and Mr. P. F. Drinker, and instrumental music by Miss M. Drinker and Prof. Mother's orchestra. Mrs. Parker has a well-trained voice, and the audience showed their appreciation of her singing by according her hearty encores. Though the entertainment was gotten up in great haste the proceeds will be something for the Guild after paying expenses.

Mrs. Crenshaw is an ecologist of no small ability, and has acquired some reputation in the West. Her selections were well chosen and varied, and calculated to display her power as a finished ecologist. She has a brilliant future before her in the profession which she has chosen.

Latest Hotel Market.

Said a friend at our folks last evening: "I met a couple of fellows who take in country fairs, the other day on the train, and one of them put me on the latest hotel racket. It was like this: Tom, a rascally slouch-looking fellow, goes into a hotel, pays for dinner and enters the dining-room. He is shortly afterwards followed by John, who is well dressed and wears a snobby hat, which he is careful the clerk shall see. Tom comes in, picks the new tile and leaves the hotel. Then follows John with blood in his eye he demands satisfaction from the hotel proprietor. He generally gets $25, divides with his partner, and they are ready to work another hotel.

ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD.

Berwick.

G. B. Swank attended the Sunday school convention of this township.

Miss Kate Crothers, of Hazleton, is visiting this place.

The township held a convention in the Evangelical Lutheran Church on Tuesday last for the 27th anniversary of the Sunday School.

Messrs. Adam Miller and D. C. Bond are running opposition against O. Swank and J. Wagner with threshing machines.

Mr. C. P. Harper claims he can beat in threshing. He threshes 40 bushels of wheat in an hour, but O. Swank & J. Wagner beat them; they can thresh 60 bushels in an hour.

The Problem Solved.

Fitchburg Oct. 26, 1885.

Mr. Editor.—The following is a solution of the question in the Mental Arithmetic in your last issue of the GOSWAM.

By the first condition of the question the first boy sold his apples at the rate of 1 cent each; and the second boy sold his at 1 cent each; together the two apples were sold for 1 plus which equals 5.6 of a cent and one apple brought 1 of 5.6 which equals 5.12 of a cent.

Catawissa.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN:

DEAR SIR—Your correspondent from Catawissa in the COLUMBIAN of the 23rd inst. reports a Prohibition meeting held in the open streets of Catawissa on Saturday the 27th of Oct. I was present and saw the proper place for ministers is in the pulpit, and not making political speeches. But how about their work down in the ditch where the drunkards lie stripped of manhood and money, his character and home destroyed by drink? Have ministers a right to lift and drink, and restore to his character and home, and no minister should tell the people how nor where that drunkard was manufactured, or suggest the method by which that factory should be closed? If not—why not? A clergyman is a citizen as well as a minister, and has a legitimate right to speak his mind on any question that affects the morals, the intelligence and happiness of the people, whether he be in the pulpit or out of it. If ministers have no right to discuss the science of government (Politics) as well as lawyers and judges, and other good citizens, they have no right to go to the polls and vote, because "their place is in the pulpit," and of course to be seen at an election is highly disreputable to ministers, hence they have no right to express their opinions as citizens in support of free thought, free speech and a free ballot. Your correspondent had probably better write a work on "Advice to Ministers," but by all means let the price be as low as the value is.

Minim Township N. S. Convention.

The Minim Township Sunday School Convention was held in the New School Lutheran church, Millville, Columbia county, Pa., Tuesday, October 27, 1885.

Rev. Hassinger was elected president; W. T. S. Deaver, Sec'y and J. F. Brown, Treasurer. The superintendents of the township were appointed executive committee. This was the first Sunday school convention held in this township.

A number of the most difficult questions arising from Sunday school work were ably discussed by the following ministers and laymen: Rev. Galloway, of Berwick; Rev. Ferguson and Dechant, of Catawissa; Rev. Hassinger and Deavor, of Millville; Messrs. A. W. Spear, of Lightstreet, Bardonia, Kirksville, of Newscowp, and D. C. Clayburgh, of Millville. All the Sunday schools were represented but one. The exercises of the day were very interesting and from the attendance and attention we would judge that much good was accomplished, and would reasonably expect great improvement in the Sunday school work of this county.

The Washington fair is in bad odor just now. After exhibiting very extensively the fair has been closed, and giving out the impression that Honner's horse was referred to, the officers pinned off a Danville horse by the same name as the celebrated trotter. ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD.

Roaringcreek.

The public schools of this township open next Monday.

Mrs. Francis Beck was visiting friends in Shamokin last week.

Mrs. Dan'l Houck still remains in very critical condition; at times suffering intensely.

Rev. Hamlin will soon begin a protracted effort at the Roaringcreek brick church.

Chas. L. Fraher "took in" the Washington fair last week. He reports a good time.

O. W. Cherington, of Mill Grove, L. H. Daniels, of Numedia, and W. B. Snyder of this place, were in Philadelphia last week.

Band practice every Tuesday evening and singing school every Friday evening keep a little stir in our ancient village.

Rev. J. G. W. Herold, the U. B. Minister has been returned to this (the Catawissa) circuit; he has made many warm friends here.

Britton Hughes, Esq., formerly of Slabtown who for some time past has been firing on the P. & R. at Newberry has been changed to Catawissa.

Rev. W. S. Hamlin M. E. pastor and wife celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary the evening of the 19th inst. Some forty guests were present all enjoying the occasion.

A great many people will contract large debts to pay for themselves with quinine which injures the system without reaching the seat of disease. Keller's Catarrh Remedy will positively effect a speedy cure.

Benton.

Those of our town who went to Washingtonville fair expecting to see Maud S. were sadly left.

Dave and Charles Gibson, typos, from Washingtonport are the guests of their brother Boyd.

A. L. McHenry left Tuesday for Pittsburg where he proposes to engage in business.

John Fowler, of Pine Summit was noticed in town Tuesday.

The colt race at the recent fair seems to have caused much dissatisfaction. Perhaps if the Robbins colt had not been worn out previous to the race there would not have been any cause for a wrangle. If the decision of the judges is in question we ask why have judges at all?

The new addition of rather Post Office is rapidly approaching completion and ere long our present Post Master will be peering into his box and will ask instead of being asked for his mail.

J. J. McHenry returned from Philadelphia with a very large stock of goods. Every department is filled and people are embracing an opportunity of securing goods at low prices.

Sam Ecker and John Krickbaum spent Sunday last in Berwick.

Alfred C. Mellory purchased the handsome New England organ exhibited at the fair by Fry & Williams, of Pittston. Boyd Mellory, landlord, purchased also an excellent organ from the same firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoy spent last week in Kingston and Doyles.

Foxes and rabbit are reported exceedingly scarce, snow will start tomorrow.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL, WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES. For Wasting Conditions.

Dr. S. W. COX, of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting, with good results. It not only restores wasted tissue, but gives strength, and I heartily recommend it for diseases attended by atrophy."

Minor R. Smith's dwelling with contents except on first floor and cellar, was entirely consumed by fire on last Tuesday evening. It was partially covered by insurance.

Turkey street, Cambra, presents a beautiful and imposing appearance since the completion of the new buildings. All the dwellings, including the Christian chapel are models of modern architectural art. Cambra is a handsome country town.

Mrs. Judge Krickbaum thinks some one has disposed of her chum dog.

Mr. John Ascheim has commenced a new house at the crossroad on the lower end of his farm.

Rev. H. K. Binkley, agent for the Publication Board of the Reformed Church, Philadelphia, preached at St. James on last Sunday. His sermon was divided into English and German.

Reuben Gibbons has already husked a piece of corn and hauled in the fodder.

price by the buyer, his knowledge, his conceit, his vanity, his money tact, his money.

The price of furniture is generally made from a study of human nature. Everybody knows it and guards against it by going about from store to store, comparing and haggling.

And yet nine-tenths of the stores—perhaps ninety-nine in a hundred—stick to their crooked ways. A common trick is to sell some article very low indeed, so low as to fasten the buyer. He pays enough before he gets through.

It is well enough known that nothing of that sort happens here. But haggling has a certain fascination when the money amounts to much. Wholesale trade consists almost entirely of haggling. Houses, horses, carriages, pianos are sold by haggling—why not furniture? Banking, dealing in masses of money itself consists of haggling. The Stock Exchange is the biggest haggling-machine in the world.

To the poor the little sums they pay for daily use are big. The business of almost all the little local stores is done by haggling. The world is not so full of haggling without some reason. Haggling has its advantages. Here we are, our prices just so—no more, no less. A dealer outside can ask more for his things; and then, if his customer happens to know our prices, he can drop—he would rather make a very little profit than nothing. Hence elastic prices and haggling. We have only one defence. We have got to have better things and deal with generosity. That is our only way to beat a townful of hagglers.

Excuse the digression. It was needless to state with some fulness what you know in a shadowy way and act as if you didn't know at all.

The part of our furniture stock you haven't had the chance to know the state of so well is upholstered work, mantels, tables, chairs, cabinets, easels, book-cases, desks for house and office—all those difficult wares to manage well because of the number of forms they come in, the room they require, the skill in choosing, the knowing where to go on and where to stop.

Upholstered work is mostly out of sight. Vast sums of money in it. Somebody has got to be trusted. There must be a way to be sure of the maker. It belongs to you to be sure. It belongs to you to trust. Another day, perhaps, we'll tell you how we know the inside of these things. You see here a long array of sofas and chairs not only upholstered, but actually covered with costly stuffs. A roomful besides of the stuffs. It isn't common to buy these things with any sense of sureness. The softness and spring may come of something else than steel and curled hair. They may flatten out in a twelve-month. In the higher range of upholstery your are scarcely willing to buy by what you can see and feel.

The more difficult part is the getting together of shapes enough and styles enough; for all this getting has got to be paid for. The things of last year must be gone. A swift current of trade makes everything easy. How many shapes of tables and chairs, do you think? We could fill this building no two alike. Of all the crooked ways of putting pieces of wood together the table-maker seems to have discovered most; the chair-maker next; the cabinet-maker not far behind.

In short we have a ready-made stock of furniture, much of it such as people pay twice-over for having it made to order; and we make to order besides.

Some may get the impression that we deal in nothing but costly wares. By no means. The humbler wares are not so various. A little space is enough for them. This acre or more is mostly filled with costly work; but the plainest of things are here.

We should be ashamed to have this store a less good place for the things of the poor than for those of the rich. Was it made by the rich? Could it live by the rich? Are there so many rich in this comfortable city of ours as to fill such a store as this? It's an everybody's store. We hope the time when we shall really need to advertise for the trade of the poor is very far off indeed.

We have every sort of furniture a poor man can buy; and we sell it so that he needn't get into the hands of sharpers.
